BIG VOTE HERE ELECTS PINCHOT

Today

Politics Goes to Sleep. But Crime—Read About It. Mr. Garner, He Knows.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE VOTING and the nuisance are out of the way. Heaven be praised, and the people can attend to real business far removed from politics.

Whether the election suited you or not, comfort yourself with the thought that nothing is important except what the people themselves do. If the 123,000,000 will get to work without waiting for the new year or a millenium, and keep their courage, we shall get out of our temporary difficulties.

Politicians get jobs, but don't do much. By the time they get over the excitement of being elected, it's time to be elected again.

OBSERVE CRIME, working on a small scale. John Passelli, 25-year-old racketeer, called "The Ape," went to the hospital in Newark, New Jersey, with his head cut open, said he had fallen and asked to remain over night, although doctors said he might go home.

Later three gunmen walked up to his private room. One held the nurse, while the other two shot Passelli to death in his bed. They left, threatening to kill anybody that interfered. Nobody interfered.

OBSERVE CRIME at work in a big way.

Chief Justice John P. McGoorty, of Chicago, tells of a business proposition from Mr. Al Capone, king of the gangsters.

The proposition was briefly, "I will withdraw from racketeering and stop protecting racketeers that blow up business houses and prey on business men, if you, Justice McGoorty, will guarantee me peaceful control of the Chicago beer industry without molestation."

Justice McGoorty declined the proposition, which is something new in American justice, but not new historically.

The magnificent statue of Colleoni in Chicago's Art Museum shows how the thing was done in the ancient days of Venice.

Colleoni, able condottiere, sold his services to Venice as a fighter. When he tired of that he sold them elsewhere. He was faithful to Venice in the long run, and left his fortune to the city.

SOME OF OUR great cities might admit the truth, that crime has conquered them and hire as protectors the criminals they cannot control. Mr. Capone, well treated and protected in his beer business, might leave Chicago his whole fortune, and keep down the criminals meanwhile, which can't be done by officials on the criminals' payrolls. Capone would not take their bribes.

HAVE YOU any idea what crime costs the nation? The total amount is SIXTEEN THOUSAND MILLION DOLLARS A YEAR. There are about one million professional criminals in the country, including the crop of prohibition super-criminals.

The government could pension them at the rate of $16,000 a year each, break even financially and save the lives taken by the criminals. Or the chief criminals could be profitably pensioned at $1,000,000 a year each, leaving plenty for small fry.

IT COSTS the nation $16,000,000,000 to take care of 1,000,000 criminals. And five billions, less than one-third of the crime bill, is the amount spent on 50,000,000 children in their parks, their schools, their playgrounds, and all welfare work.

That's a very nice picture of American civilization.

WITH EVERYBODY else wondering what will happen to a Republican Congress, Representative Garner, of Texas, isn't wondering at all.

As Democratic leader in the House, he will be speaker if Republicans lose their majority, and he has already ordered new clothes, as much as possible like those worn by Speaker Longworth.

He reminds you of the good woman whose husband had a call at a much larger salary from another church. He was on his knees praying for light. She was upstairs packing.

YOU KNOW that France and England can't agree on the question of armament. France tells the nations she needs more ships than Italy as she fronts on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic. Italy on the Mediterranean only.

Mussolini replies in substance, "Italy was a great nation when you were nothing, and we don't mean to take second place."

ALL THAT IS the business of France and Italy and you wonder why our government must always appear mildly crazy in international matters when you read that "our Mr. Gibson" is trying to bring the French and the Italians together on a parity basis.

WHAT IN THE NAME of Heaven has our Mr. Gibson to do with it? Is it absolutely impossible for this nation to mind its own business?

Doesn't the administration know that if we insist on meddling, Italy and France will soon be denouncing our Mr. Gibson and his government and probably asking a cash indemnity for our stupid interference?

150 TRAPPED IN BLAZING OHIO MINE

4 Officials Caught on Tour Of Inspection as Blast Fires Gases; Rush Rescue

International News Service.

ATHENS, O., Nov. 5.—Approximately 150 miners and officials of the Sunday Creek Coal Company were trapped in Mine No. 6, seven miles north of here, in an explosion this afternoon.

Three hundred men were in the mine when the explosion, believed to have been caused by ignition of gas, occurred. Fire immediately broke out, blocking escape of many of the men.

Four officials of the company were trapped with the miners. They were on an inspection tour of the workings when the explosion rocked the mine.

ONE REPORTED DEAD

One miner was reported killed by those who escaped, and they predicted difficulty in rescuing the entombed men.

Herbert Lancaster, of Nelsonville, engineer, was one of the officials trapped. Others were W. E. Titus, president of Sunday Creek Coal Company; Peter McKinley, former sheriff of Athens County, and Howard Upson, both mine superintendents.

RESCUE CREWS BUSY

The mine is a shaft operation. The shaft is 250 feet deep, and there is one level. It was not known if the shaft had been damaged by the explosion.

Volunteer rescue workers were making efforts to get into the fiery tunnel.

The mine formerly was owned by the Poston interests, of Athens, but was acquired by the Sunday Creek company when the Hocking field was re-organized.

When the explosion shook the surrounding region, scores of women and children flocked to the pit mouth. Calls went out immediately for mine rescue cars throughout the Eastern Ohio coal field, and doctors, nurses and ambulances were summoned from a wide radius.

Anti-Dry Sweep Carries 3 States, Affects Congress

Associated press returns on prohibition referenda in three states today showed:

Rhode Island: Repeal of Eighteenth Amendment. Complete vote, Yes, 172,545; No, 48,540.

Illinois: Repeal of Eighteenth Amendment, Yes, 428,611; No, 157,455; Modification of Volstead Act, Yes, 422,200; No, 142,773; Repeal of state enforcement act, Yes, 422,460; No, 142,982.

Massachusetts: Repeal of state enforcement act, Yes, 590,028; No, 333,326.

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Sweeping victories against prohibition were rolled up today as returns continued to pour in from yesterday's election, which featured dry referenda in a variety of ways.

The Seventy-second Congresses will still be dry—but by no such proportions as in the present Senate and House.

REFERENDA ALL WIN

The anti-drys scored 100 per cent in the three states which held formal referenda on the question of prohibition.

Illinois voted overwhelmingly in favor of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment, in favor of modifying

NOBEL PRIZE TO SINCLAIR LEWIS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Sinclair Lewis, American novelist, author of "Main Street" and "Babbitt," has received this year's Nobel Prize in literature.

Although the greatest secrecy surrounded the name of the actual winner until the formal announcement was made, Mr. Lewis had been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate, and it was known that he had several champions among the members of the Swedish Academy, which awards the prize annually.

For a time the name of Theodore Dreiser also was mentioned

Pinchot Wires His Thanks to Voters Here

Gifford Pinchot today, through the Sun-Telegraph, telegraphed his thanks to Allegheny County voters for the support here which gave him apparent victory in the gubernatorial. Mr. Pinchot's telegram:

"My appreciation of the great majority given to the straight Republican ticket by the voters of Allegheny County is greater than I can express. I want to send to the voters through the Sun-Telegraph my warmest thanks. I expect and intend that the next four years will produce results of real value to the average citizen of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

DO-X REACHES AMSTERDAM

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The huge Dornier flying boat DO-X arrived at Amsterdam at 4:50 p. m. (11:50 a. m., eastern standard time), five hours and twenty-three minutes after the takeoff from Altenrhein, Switzerland.

The big ship completed this first leg of her projected flight to New York without mishap, flying through clear weather all the way.

She followed the Rhine River into Holland, passing en route over Mayence, Mannheim, Cologne and Wesel.

Lady Grace Drummond-Hay British writer and traveler, left here today in her own plane to meet the giant German air ship DO-X, flying here from Altenrhein, Switzerland. Lady Drummond Hay will be among the air liner's passengers on its trip to the United States.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Nov. 5.—When the flying boat DO-X left her home port at Altenrhein, Switzerland, at 11:50 a. m. today for Amsterdam flight 15 were aboard, including three Americans. They were C. H. Schildhauer, the pilot, and Harvey Brewton and Joseph Cody, engineers from the Curtiss-Wright Aeronautical plant at Paterson, New Jersey.

De Priest, Negro, Stays in Congress

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Oscar de Priest, Republican, congressman from the First District, Chicago, only Negro member of Congress, today came out winner in what had been a close race, with only two precincts unreported. The vote was: De Priest, 23,805; Baker, 16,422.

Winners In State Races

Winners in Tuesday's election were:

GOVERNOR—Gifford Pinchot.

UNITED STATES SENATE—James J. Davis.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—Gen. Edward C. Shannon.

SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS—Philip H. Dewey.

SUPREME COURT—George W. Maxey.

SUPERIOR COURT—W. B. Linn (incumbent), Judge James B. Drew.

FORESTER SWEEPS COUNTY

G. O. P. Candidate Carries Allegheny by More Than 70,000; Leaders Elated

Gifford Pinchot carried every ward in Pittsburgh. He also carried the third-class cities of McKeesport and Duquesne.

Mayor Charles H. Kline declared last night in Hotel Henry headquarters of the Republican campaign committee:

"I am highly gratified with the election returns in Pittsburgh and in Allegheny County. They indicate that the entire Republican ticket carried every ward in the city of Pittsburgh and has been given at least, and possibly more than, a normal Republican majority in Allegheny County. This should please every Republican in the county as much as it pleases me tonight."

Secretary Davis, who also was a visitor at headquarters, said:

"I am grateful for my election, which seems assured on the face of the returns. I came from the people. I have always served the people and I will continue to serve them."

LEADERS' DISTRICTS

Seventeenth Ward—Chairman Armstrong: Pinchot 2,447, Hemphill 920.

Fourteenth Ward—Mayor Kline: Pinchot 3,410, Hemphill 2,335.

Fourth Ward—State Senator James J. Coyne: Pinchot 3,332, Hemphill 929.

Nineteenth Ward—County Commissioner C. C. McGovern: Pinchot 4,530, Hemphill 1,807 (one district missing).

Fifth Ward—James F. Malone: Pinchot 3,194, Hemphill 689.

West View borough—Former Judge Frank I. Gollmar: Pinchot 1,044, Hemphill 497.

Gibbons, Ex-Pugilist, Beaten for Sheriff

ST. PAUL, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Mike Gibbons, who used to trim his opponents with his fists when he was a ranking middleweight, took it on the chin in a battle of ballots Tuesday.

The campaign for sheriff of Ramsey County, which includes St. Paul, against the incumbent, George H. Moeller, resulted in a technical knockout for the one-time "phantom." Gibbons' platform was "clean out the gangsters," while Moeller retaliated with "they are already cleaned out."

STATE LEAD EXCEEDS 56,000

Record Vote for Winner Seen; Phila. Goes Democratic And Shatters Precedent

Gifford Pinchot's votes late today exceed 1,005,000, with returns still due from 633 of the state's 8,321 election districts. Associated Press figures are: Pinchot, 1,005,633; Hemphill, 948,952, giving Pinchot a majority of 56,681.

Pinchot evidently will poll a higher vote than Gov. John S. Fisher's, 1,102,83, which set a record in the state.

Pinchot's return to the governorship after a four years' absence was assured by the 72,000 plurality piled up by Allegheny County in all but five of the 1,087 districts of the county. The figures were, Pinchot, 163,878; Hemphill, 71,291.

Pittsburgh, complete, gave Pinchot 67,277 votes to 29,135 for Hemphill. The vote in the third-class cities was: McKeesport (one district missing), Pinchot, 4,200; Hemphill, 2,646; Clairton, Pinchot, 1,194; Hemphill, 492; Duquesne, Pinchot, 1,205; Hemphill, 944.

James J. Davis, Republican nominee for United States Senator, swamped his Democratic opponent, Sedgwick Kistler, with a plurality of about 700,000, Philadelphia contributing substantially to the total. With only 57 districts missing in the county the vote stood: Davis, 160,854; Kistler, 34,772.

John R. Collins, Democratic state chairman, today conceded in Harrisburg, the defeat of Hemphill, the Associated Press reported.

Hemphill Congratulates Pinchot in One Word

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 5.—John M Hemphill today wired a one-word telegram to Gifford Pinchot. It said:

"Congratulations."

In a statement Hemphill said:

"I sincerely trust that none of us welded in this campaign on this great issue, the national crisis which demands the elimination of the Eighteenth Amendment and its enforcement act, will give up the fight until we have courageously made Pennsylvania vote consistent with the actions and lives of her people.

"Then the Keystone State will be ready to do her part in recovering to America her constitutional democracy.

"I wish specifically to congratulate the Democratic party of Pennsylvania upon the straightforward and statesmanlike platform upon which I stood with pride and enthusiasm, and upon the fact that in Sedgwich Kistler we have developed a leadership superior to any within my memory."

Hemphill and Kistler plan a vacation at French Lick Springs, Ind., to recuperate from the strain of their arduous campaign.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor, today sent the following message to John M. Hemphill, his Democratic-Liberal party opponent, in response to Hemphill's message of congratulations:

"Many thanks for your congratulations. I appreciate the good sportsmanship which underlies your prompt message."

IN OTHER STATES

Results of elections in several states where contests were regarded as of primary importance, on early returns were as follows:

ALABAMA—John H. Bankhead, Lemocrat, defeated Thomas Heflin, Independent, for United States Senate.

CALIFORNIA—James Rolph, Jr., Republican, San Francisco mayor, defeated Milton K. Young of Los Angeles, Democrat, for governor.

COLORADO—Edward P. Costigan, Democrat, defeated George H. Shaw, Republican, for United States Senate.

KANSAS—Senator Henry J. Allen, one of President Hoover's spokesmen, conceded defeat by George McGill, Democrat. Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, was re-elected.

ILLINOIS—Ruth Hanna McCormick was defeated for United States Senate by Col. James H. Lewis. Prohibition referenda showed about 2 to 1 in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, modification of the Volstead Act and repeal of the Illinois Prohibition Act.

MARYLAND—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, was re-elected for a fourth term in a landslide that also made the Maryland delegation of six in Congress solidly Democratic.

MASSACHUSETTS—Joseph B. Ely, wet Democratic nominee for governor, and Marcus A. Coolidge, Democratic candidate for United States Senate, won over Gov. Frank G. Allen and William M. Butler, their opponents.

MONTANA—Senator Thomas J. Walsh won over his Republican opponent, Albert J. Galen, and three other candidates.

NEBRASKA—Senator George W. Norris, Republican, was re-elected over Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Democratic candidate.

NEW JERSEY—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, defeated his two Democratic opponents for long and short terms in the United States Senate.

NEW YORK.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, was elected to a second term as Governor. Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt defeated Heywood Broun, Socialist, and Louis Brodsky, Democrat, in fight for Congress from the Seventeenth District. F. H. LaGuardia, Republican Congressman, was re-elected.

OHIO—Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, defeated Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, incumbent for United States Senate. George White, Democrat, defeated Gov. Myers Cooper for governor.

WEST VIRGINIA—M. M. Neely, Democrat, elected to United States Senate.

CARRIES ALL BUT EIGHT COUNTIES

IN NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT

The victory of this gray-haired veteran of 100 political wars thrust him into the national spotlight as a speculative figure for the 1932 presidential race. He won over younger Hemphill, who was making his debut as a seeker of public office, but their race remained in doubt through half of the night.

The Republican nominee's headquarters claimed his election by upwards of 125,000, but at the moment, Pinchot was running but 94,000 ahead of Hemphill, with 6,513 precincts out of 8,231 reported. It was possible Hemphill might slightly reduce Pinchot's lead before the final vote is tabulated.

The gubernatorial race was close, but the rest of the state-wide Republican ticket was swept into office by tremendous majorities. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis was elected to the Senate to occupy the seat denied William S. Vare two years ago. Judge George W. Maxey, of Scranton, was named to the State Supreme Court and all the other Republican candidates for state offices rode to victory with them.

In the congressional fights, the Democrats scored roundly, winning four seats in all, a gain of three over the single member they boast in Pennsylvania's present delegation. The Democratic victories were won in the Eleventh (Lackawanna), Fourteenth (Berks-Lehigh), Twenty-second (York) and Thirtieth (Monroe) districts.

PRECEDENTS FALL

The contest between Pinchot and Hemphill overshadowed all the other contests. Between them, one versed in all the lore and witchcraft of politics, the other making his debut as a novice, they shattered a dozen precedents throughout the state. Their race also piled up a hundred new feuds to haunt Pennsylvania politicians in the future.

Pinchot won the governorship by his amazing strength in Allegheny and Dauphin Counties and his powerful run in the rural communities of Central and Northern Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA BOLTS

Hemphill shattered all precedents within memory by turning the city of Philadelphia Democratic. In this city, he rolled up the tremendous plurality of 217,000, with some divisions still missing. No Democrat has ever approached victory in this city in the last century, let alone winning it by such a huge margin. He also carried the anti-dry Democratic communities through Berks, Lehigh and Northampton counties, added Erie, Montgomery, Montour and Monroe.

While Hemphill lost, he was by no means disgraced. He ran the greatest race a Democratic candidate for governor has ever run in Pennsylvania. Indeed he may even reach the staggering total of a million votes given Alfred E. Smith in 1928, except that the latter lost by another million to Herbert Hoover and Hemphill will be but barely nosed out, in this contest.

THOUSANDS BOLT

The returns demonstrated clearly that Republicans bolted to Hemphill by hundreds of thousands. Pinchot probably ran 500,000 behind the rest of his ticket in the state. This figure does not represent all the Republican bolters, because Pinchot undoubtedly won some 250,000 Democratic votes in upstate counties, which would place 750,000 Republicans under Hemphill's banner.

There were shocks and sensations in the returns from various counties. The Hemphill managers received their greatest shock when reports indicated Allegheny County had remained loyal to Pinchot by a huge majority. There had been many rumors current, and the Hemphill managers believed them to the last, that Allegheny would bolt to Hemphill in the election.

House Democratic Chief Wins Easily

UVALDE, Tex., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Congressman John N. Garner, of Uvalde, minority leader in the House, was re-elected. While returns were not compiled, his election by a comfortable majority was considered assured. He had been actively opposed by Carlos G. Watson, of Brownsville, young assistant Federal attorney, who was the Republican nominee.

PINCHOT, DAVIS WIN IN COUNTY

blyman S. J. Grenet: Pinchot 2,359, Hemphill 1,906.

Fourteenth Ward—County Controller Robert G. Woodside: Pinchot 3,410, Hemphill 2,335.

Dr. F. H. Frederick, president of the City Civil Service Commission, by appointment of Mayor Kline, refused to support Pinchot, but declared he would not aid Hemphill.

Dr. Frederick's ward, the Twenty-first, gave Pinchot 1,797, Hemphill 987.

CARRIES DAUPHIN

Pinchot carried Dauphin County by more than 26,000 and Lackawanna County by about 3,000, much to the surprise of his opponents. Among counties carried by Pinchot by more than 5,000 plurality were Bradford, Chester, Clearfield, Cumberland, Indiana, Jefferson, Lancaster, Luzerne, Mifflin, Schuylkill, Westmoreland and York.

Pinchot lost seven counties in addition to Philadelphia, as follows: Berks (10 districts missing)—Pinchot 10,306, Hemphill 20,135; Erie (21 districts missing)—Pinchot 10,818, Hemphill 16,841; Lehigh—Pinchot 12,689, Hemphill 26,133; Monroe—Pinchot 3,706, Hemphill 4,488; Montgomery—Pinchot 23,922, Hemphill 32,139; Montour—Pinchot 1,778, Hemphill 1,946; Northampton—Pinchot 8,354, Hemphill 14,706.

All city wards, excepting one, that respond to organization influence stood up well for Pinchot, despite the bolting of S. J. Grenet and Dr. F. H. Frederick. The exception was the Sixteenth, which gave Pinchot 1,629 and Hemphill 1,544. The Twenty-ninth Ward surprised many observers by giving Pinchot only 1,217 to 1,000 for Hemphill.

Of the independent wards, the Fourteenth gave Pinchot 3,410 to 2,335 for Hemphill and the Nineteenth gave Pinchot 4,676 to 1,850 for Hemphill.

Voters Couldn't Miss; Any Change An Improvement

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Strike while the applesauce is hot.

Yesterday's political diagnosis failed to determine the exact precipitate of moisture contained in the wet postscript of a dry speech.

It did reveal that we have a new geographical politician who is wet in the city, dry in the country and unconscious in the suburbs.

Twenty-five million puzzled patriots voted in 34 state for something.

They don't know just what they balloted for. But they do know that anything that happens is bound to be an improvement.

Yesterday's results prove that the steady, reliable citizen will triumph. And that the nation is safe. Except on election day.

The tremendous velocity of voting indicates that the balloting started very early on Tuesday morning.

In fact, there are some misanthropes who think it started on Monday.

Be that as it may, which it probably is, it vindicates the policies of the victorious candidates, which are always subject to change without notice.

There is nothing left to do but to count the spoons, shake the crumbs out of the tablecloth and put the applesauce away until next November.

in connection with the Nobel Price. This year the award is worth $46,350.

Since the publication in Swedish of "Main Street" Mr. Lewis' books have been widely known here.

"WILL ACCEPT"

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street" and other American novels, said he would accept the Nobel Prize for Literature, award of which to him was announced at Stockholm.

Mr. Lewis was informed of the award at the home of the columnist, Franklin P. Adams, in Westport, Conn.

The author, who in 1926 refused to accept a $1,000 Pulitzer Prize award for the best novel presenting "the whole atmosphere of American life and the highest standard of American manners and manhood," for his book "Arrowsmith," expressed gratification at the award today.

"ILL EXPLAIN PREFERENCE

"You may state that I will accept this award," Mr. Lewis said.

"I am happy to learn of this high recognition."

Lewis declined the Pulitzer award on the ground that such prizes, like titles, "are dangerous."

Mr. Lewis said he would issue a statement shortly, making clear the ground upon which he would accept the Nobel Prize.

There had been several rumors emanating from Stockholm regarding disposition of the Nobel Prize, and the name of Theodore Dreiser was mentioned not more than a month ago as the probable recipient for his work, "An American Tragedy."

DIVORCED, RE-MARRIED

Later reports said an American would receive a Nobel award in another branch of endeavor, which, it was felt, would prevent an American author from winning the literature prize.

Lewis is 45 years old. He is author of "Main Street," "Babbitt," "Elmer Gantry," "Arrowsmith," "Dodsworth" and various other novels which have gained world-wide fame.

After his first marriage ended in divorce, Lewis was married in London, on May 15, 1928, to Dorothy Thompson, daughter of a Methodist minister, who held a pastorate at North Tonawanda, N. Y.

The bride had been married several years before in Vienna to Dr. Joseph Bard, a Hungarian philosopher. Their union was dissolved in 1925. She was a well-known newspaper correspondent in Europe.

Control of House Claimed by Shouse

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, today claimed in a formal statement a Democratic majority in the House and 48 Democratic members of the Senate.

On the basis of his Senate claim, the party lineup in that body would be 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Farm Laborite.

Stunned Silence Prevails At White House as Forces Realize Extent of Defeat

By GEORGE E. DURNO,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—In stunned silence, the White House scanned today's swelling reports that tabulated the off-year Democratic landslide.

President Hoover and his advisors had confidently expected they would retain control of the House by a majority of 20, and the returns which indicated that the Democrats might make such a clean sweep as to be able actually to organize it left them flabbergasted.

NOTHING TO SAY

No one around the executive offices had anything to say for publication. In fact, no one had anything to say at all. Everybody was too busy tabulating latest returns and trying to work out a majority of even two or three for the Republicans in the House.

As early as 10:30, the President was advised he might fear for the worst—that it looked as though the Democrats had grabbed the House and come within a seat of getting the Senate.

The White House depesters were hanging on the returns from Kentucky, where the ballot boxes were only opened this morning for count, and they were none too sanguine.

At the time Mr. Hoover and his aides called it a day last night and turned off the radio, they were still sticking to the prediction the G. O. P. would retain a majority of 20 in the lower house of Congress. Apparently this was a bedrock safety figure the administration strategists had worked out in advance.

GETS BAD NEWS

First word that all was not well with that majority of 20 was conveyed to the President while he was having coffee in the china room after his customary 7 o'clock medicine ball exercise. James L. West, director of publicity for the Republican National Committee, who had been left in charge of national headquarters here, brought the bad news.

This was sufficient to get the executive to his desk shortly after 8, where he scanned overnight figures with Walter H. Newton, his political secretary, who had stayed up most of the night watching the results as they came over the wire. Each new press association summary was promptly rushed in to his office.

Aside from feeling the sting of the implied rebuke to his administration which the general election holds, the President suffered at the polls in a personal way. Among those who went down under the Democratic tidal wave were such intimates of the White House as:

Senator Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, the one man who was recognized in the last session as the presidential spokesman.

PARKER VOTE VICTIM

Senator Roscoe McCulloch, of Ohio, who was pursuaded by the White House to vote in favor of Judge Parker's confirmation for the Supreme Court.

Representative B. Carroll Reece, of Tenn., the only congressional candidate Mr. Hoover publicly indorsed.

Representative Charles A. Jonas for whom the President made a special trip to North Carolina, and upon whom the national organization had concentrated in the course of its efforts to hold the 1928 gains in the "solid south."

But the saddest blow will come, of course, if the final count shows the Democrats with an actual majority sufficient to organize the House. The administration had discounted minority gains in the Senate in advance, but if the speaker and the chairmen of all the powerful committees are Democrats in the next Congress, it is conceded that President Hoover has two years of hard sledding ahead of him.

150 TRAPPED IN MINE BLAST

plosion occurred several hundred feet underground. At least half of them were brought to the surface safely.

Fire broke out immediately following the blast, making the work of rescue wrokers extremely difficult and adding to the horror of the entombed men.

Many of those brought out were suffering from the effects of gas.

Some of the trapped men were said to be sealed behind a barricade, a mile inside the mine.

RELIEF CREWS SENT

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—E. W. Smith, chief of the state division of mining, left Columbus with three assistants at 2 p. m. for the scene of the Athens mine explosion.

He first ordered mine rescue cars from Nelsonville, Cambridge and Pomeroy to the scene.

Smith said the mine was a shaft mine, which "is always worse" than a "strip" mine in case of an explosion. He said the mine cars were equipped with every device for mine rescue and resuscitation and wer stationed at advantageous points throughout the mine area. He said he could muster 17 men of his department at the scene, together with the rescue cars.

Coolidge Urges Best Efforts in Daily Affairs

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 5.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

The campaign of 1930 has closed. Results of most elections are known. Some people will be disappointed and some will be elated. But there will be enough representatives of different parties holding office during the next two years so that no very violent changes in policy will be made.

Calvin Coolidge

We have a tendency to be too indifferent before primaries and elections and too critical after. Public officers can and do exercise large influence over our daily life but the main course of events is in our own hands. We can be helped or harmed very materially by the government, but we can yet take care of ourselves, if we will, under any government we are likely to have.

The main duty of the citizen is to accept cheerfully the result of an election, support the laws and constitution as they stand at the time, and loyally co-operate with the government. We make our own government. If we fail it is our own fault. Under our system a nation of good citizens cannot have a bad government. If we give the best that is in us to our private affairs we shall have little need of governmental aid.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Roosevelt Wins Prize for Guess On Own Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Victory at the polls was not the only triumph Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was enjoying today.

He won the press pool, made up by more than 20 newspapermen who accompanied him on his campaign, the winner to be the man who guessed what his plurality would be.

His guess was the highest of them all. It was 437,000. Smiling, he said:

"And the prize is a new suit of clothes—from London."

Man Dies of Brawl Injuries; One Held

Christopher Pagelli, 65, of 33 Fleming street, McKees Rocks, died early toda, in C[illegible] Valley Hospital from a fractured skull suffered during a fight October 19. [illegible]monick Truly, 54, of Fleming street, alleged to have struck him on the head with a meat cleaver, was arrested a short time after the fight and held in the County jail to await the outcome of his injuries. He was to be turned over to the coroner today.

OHIO ELECTS BULKLEY, DRYS LOSE

Democrats Unseat G. O. P. Senator and Governor; Make Congress Inroads

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Ohio has gone Democratic on United States senator and governor and increased the Democratic representation in the lower house of Congress.

It has gone more than Democratic. It has gone wet to a certain extent, the first time in many years.

Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland Democrat, an advocate of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, who defeated Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch for the unexpired two years of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, will be the first anti-prohibitionist Ohio has sent to the Senate since former Senator Allee Pomerene retired in 1922.

LONGWORTH IN DANGER

The state's wet tendency also is further emphasized by the apparent defeat of several dry Republican congressmen. Congressman John C. Speaks, Twelfth (Columbus) District, has yielded his seat to Arthur P. Lamneck, prohibition repeal advocate, by an overwhelming majority.

Apparently 11 Republicans were elected to Congress and eight Democrats, with three congressional seats still in doubt. Among the defeated Republican congressmen were Roy G. Fitzgerald, Charles J. Thompson, John J. Speaks, Joe E. Baird and William M. Morgan. In the present Congress there were only three Ohio Democrats.

Even Speaker Nicholas Longworth had a close race with his Democratic opponent, John W. Pattison, son of a former Ohio governor. Longworth had a lead of 3,945 with only 18 precincts unreported. Pattison is wet.

COOPER DEFEATED

Gov. Cooper also went down in the Democratic landslide, yielding to George White, Marietta, Democrat, by an apparent decisive majority. White was leading Cooper by more than 96,000 votes in 8,207 precincts out of 8,985 and his majority continued to increase as additional blocks of precincts were tabulated. Both candidates are dry and the prohibition issue did not arise in this race.

Bulkley had piled up a majority of almost 125,000 in approximately three-fourths of the state and his lead continued to increase early this morning.

Possibility of both houses of the State Legislature also having Democratic majorities was indicated as county after county reported election of Democrats. Both branches have been overwhelmingly Republican for several years.

DEMOCRAT WINS

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—The Republican party lost one Congressional seat in Ohio when tabulations for the Sixth District showed that James G. Polk, Democrat, of Hillsboro, emerged from yesterday's election victorious over Charles C. Kearns, Republican, who has held the post for 16 years.

Kearns, a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, was defeated by his Democratic opponent by a majority of 2,000 votes, according to virtually complete tabulations.

Three Westmoreland Bond Issues Carry

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—Three Westmoreland County communities approved bond issues at Tuesday's election.

Southwest Greensburg approved a bond issue for $60,000 by a three to one vote. Returns from seven out of eight precincts in North Huntingdon Township indicate that the school bond issue for $250,000 had passed almost three to one. Scottdale voters approved a bond issue for $[illegible]5,000 to clear floating indebtedness by nearly three to one.

PITTSBURGHER LOST IN MAINE

BLUE HILL, Maine, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Coast guardsmen were summoned to aid in a wide search of sea and shore here for Miss Alice R. Davidson, 51, daughter of the socially prominent Mrs. J. N. Davidson, of 4909 Ellsworth avenue, Pittsburgh, missing since she left her summer home near here at noon Monday for a walk.

Miss Davidson, who had been afflicted with a nervous disorder, was last seen on a bridge spanning an arm of Blue Hill Bay, more than a mile from the summer home. The hunt centered in this section. Ten boat loads of men dragged the waters of the bay, and a score of others searched the shore while an airplane flew over the bay in an attempt to locate her.

Miss Davidson is the daughter of the late Josiah N. Davidson, at one time president of the Second National Bank of Allegheny, and head of the Columbia Plate Glass Company. With her mother she had been spending the summer and fall in Maine, and had planned to return to her home Friday.

Relatives here today said they had received no word of the missing woman.

Kingsford-Smith Given New Title

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The Defense Ministry announced today that the title of Honorary Air Commodore had been conferred on Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith, long-distance aviator, who recently flew from England to Australia in less than 10 days.

OFFICIAL COUNT TOMORROW

The official count of the vote cast at yesterday's election will be started by the returns board tomorrow, under direction of Judge Ambrose B. Reid.

When Attorneys O. K. Eaton and Fleming Nevin, representing the Liberal party, called on Judge Reid yesterday, they called his attention to the fact no member of their party had been included in the list of appointees. Judge Reid told them the list had been completed and notices sent out yesterday by the prothonotary to persons expected to serve. He added that if requests for Liberal party representatives had been made in time they would have been given consideration.

The board consists of three Democrats, the remainder being Republicans, Attorney Nevin said.

SLAYER KILLS SELF IN SIEGE

CALUMET, Mich., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—After a siege of several hours in which police used shotguns and tear gas to dislodge him, John Usimaki, a miner, who murdered two men, was found dead with a self-inflicted bullet wound in his head in his modest frame home here early today.

Usimaki is alleged to have shot and killed his landlord, John Heikkila and then barricaded himself in his home. During the ensuing gun battle with police, he fatally wounded Patrolman William Revano.

ELECTION ODDS SHIFT QUICKLY

Betting odds on the Pinchot-Hemphill contest were mercurial in Pittsburgh election day. During the week before election the odds, which were quoted about 2 to 1 on Pinchot, gradually narrowed on the strength of bull reports on Hemphill from eastern counties. Yesterday the peak was reached at a well-known luncheon rendezvous of politicians.

A prominent politician and brewer, sanguine of Hemphill's chances, wagered $1,000 at even money with a more prominent politician who has forsaken politics for the insurance business, equally confident that Pinchot would win. An attorney was stakeholder. When early returns came in last night from all parts of the state, the downtown gambling fraternity uniformly offered odds of 3 to 1 that Pinchot would win. According to reports, the aggregate of bets locally was not large.

POLL OFFICIAL FOUND BEATEN

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Rex Hedrick, banker, of Buckner, Mo., and Republican chairman of the Jackson County Election Board, who was kidnaped yesterday was found a short distance from the business district here badly beaten.

Hedrick said he was abducted by three men who after beating him severely held him captive in a house outside the city limits until after the polls closed at 7 p. m. The trio then drove him into Kansas City and threw him from their automobile.

The fact that no money demands were made for Hedrick's release led authorities to believe his kidnaping was strictly a political affair.

Hoover Votes Reach Palo Alto by Mail

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The votes of President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover in the California election arrived here by mail.

4 SLAIN, 2 SHOT IN KY. ELECTION

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Election day disorders in Kentucky resulted in the deaths of four men and the wounding of two others.

Boyd Bingham, Democratic magistrate, shot and killed Hampton Smith, and was slain in turn, officers said, by Smith's son, who was wounded but escaped. The gun fight resulted, officers said, after Bingham challenged the elder Smith's right to vote.

Ward Hatfield was slain at Phelps in Pike County. Elias Dotson was arrested on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting. Officers said an old enmity flared anew in the heat of election day campaigning.

Booker Wright was being sought for the shooting and wounding of Adam Cotter, a former deputy sheriff, at Elkhorn, also in Pike County, after an election quarrel.

Ed Doneghy, Negro, was shot and killed at Danville by Joseph Hayden, Democratic election officer, who said he fired in self defense when the Negro, a Republican, appeared at the polling place and announced he had come "to settle some trouble."

Lewis 'Exulteth Not' in Win Over Ruth, Pays Tribute To 'Valorous Fight'

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—To paraphrase his own flowing style, James Hamilton Lewis, Democracy's wartime Senate whip, Virginia gentleman of the old school, "exulteth not in victory."

Besieged in Democratic headquarters as even Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's newspaper conceded his election to the United States Senate, Lewis followed the commands of a quarter of a hundred photographers with all the politeness for which he is famous. But smile for the pictures?

"No, boys, No! I am not in the vaudeville business. I am not a moving picture."

"Aw, Senator!"

"No, boys, I'll tell you why. I don't want the aspect that I am exulting with pride or joy toward a defeated woman."

Then, he called the reporters and asked, in an extremely polite way, that the anxious photographers hold off for a minute while he dictated to the reporters a statement in high praise of his apparently defeated Republican opponent, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick. He called her's "a valorous fight."

That done, he gave himself over again to the picture boys and resumed his picturesque mannerisms, and he kept the huge crowd of congratulators, which squeezed into the room, in constant laughter with his usual repartee and merry quips.

FOIL FOR OWN JESTS

He was foil for his own jesting, and even the old-style whiskers which comb neatly either way from his chin were basis for an anecdote as he patiently turned this way, that way, did this and did that for the photographers and movie cameramen.

"Now, look up to Mr. O'Connell," a movie man commanded.

"I've been looking up to Mr. O'Connell for years," came the ready rejoinder.

A radio man wanted him to broadcast. Lewis refused.

RUTH BRAVELY GAY IN DEFEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Ruth Hanna McCormick took it on the chin today—head up and smiling.

"Hello, everybody," she said cheerfully, swinging into Republican headquarters, glum and gloomy as returns came in consistently showing that James Hamilton Lewis, her Democratic opponent, was far and away in the lead for the Illinois senatorship.

There was just a little tenseness beneath her firm chin; just a slight twitching of the slim fingers of the woman who made political history campaigning for the United States Senate.

Just once she hesitated, as she looked up at a photographer's request. When she did, there were tears, but they did not fall.

Daughter of Mark Hanna, "the President maker," widow of Medill McCormick, Illinois Senator, she eptimoized that fighting heritage, standing in the seeming falling leaves of defeat—with a smile.

Her 19-year-old daughter, Katrina, who was with her during the primary campaign, was never far from her side. In the crowd were her closest friends and cohorts—Mrs. Jacob Bauer, Republican national committeewoman; Mrs. George Dean, president of the Illinois Republican Women's Clubs; Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, former collector of internal revenue.

There was one standby missing—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth. "Princess Alice" was with Mrs. McCormick when she won election as congressman-at-large and the Republican nomination. Last night Mrs. Longworth was in Cincinnati listening to returns in the race her husband, Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House of Representatives, was making for re-election.

TALKS SLATED ON EDUCATION

Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, professor of English at Princeton University, will speak on "College and the Community" at a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce November 13, sponsored by the education committee of the chamber, in connection with "National Education Week."

During the week radio addresses will be given by Louis K. Manley, dean of the school of business administration, University of Pittsburgh; C. S. Coler, manager education department, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company; Dr. Charles Heinroth, director of music, Carnegie Institute; William E. Mott, director, college of engineering, Carnegie Institute of Technology; Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh public schools; the Rev. Paul E. Campbell, superintendent of Pittsburgh parish schools, and the Rev. J. F. Carroll, vice president of Duquesne University.

Australian Wheat Yield 210,000,000 Bu.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—F. M. Forde, minister without portfolio, today estimated this year's wheat yield in Australia at about 210,000,000 bushels, of which 160,000,000 bushels would be available for export.

'Landslide' Gives Tuttle District, One to Zero

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—In one Times Square election district, Charles H. Tuttle, Republican gubernatorial candidate, blanked his opponent, Governor Roosevelt. Score 1 to 0.

George Schrader, the only registrant in the district, which has a large daytime population, marked his ballot for the Republican nominee, according to the official count. Schrader's vote cost the city $1,127.65.

The other lone voter in Manhattan—there were two—evened the situation. This citizen, Joseph Stanek, who voted at 410 East 100th street, cast his ballot for Governor Roosevelt.

Testimony Ended In Rum Plot Trial

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Testimony was completed late yesterday in the trial of William Lias and six co-defendants in Federal Court on a charge of conspiracy to violate liquor laws. Summations were scheduled for today.

Only one of the defendants, Tom Pappas, was on the stand yesterday. Judge W. E. Baker overruled a mistrial motion.

FREIGHT CARGO GAIN IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Revenue freight loadings for the week ending October 25 were reported by the American Railway Association as having totaled 959,335 cars.

This was an increase of 28,250 cars above the preceding week, but a reduction of 175,025 below the same week last year. Miscellaneous freight loadings for the week amounted to 366,230 cars, a decrease of 86,597 from the same week a year ago.

Loadings of merchandise in less than carload lots aggregated 240,008 cars, a decrease of 30,406; coal loadings, 192,104; decrease, 12,343; forest productions, 38,229; decrease, 23,705; ore, 35,968; decrease, 14,260; coke, 9,218; decrease, 2,807; grain and grain products, 41,517; decrease, 1,496; live stock, 35,361; decrease, 3,411.

Candidate Arrested On Slander Charge

RED WING, Minn., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—P. H. Shoemaker, of Red Wing, Farmer-Labor candidate for Congress from the Third District, was arrested here by a deputy sheriff on a charge of criminal slander.

Congressman August H. Andresen was the complaining witness.

Building Program Approved by Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—A construction program totaling $28,520,000 was approved by Chicago and Cook County voters, early election returns today indicated.

Thirteen bond issues for projects planned by the city, county and Lincoln Park, and authorizing street and lighting improvements, playgrounds and water filtration were accorded "yes" votes of nearly two to one.

RIVER YIELDS BODY OF MAN

Morgue attaches today were endeavoring to establish the identity of the body of a man, about 60, found floating in the Ohio River at the foot of Sternben street, West End, late yesterday. A Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train crew sighted the body and notified the morgue.

The victim was dressed in a blue suit and a blue working shirt.

2-Bushel Sack (120 Pounds) $2.75 SACK

Carload upon carload of potatoes are rolling into our warehouse—and in the meantime sixty (60) trucks are delivering potatoes in every community listed in this advertisement.

When you buy potatoes at Donahoe's you do not have to wait weeks for delivery. You get them right away, and WE DELIVER THEM FREE!

How to Keep Potatoes

Potatoes should be dumped from the bag and spread out on the floor immediately after receiving, so that the potatoes may dry out well for a few days before storing away in a bin, box or barrel. When the dampness is out of the potatoes, and they are thoroughly dried out they will keep much better.

Keep potatoes in a cool dry place—not in a hot place—not in a place where they will freeze, and not in a damp place.

BALLOT BATTLE HARD FOUGHT FROM START

Campaign in State Replete With Surprises From Primary to Final Count

The juggernaut of independent thought, or selfish interest—according to the views of those who sought to change the governmental aspect in Pennsylvania — rolled inexorably through the primary election of May and the general election of yesterday, and left political organization lines badly scrambled.

FIGHT STARTED EARLY

The campaign started early in the year, apparently with the two big organization machines—Philadelphia County and Allegheny County—oiled and running smoothly for a smashing Republican victory on organization lines.

Francis Shunk Brown for Governor and James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, for U. S. Senate looked to the Republican old guard like an unbeatable combination.

Joseph R. Grundy, who lost the support of William S. Vare, Philadelphia boss, because the Bristol manufacturer refused to accept Brown as the Vare choice for Governor, decided that he could win an elected term in the Senate to which he had been appointed by Gov. John S. Fisher, after the Senate refused to seat Vare because of huge campaign expenditures.

PINCHOT TRIES COMEBACK

Gifford Pinchot, former Governor, and a candidate against Vare and George Wharton Pepper for United States Senate in 1926, decided that the time was ripe for political comeback, and announced that he again was a candidate for Governor of the state.

With practically no organization and opposed by the massed political cohorts of Philadelphia and Allegheny County, his candidacy was not seriously considered until effects of the split, brought about by Grundy's disaffection became manifest to the political powers of the state.

Then, on May 20, came the deluge that seemed as remote as lightning bolts from a cloudless sky.

Rolling up a tremendous vote in the rural districts and invading Allegheny County with an embattled front that struck consternation to the stalwarts of organized politics, Pinchot won over Brown by a plurality of some 30,000.

This advantage was not conceded by organization leaders until the matter had been fought through the courts of the state.

PHILLIPS LOSES SUPPORT

Sandwiched between the organization and Pinchot independent struggle was the fight of Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, to win the gubernatorial nomination on an anti-prohibition platform.

Then the Hemphill bandwagon became more than the weak-toned instrument that has played solely for Democratic ears since time immemorial in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, always opposed to Pinchot policies, staged an amazing political bolt, the city organization, without orders from Vare, practically going over to Hemphill, who became the Democrat-Liberal standard-bearer because of his demand for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Big business, in the persons of public utility heads, notably Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, espoused the Hemphill cause and determined to defeat Pinchot.

NOMINEE LOSES VOTE OVER TAX

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—C. Arthur Bruce of Memphis, Republican nominee for Governor of Tennessee, was prevented from voting here yesterday by an election judge, who held that his poll tax was paid too late. Tennessee law requires that poll taxes be paid 60 days before the election.

Joe Norvell, election judge in Bruce's precinct, ruled this requirement had not been fulfilled. Those at the ballot box said Bruce left without commenting.

Man Run Down, 2 Drivers Take Mishap Blame

SEATTLE, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Traffic officers found Robert Tunnard, bus driver, and Mrs. Lester Kleinberg, arguing over the prostrate body of George Polly, of Carnation. Said Tunnard:

"I heard somebody holler that I had knocked a man down, so I stopped my bus and went back. I guess I must have hit him."

Said Mrs. Kleinberg:

"I was going in the opposite direction. It must have been my car. I'll take the blame."

Said Polly, who received only minor injuries:

"I guess both of them hit me. It felt like it."

Two Men Killed As Train Hits Truck

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Two unidentified men were killed at Chesaco Park, a suburb, last night when their motor truck was run down by a Pennsylvania flyer from Washington to New York. Witnesses said the men drove upon the tracks in spite of a flashing warning light. Engineer Pat Shumart was held not responsible for the fatality.

VOTING SHOWN BY TELEVISION

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Television station W9XAP put on the air what it believed was the first televised progress of a political election.

Images of charts showing the progress of the senatorial race were televised from W9XAP.

Just 10 years ago the first returns of an important election—the selection of Warren Harding as president—were broadcast from KDKA, Pittsburgh.

Hemphill Wins Home District by 93 Votes

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal candidate for governor, carried his home district the first precinct here by 93 votes. The return gave Hemphill 321 and Pinchot, Republican candidate, 228.

Turkish Delegation To Visit Mussolini

ISTANBUL, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The Turkish delegation to the session of the preparatory disarmament commission, headed by Foreign Minister Tevfik Ruchdi Bey, left for Geneva and planned to visit Rome afterward.

Great importance is attached here to the prospective visit to Italy and the foreign minister's plan to confer with Premier Benito Mussolini.

W. Va. Road Official Killed After Voting

WELCH, W. Va., Nov. 5.—AP.—Robert P. Gravely, 53, assistant county road supervisor, was killed when his automobile skidded down an embankment while he was returning to Welch after voting yesterday at Twin Branch, near here. His companion, Henry Williams, Negro, jail trusty, was injured slightly.

Red Cross Finds Kin of Immigrant

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—Coming from Czecho-Slovakia and failing to find his relatives who were to meet him, John Galko, 17-year-old immigrant, was cared for by the local branch of the Red Cross. His relatives, who live in Westmoreland City, were notified and took the youth home.

Roosevelt Carries G. O. P. Stronghold

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in his fight for re-election, carried his home district in this Republican stronghold for the first time in either his campaign for governor or that for vice president in 1920. The vote was Roosevelt 463; his Republican opponent, Charles H. Tuttle, had 232.

CUTS SILK HOSE BILLS IN TWO

A New York fashion expert has just made a wonderful discovery. Realizing the expense of constantly buying silk hose and lingerie, she learned that with perspiration comes an oily excretion from the sebaceous glands that causes silks to rot.

Soap and water she found were inadequate. Only a solvent like Energine cuts this film of oil.

So when next washing silk hose or dainty undergarments, add a tablespoonful of Energine to a quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash thoroughly, rinse well. Note the new, fresh cleanliness—see how the original color is revived so easily and with less rubbing. After using this new method, you'll be amazed at the difference in results from washing in just soap and water.

And when you see how many more weeks' wear you get from silk hose, you'll be more than delighted—it's real economy. Energine is unexcelled also for quickly removing all dirt and grease spots from dresses, hats, shoes, gloves, ties. Large can 35c.

ARMISTICE DAY PROCLAIMED BY PRESIDENT

Hoover Calls on Nation to Express Gratitude for Year of Peace on Nov. 11

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—President Hoover today called to America to observe Armistice Day with gratitude that the agencies of peace have been strengthened and the nation's relations with other countries "are firmly grounded in amity and accord."

The following proclamation was issued over the President's signature:

"Whereas, the eleventh day of November, 1918, is forever memorable as the day upon which ended the World War, with its attendant sufferings and vast wastage of human life; and

"Whereas, it is fitting that the anniversary of this day should be commemorated by exercises which shall do honor to all those who served our country, and especially to the memory of those who died in its service, believing that their sacrifice was in the cause of peace, which we thereby are solemnly bound to do all in our power to advance and secure; and

"Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and the House of Representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day;

"Now, therefore, I, Herbert Hoover, president of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all government buildings on November 11, 1930, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, and other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that this year past has seen the agencies of peace sensibly strengthened and that our relations with other peoples are firmly grounded in amity and accord."

Character Building Theme for Studies

Co-operation in Christian character building, with the adult and the child as participants, is the theme of a series of studies being conducted under auspices of the Downtown Branch, Y. M. C. A., and directed by Blanche Carrier, acting head of the Department of Religious Education, University of Pittsburgh.

Blanche Carrier

Nearly 100 men have registered for the studies, which were to begin today at noon in the Y. M. C. A., and continue over a 10-week period.

NAPOLEON SUFFERED FROM EPILEPSY

Many of the World's Leaders Were Epileptics

New York, N. Y.—The leading scientists and physicians have for sometime tried to discover the various causes and treatment of epilepsy.

During the recent world war a new method of treatment was used on thousands of sufferers with remarkable results. An interesting booklet describing this new treatment for epilepsy will be sent free to all people who are interested. It tells how fit attacks can be quickly stopped without resorting to harmful habit forming drugs. This booklet explains how this terrible affliction has at last been conquered.

Thousands of epileptics who have used the new treatment are once more living a normal life. Readers of this newspaper can get a copy of this interesting booklet by writing direct to the Educational Division, Desk 1175, 509 Fifth Avenue, New York City. It's free for the asking.

Rich Draperies to Beautify Your Home

Some of the most beautiful fabrics we have ever seen are being displayed now in the Drapery Department. Damasks, shiki, slub rep, rayons, chenilles, taffetas—in colorings perfect for modern interiors . . . and with patterns in harmony with any type of room, whether it be a Spanish dining room, an Italian living room, a Colonial guest room, a modern, feminine boudoir.

Many of the fabrics are reproductions of ancient designs . . . the chenille weaves in particular being replicas of gallery pieces used by royalty in the Queen Anne and Tudor periods.

Throughout the department you will see models made of these finer drapery fabrics . . . suggesting how they will look at your windows. The prices begin at $2.50 and progress gradually to $8.50 a yard.

VICTORY PUTS ROOSEVELT IN '32 RACE

New Yorker's Great Majority Hailed—Pinchot, Morrow Considered Possibilities

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Hardly had the swish of the Democratic hurricane passed when the politicians began to try to translate the results in terms of the 1932 presidential election.

Inevitably, the name of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was put forth immediately as a possible Democratic nominee. The astounding proportions of his victory left the Warwicks no other course.

Al Smith's greatest victory in New York fell short of 400,000 plurality. Roosevelt's lead today was more than 700,000 and still growing. Moreover, he carried the traditionally Republican upstate counties never carried before by any Democratic candidates for governor. Tammany rubbed its eyes in amazement, along with the Republicans themselves.

SHUNS TAMMANY TIGER

That Roosevelt has his eye on the nomination for the presidency is accepted on all sides, both in New York and Washington. The politicians made careful note today of the fact that the governor, even in the flush of his happiness and his gratitude for the plurality rolled up for him by Tammany, did not go to Tammany Hall to felicitate the city leaders last night. They were all there and waiting—but the Governor did not appear. Not a few shrewd observers read into this incident a determination on Roosevelt's part not to get too chummy with the Tiger. Incidentally, he is not a member of Tammany.

'32 NOMINEES LOOM

Two other possible Democratic nominees for 1932 loomed up from yesterday's sorting out process. Any man who can shatter the precedents of a century by gaining the governorship of Maryland four consecutive times cannot be ignored. That is Ritchie. His name has already been before three Democratic national conventions.

Nor can any Democrat who demonstrates his ability to carry Ohio, pivotal and presidential-minded. That is Robert J. Bulkley. But Bulkley has senate experience before him yet.

On the Republican side, there are Morrow and Pinchot. The former has said he looked forward "with pleasure to the opportunity to vote for President Hoover's re-election" in 1932. But that statement has not killed speculation as to his availability, particularly if Mr. Hoover stays on the dry side of the prohibition question.

As for Governor Pinchot, his enemies charge him with aspiring to the White House—and his friends admit it.

There is little in common between the political philosophy of President Hoover and Gov. Pinchot except they are both on the dry side of prohibition for the present. In other things they differ radically. Pinchot is one of the chief idols of the dry Progressives. An interesting situation might result should the administration at Washington be impressed with yesterday's anti-dry victories to the extent of softening its attitude during the next two years.

Almost without exception, the political leaders on both sides set down the Democratic sweep to the country's dissatisfaction with business conditions, and with prohibition.

Actual numerical control by the Democrats in the new Congress matters comparatively little for the practical purposes of legislation.

They have increased their representation in the Senate from 39 to 46 or 47, whereas a majority is only 49. There are enough Republican insurgents to go along with them any time to control the upper chamber on any given issue.

The loss of control of the Senate is not a particularly serious matter for the administration, for the present Senate has been dominated by a Democratic-Insurgent coalition.

The loss of control of the House, however, is serious. Bulwarked behind a Republican majority of 103 in the last session, the White House has been able to nullify the Senate's unwelcome actions in many phases of legislation.

But it now apears that, even if unable to organize the House, the Democrats will be able to control the chamber through working with the Republican insurgents, of whom there are about a score, including the Wisconsin delegation.

All told, the returns that continued to roll in today bode no good for President Hoover's peace of mind.

A hostile congress on his hands for a session just prior to the opening of the 1932 campaign could not, by any stretch of imagination, be called an alluring or pleasing prospect.

Dr. Hankey, Preparing To Open Conference, Dies of Heart Failure

A victim of a heart attack, the Rev. Dr. Benjamin F. Hankey, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bellevue, for 25 years, died early today in his home. He was to have opened the fall convention of the Lutheran Central Conference of the Pittsburgh Synod in his church today.

A prominent figure in church and civic affairs in Bellevue for the greater part of his life, Dr. Hankey was known to thousands of borough residents. He had been in apparently good health until the time of his death, and had prepared long for the conference, which was to have opened this morning.

When members of the conference gathered in the Bellevue church this morning they decided to postpone their meeting, holding memorial services instead.

The Rev. Frank Fisher, pastor of Bethel Church and president of the synod, presided at communion this morning, and the Rev. P. H. R. Mullen, who was to have delivered the opening address at the conference, eulogized the deceased in a memorial sermon instead.

It was expected the conference would adjourn this afternoon to the First Lutheran Church, Grant street, for continuation of the synodical convention.

Dr. Hankey leaves his widow, Mrs. Georgia Campbell Hankey; a daughter, Miss Mary Aileen Hankey, teacher at Rynsburg; a son, William C. Hankey, student at Thiel College; a brother and five sisters.

Headmaster Drowns In Delaware Lake

MIDDLETOWN, Del., Nov. 9.—(AP.)—The Rev. James C. King, 26, assistant headmaster at St. Andrews Church School, near here, was drowned in Noxentown Lake.

The young minister was a son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. King, Sr., of New Castle. He was ordained at the Columbia School of Divinity, New York.

Longworth Keeps Seat in Congress

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 9.—(AP.)—Speaker Nicholas Longworth, of the House of Representatives, appeared to have retained his seat on the basis of almost complete returns from yesterday's election when he held a lead of 3,045 over his Democratic opponent with only 18 scattered precincts in the county unreported.

Wills $1,000 Fund To Buy Needy Coal

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 9.—One of the 35 bequests made to charity and benevolence by the will of Mrs. Minerva Sharp, 94, widow of Henry C. Sharp, who died here October 22, is $1,000 to create a trust fund to buy coal for the poor.

Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.; Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, and Methodist Episcopal Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of Pennsylvania, are each bequeathed $1,000, and the G. A. R. post, Steubenville, $500.

Nephew of Bryan Loses First Start

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—(AP.)—Silas M. Bryan, nephew of the late William Jennings Bryan, and a son of Charles Bryan, of Nebraska, was defeated in his debut as a political candidate Tuesday. Running for representative in Congress from the Fifth District, a part of Minneapolis, his Democratic challenge was turned back by W. I. Nolan, Republican incumbent.

Does your child catch Cold easily?

Children who catch cold easily, who have sore throat or tonsilitis, are usually in a weakened, run-down condition.

Because they do not secure from their food the vitamins necessary for growth, they become weak, thin and pale, they cannot hold their own at school or play, they tire easily and do not have the strength to resist disease.

If your child is facing the winter in a half-sick, run-down condition, start with Father John's Medicine at once. Countless mothers have proved its merit. 184 hospitals and institutions use it regularly.

Father John's Medicine is a combination of cod liver oil with other valuable ingredients that brings to your child the vitamins so necessary for growth and strength. Because of its scientific preparation it is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. Children thrive on it amazingly.

You will be surprised how your child will pick right up. Pale cheeks glow with health and strength. Hollows fill out. Weight is added. Bones become strong, muscles hard. The child becomes vigorous and healthy.

Father John's Medicine is a simple food medicine that contains neither drugs nor alcohol. It could not harm even an infant. Just ask your druggist.

ECKENER PLANS ZEP CHANGES

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Dr. Hugo Eckener surprised the annual dinner of the American Chamber of Commerce by announcing that as a result of the recent disaster to the British Dirigible R-101 he had changed the plans for Zeppelins now under construction so as to provide for helium gas and crude-oil motors.

Amid thunderous applause he said he had received word from America that helium gas, which is non-inflammable and non-explosive, would be available to inflate his airships in whatever quantities desired.

Dr. Eckener, who is world famous as commander of the Graf Zeppelin, said that had it not been for an explosion the crash of the R-101 in France several weeks ago would have resulted in minimum damages. As it was the great airship burned to almost nothing and 48 British lives were lost.

Frederic M. Sackett, American ambassador to Germany, was another speaker.

Eagles to Meet At Connellsville

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—The annual state convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held here in June, 1931, it was announced today on receipt of the decision of the state committee which made the selection. Six hundred to a thousand delegates are expected for four days and 25,000 in the annual parade.

Lone Bandit Loots Chester Gas Station

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—A gasoline station here operated by William Paul was robbed of $80 today by a lone bandit. The filling station had just opened when the bandit entered and held the proprietor at bay with a revolver.

Collieries Close For Election Day

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Seventeen of the 31 anthracite collieries on the Hazleton and Mahanoy Division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad were idle today due to the election. No proclamation had been issued by union leaders for a suspension, but thousands of workers remained at home to cast their ballots early or to man the polls in the interests of candidates.

Ambridge Acts To Aid Jobless

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Ambridge council has instructed its borough manager to make a survey of work needed in an effort to provide jobs for the unemployed of the community. He will report at the next meeting.

Overheated Stove Fires Voting Booth

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Interest at one polling booth here today was so intense that nobody noticed a coal stove getting hotter and hotter until the booth caught fire. Firemen extinguished the fire before the voting machines were damaged and balloting was resumed after an hour's delay.

Youngstown Man Held in Auto Death

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 5.—John Esposito, of Youngstown, was held for court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter. Esposito's automobile crashed into a machine operated by Mrs. Joseph Somerville, 32, of Sharon, at Hermitage. Mrs. Somerville died.

Titusville Woman Killed by Machine

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Miss Catherine M. Krown, 50, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile driven by Howard Bourcher, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Bourcher. Miss Krown died an hour after reaching the hospital.

Airplane Aids Drive Of Franklin Legion

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 5.—A campaign to increase the membership of Franklin's post of the American Legion was launched here by Commander John A. Mixin this week, with a goal of 150 set for November 11. Enrollment cards are to be picked up by airplane landing at Franklin's airport on that day, according to tentative plans.

Find Poor Director Girl Accused Guilty

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 5.—John C. McDowell, Mercer County poor director, was found guilty today on charges made by Mildred Kitch, 13, of Grove city. McDowell will ask a new trial.

His case was the third in which the girl was involved. Earl Boilander, also of Grove City, was found guilty, and William Kellar, Grove City, not guilty at previous trials.

Ohio Driver Held In Sharon Car Death

SHARON, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—District Attorney Leo H. McKay today formally charged John Esposito, Jr., of Youngstown, O., with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death Saturday night of Mrs. Lois Somerville in an automobile accident. Action followed a coroner's inquest last night.

RULES

Proper nouns, slang and words that offend good taste cannot be used. SCORING: The first and last letters of each word do not count as strokes. A longer or shorter word can be substituted, but at a penalty. If a longer word is used, each letter above par counts as a stroke; if a shorter word is used, each letter below par counts as a stroke. If player cannot insert a suitable word, add 3 strokes to par for hole and proceed to next hole.

CLUES

1—Energy.
2—To make amends to.
3—One of the heavenly bodies.
4—To repair or make new again.
5—To preserve a dead body.
6—To behave improperly.
7—To make plain or intelligible.
8—Pertaining to a nation.
9—That which is left to one by will.
10—To confine; to compress.
11—To possess beforehand.
12—To guide.
13—To mould or shape anew.
14—To erase; to blot out.
15—To speak well of.
16—Every one separately considered.
17—To deceive.
18—Containing knots.

NATION SWEPT BY DEMOCRATS

records today as slow-coming returns continued to emphasize the breadth and scope of the Democratic turnover from the Atlantic seaboard to the slopes of the Pacific.

The Democrats, in all probability, have won control of the House of Representatives of the Seventy-second Congress. Probably they will be able to organize it. And they have missed actual control of the Senate only by the narrow margin of a seat or two.

Shortly before noon today, with normally Democratic Kentucky still unheard from, the Democrats were figured to have 269 seats in the new Congress to 205 for the Republicans, one for the Farmer-Labor party and 20 seats still in a stage of uncertainty. It requires 218 for actual control.

SENATE IN BALANCE

In the Senate the Democrats increased their representation from 39 to 46, as against 47 for the Republicans. And South Dakota and Kentucky are still uncertain, so they may emerge with actual control of the Senate—something they did not dream of yesterday.

A Democratic Senator from Kansas, assured today through the concession of defeat by Senator Henry J. Allen, brings George McGill from Kansas for the short term.

Allen's defeat was a shock to the Republicans and no less to the Democrats. He was accounted one of the so-called "Hoover group," and frequently spoke the White House position on the floor. He was serving an appointment to the vacancy created by the resignation of Vice President Curtis.

But irrespective of whether the Democrats win numerical control of either House, the administration has lost control of both branches of the Seventy-second Congress. Actual control will be vested in a coalition of Democrats and Insurgent Republicans from the Middle and Northwest, whenever they care to exercise it upon a given issue.

An aroused electorate went to the polls yesterday in 47 states and swatted right and left at "the ins" and at prohibition, producing in the end a series of spectacular Democratic victories that could be called little else than a landslide.

ROOSEVELT TOTAL STAGGERS

Outstanding were these results:

1—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic anti-dry, was re-elected governor of New York over Charles H. Tuttle, Republican anti-dry, by the astounding plurality of more than 700,000 votes—a point never reached by "Al" Smith even in his palmiest days.

2—Three states—Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island—voted disapproval of prohibition by formal referenda, and followed this up by the election of anti-dry senators to replace drys in the Senate.

3—Ruth Hanna McCormick, the first woman ever to make a serious effort to gain the Senate as the nominee of a major party, went down to crushing defeat at the hands of Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, Democratic anti-dry, in Illinois. Mrs. McCormick was Republican and dry.

4—Ohio, birthplace of the Anti-Saloon League and mother of many outstanding drys, went anti-dry and Democratic by electing Robert J. Bulkley to the senate in place of Senator Roscoe C. McCulloch, Republican-dry. A Democratic governor, dry, also was elected.

5—Gifford Pinchot, the flaming insurgent in Pennsylvania Republicanism, dry, won the governorship of Pennsylvania despite the bolting of half the party to John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal anti-dry.

SOUTH FORGETS G. O. P.

6—Almost the last vestige of the Republican victory in the South in '28 was wiped out through the Democrats reclaiming congressional seats lost to the Republicans two years ago, and by the retirement from public life of the two chief Smith bolters—Senator Heflin in Alabama, and Senator Simmons in North Carolina.

7—Albert C. Ritchie, Democrat, who has for 10 years advocated the apparently now popular revolt against prohibition, was re-elected governor of Maryland for the fourth time, a thing without precedent in the free state.

8—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican anti-dry, whom many regard as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1932 despite his recent gesture of renunciation, scored a comparatively easy victory in his senatorial contest in New Jersey.

These were only the high lights of an election filled with outstanding developments and upsets.

ACROSS CONTINENT

The Democratic sweep knew no boundaries. It started at Cape Cod with Massachusetts electing Marcus A. Coolidge, Democratic-anti-dry, over ex-Senator William M. Butler, Republican-dry; dipped into Connecticut and elected a Democratic governor; continued through New York in Roosevelt's amazing triumph, proceeded through Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, bowling over long-sitting Republican congressmen, turned up the first Democratic senator Colorado has sent to Washington in years, swung north into Montana to re-elect Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Teapot Dome fame; and finally blew itself out in the Northwest where more Republican congressmen were unseated.

The Democratic tornado left in its wake a trail of twisted and broken political hopes, and at the same time breathed the breath of life into others.

RUTH OWEN WINS

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and co-author of the new tariff act, was one of those trailing in first returns. Speaker Longworth had a substantial lead in his Ohio district, and Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the Republican leader, and Representative Snell, the chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, were elected.

All Democratic House leaders were re-elected.

In Florida Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen (Dem.), won in the Fourth District.

ANTI-DRYS WIN CAPITAL POSTS

the Volstead Act, to repeal the state search and seizure act, and elected an anti-dry senator, Col. J. Hamilton Lewis (Dem.), to replace a sitting dry.

Massachusetts voted to repeal her state enforcement act and elected an anti-dry senator, Marcus A. Coolidge (Dem.) to replace a sitting dry.

Rhode Island, voting on the question, "The Eighteenth Amendment—Shall It Be Retained?" registered an emphatic "No," besides returning to Washington Senator J. H. Metcalfe (Rep.), who came out against prohibition a short time before election.

GAIN SIX SEATS

Anti-dry forces figure on a gain of certainly six seats, possibly more, in the Senate, and a gain of probably between 50 and 75 seats in the House as a result of yesterday's balloting. The final line-up will have to await the complete returns, but there apparently was no gainsaying today that the movement to liberalize the present prohibition set-up has been greatly strengthened and accelerated.

No incumbent anti-dry who ran for re-election was defeated yesterday in the returns tabulated up to this morning.

The present anti-dry strength in the Senate is about 20. It is difficult to state it definitely because of conflicting views of those members who have voted on both sides of prohibition questions. The drys, however, consider 20 a fair estimate.

In the House, the anti-dry strength in the present congress, by the same estimation, is rated at about 106. With the addition of today's reinforcements, the anti-prohibition strength in the next House can be reckoned with as formidable, even though not in majority.

ed yesterday were: Lewis (Dem.) of Illinois; Coolidge (Dem.) of Massachusetts; Hoidale (Dem.) of Minnesota; Bulkley (Dem.) of Ohio; Morrow (Rep.) of New Jersey, and Metcalf (Rep.) of Rhode Island.

SEE PSYCHOLOGICAL GAIN

In addition, the opponents of prohibition rate Davis, (Rep.), in Pennsylvania, and Couzens (Rep.) of Michigan, as "none too dry," meaning thereby that while they are ostensible drys in deference to the supposed wishes of their constituencies they are not hitched fast to the prohibition cart.

Even more highly than the numerical gains made yesterday, the anti-dry forces regard the psychological effect of the anti-dry victories on the personnel of the new congress as a whole. In the present Congress it is well know that a considerable number of members who vote dry are privately opposed to prohibition. Now that it has been demonstrated than the sentiment against existing conditions has made progress since 1928, and that it is "politically safe" to be anti-dry as demonstrated in yesterday's elections, they believe some of the wavering ones will be moved to change their position.

N. D. Governor Hears Victory In Bed

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Gov. George F. Shafer, propped up by pillows, sat in his hospital bed at Bismarck to hear returns of the vote in which he was apparently re-elected.

He was stricken with appendicitis which necessitated an operation while in the midst of his campaign. Because of his illness he was unable to obtain an absentee voter's ballot in time and was unable to cast his vote.

TRAFFIC GROUP FETE FRIDAY

"Past Presidents" night will be observed by the Traffic and Transportation Association of Pittsburgh in the Chamber of Commerce Friday night. Fifteen presidents of the organization will have charge of the program. They are J. H. Schroeder, W. S. Gardiner, A. C. Schweitzer, R. M. Sisk, S. S. McKeever, H. N. Holdren, S. R. Hosmer, R. F. Heil, A. H. Dietz, H. L. Geyer, J. J. Reilly, E. J. Siemon, Thomas Beyers, and C. W. Gottschalk.

Poll Tax Paid Late, Rules Waived, Votes

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Election officers in the home precinct of C. Arthur Bruce, Republican gubernatorial candidate said they allowed him to vote today "by courtesy," waiving their ruling that his poll tax was paid one day too late.

THE SAFE INHALANT FOR CHILDREN'S COLDS

Vapex breaks up a cold swiftly and surely—yet it is as pleasant to use as perfume

It is pitiable to see a child with a cold. His nose running, his breathing labored. And it's silly to allow a cold to grip a child.

For colds can be checked at the start. Just put a drop of Vapex on the handkerchief or blouse during the day, and a drop at each end of the pillow at night.

Vapex is safe, swift, and sure. It dries up sniffles, clears the head and promptly relieves colds.

Vapex is very inexpensive. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications—an average of only 2c apiece. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is approved by Good Housekeeping because it is safe for every one—even little children.

For safety's sake, always ask for V-A-P-E-X—the original inhalant—and do not accept an inferior product that claims to be "just as good."

RIVERS FASCINATE BROADCASTERS TONIGHT; DETROIT SYMPHONY ON AIR

The Loudspeaker

Again, Americanese.
Some Coined Phrases.
"Jazz" Accepted.
"Crook" Also OK.

By LOUIS REID

Louis Reid

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A correspondent, J. R. C., hurls an inkpot at us because of our humble plea for a wider use of the tangy Americanese of the day on the part of radio announcers. J. R. C., it seems to us, misconstrues our remarks as the misconstruers the significance and place of radio in American life. We do not and never have advocated the use of gutter slang, on the air, but we do urge that a wider expression be found for the racy idiom of the American people.

Radio is not merely a disseminator of education. It is a medium for the reflection of every phase of life. As such, it is by its very nature infinitely more comprehensive than the stage or screen or the novel or any other form of art and communication by which the world expresses itself. To limit its flexibility is like limiting such a playwright as Shaw or such a novelist of only sweetness and light.

Radio Should Also Air American Idiom

Too often of late radio has been assigned exclusively to the role of a school master. Of course, it should educate. Of course, it should be available as a teacher of pure English. But it should also entertain. And most important of all it should express the teeming, kaleidescopic life about us. It should reflect the character of America, its gusto and virility, its social and philosophic and industrial phenomena.

It cannot reflect American character better than by its adaption of the American language, as distinguished from the English.

Today's phrases of the gutter and gangland are tomorrow's phrases.

Presidents have been known to coin phrases which have been occupied in every walk of life, even gangdom. What of T. R. and his frequent use of "the big stick." One of the most forceful of Americans, he did not, in the manner of cloistered Oxfordians, sniff at salty Americanese to express himself.

When Woodrow Wilson, the most intellectual and pedagogic of all presidents, sought a suitable expression for his contempt of William Jennings Bryan he did not resort to academic speech. He dusted off the vivid phrase "knocking into a cocked hat," used way back in Napoleonic times, and applied it to Bryan.

* * *

"Jazz" was yesterday's slang, underworld slang at that, type of restless, exciting rhythm. Today it is recognized as the only word that fits that type of rhythm. Even the pedagogues roll it on their tongues. "Sucker" was immortalized by Barnum. Today it is definitely a part of the lexicon of economics. "Boob" was popularized by Rube Goldberg. Today it is accepted in the rarified air of lecture halls.

'Crook' and 'Grafter' Now Accepted English

The word "crook" is accepted English in courts of law. "Grafter," born in the underworld, now rests securely in the dictionary. It is in common use throughout America, in newspapers, by orator, by writers of the purest English. "Dumbbell" and "nitwit," to express stupidity, are choice bits wherever American is spoken.

It is our belief that radio's microphone men should be more alert to the vividness and aptness of the American language, and that does not mean they should be slovenly or careless in speech, nor does it mean they have to air the coarser terms of the street. As announcers they are calling attention to innumerable aspects of American life. And it is our notion they are most successful when they use the American language to do so.

* * *

Class is now dismissed and we now turn our gaze to the State Department with the suggestion, Mr. Stimson, that recognition of Soviet Russia be no longer delayed. Russia, from the American standpoint, is not now beyond the pale. In fact, comrades, America has conquered her. She is, believe it or not, writing JAZZ.

A Russian jazz fox trot, called "Hello Moscow" and written by one Kirchstein, was played for the first time in America last Sunday night in Collier's program.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN
Radio Editor.

Flow gently, sweet Afton,
Among thy green braes,
Flow gently, I'll sing thee
A song in thy praise.
—Burns.

Darrell V. Martin

Rivers have a poetic fascination. Nothing moves a bard to emotion like water, unless it is the stars. When Robert Burns composed "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," he imparted an esthetic beauty to the world that the world has never forgotten. We find it leading "Music of the Rivers," to be presented on WCAE at 8:30 tonight during the Mobiloil Concert. When it is sung, we like Strauss' "Blue Danube" almost as well. It, too, is a highlight of the concert, as well as Smetana's "The Moldau," "Beautiful Ohio," "On the Banks of the Wabash," "Missouri Waltz," "Swanee River," "Old Man River" and Edna Kellogg's singing of "The Nile" by Leroux. We could wish only one thing more, "Down the River of Golden Dreams.

From the stage of Orchestra Hall, Detroit, we are to hear the Detroit Symphony of 85 pieces play the Ride of the Valkyrie from Wagner's famous opera and Rachmaninoff's "Second Symphony"—WJAS at 10:30.

The aggressive, staunch spirit required to sing "Invictus" effectively leads us to choose Reinald Werrenrath as the best bet of Camel Pleasure Hour on KDKA at 9:30.

Werrenrath takes a leaf from the boxer's training book and hits the road every morning for a two mile run.

He has two presumably ferocious Komo dogs that get along famously with Mrs. Werrenrath's cats. At night all four sleep in a row before the log fire in Werrenrath's den in the Adirondacks.

* * *

Ned we mention that Julius Huehn, a great admirer of Werrenrath, will tune in down at Julliard Institute? Julius always thrills us with the way he sings "Invictus."

There's a Spanish superstition connected with "Tarantella" a composition by Arditi on WJAS at 9:30. The Spanish believe that a person who has been bitten by the poisonous tarantella can avert death by dancing for three hours.

* * *

Tampa: "Why are girls always the most successful in postoffice positions?"
Ford Miller: "I don't know. Why?"
Tampa: "Because they know how to manage the males."
Awah! Awah!

QUESTION A DAY:
What is the latest on Mystery House?—Mildred W. Homer.
Answer — Definitely cancelled by NBC because of too many radio serials.

WHAT'S THAT?
M. H. Aylesworth, president of NBC, had the wittiest joke at the banquet t'other night.
A porter at the NBC had told Mr. Aylesworth that he was going to see the Amos 'n' Andy picture, "Check and Doublecheck."
"How did you like the film?" asked Mr. Aylesworth a few days later as the porter tidied his office.
"Why it wasn't so good, boss. I watched those lions for hours but I didn't see Amos 'n' Andy nowhere."
The porter had seen "Africa Speaks."

The Forty Fathom Trawlers weigh anchor tonight. It's their last episode.

"BY THE WAY—"
Ozzie Nelson, orchestra leader, a former quarterback and all-America material on the Rutgers University eleven not long ago, is to spiel his thoughts on the Army-Illinois game this Saturday for CBS . . . Ted Husing told us about coaching the boy for this kind of work when he was here, but we couldn't take him seriously . . . In 1920, when 13 years old, Nelson was delegated to Europe with the first Boy Scout Jamboree as America's youngest Eagle Scout . . . Nick Lucas entertains on KDKA Friday night at 8 . . . Of all revelations, Leonard Joy of Coca Cola Orchestra, got his start in the music world by playing for old-fashioned square dances . . . Georgia Price is to be heard from WJAS this Friday at 10 . . . And Hendrick William Van Loon, famous author, is to speak to America from his study in Amsterdam, Holland, the following Friday.

C. C. C. Stotler yesterday delivered for the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board the home town speech which won the cup at the Reading convention. Mr. Stotler inserted a lot of humor which was lost in the Reading speech and received a big ovation from the realtors. John L. Walsh introduced the speaker. James W. Cree, Jr., newly elected president of the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association, called on various members of the board for their impressions of the Reading meeting.

In the downtown district, C. C. McKallip & Co. leased for the Herman Straub estate to the National Stores Company the store and basement, 20x145 feet, at 640 Liberty avenue; for the James McKay estate to the Great Eastern Stages Company, a three-story building on 22x100 feet at 1027 Liberty avenue for a bus terminal, and for S. Gallinger, Jr., to the Order of Owls the second, third and fourth floors of the building at 929 Liberty avenue.

A trade deal has been closed by H. L. Gerdes in which Annie G. McClellan sold to Archibald Mackrell a brick residence at 219 Evaline street, East End. The buyer deeded in exchange a modern home in Mt. Royal boulevard, Glenshaw district.

John Dierst and Austin Miller have sold to Charles L. Levinson a row of five brick houses and a duplex at Aurelius and Oak Grove streets, Swissvale. The property was then resold to an investor who deeded in part payment an eight-room brick house and garage at 516 Bellaire avenue, Brookline, lot 40x120 feet. The deal was made through the Auslander-Krasnow Company.

Fannie W. Shields has sold to Margaret E. Phillips an improved property in Kentucky avenue, Seventh Ward, for $8,000.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW PERSON"

Pittsburgh Lady Now Understands Why Konjola Is the Most Talked-of Medicine In America.

Little wonder that the files of Konjola fairly overflow with the endorsements this modern medicine has won in just seven years. And on this record Konjola stands . . . not on mere claims and promises.

MISS MARY A. VELON

Would you see how this new medicine of 32 ingredients works? Then think over the experience of Miss Mary A. Velon, 905 Kirkbride Street, North Side, Pittsburgh. Then call on the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, this city, and hear more about the medicine that has won and held more than a million friends. Ask questions about Konjola and its amazing record. But right now read the words of Miss Velon, who said to the Konjola Man:

"For a year I was in a badly rundown condition. I felt tired and had no 'pep.' Food did not agree with me, and no matter what I ate I suffered from gas pains and bloating afterward. I even went on a strict diet, but got no better, and I became greatly discouraged and worried. A friend suggested I try Konjola. I did, and how glad I am. The first bottle did some good, so I bought four more bottles. Today, I feel like a different person. Indigestion and headaches are gone. I have renewed strength and vigor, and I tell all my friends about Konjola."

On such victories—and this is not an unusual case by any means—rests the fame of this master medicine.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is telling how Konjola works. Konjola is sold in all Dow Drug Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

BEGIN NEW WAR ON DIPHTHERIA

Today marks the beginning of the year's diphtheria prevention work in Pittsburgh public schools by the Department of Public Health, Dr. C. B. Maits, director.

Only those children showing signed requests from parents may receive treatment, according to Dr. Maits. The city's schools will be divided in sections, with each section assigned dates for treatment. The treatment will also be given to children of pre-school age, if they are accompanied by parents.

Forty school physicians, under the supervision of Dr. H. J. Benz, superintendent of the Bureau of Child Welfare, will be assigned school districts and will have nurses to assist them in the work of prevention.

Between today and next June, each public and parochial school in Pittsburgh will have a date set on which these treatments will be given.

Sheriff, Candidate Again, Dies Suddenly

LINCOLNTON, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Fred C. Fink, 45, candidate on the Republican ticket for re-election as sheriff of Lincoln County, died late today shortly after being taken ill near the Republican campaign quarters here. Sheriff Fink had served Lincoln County since 1926.

MISSION STUDY FOR LUTHERANS

The eighth annual conference of the Lutheran Home Missionaries of the Pittsburgh synod will be held tomorrow and Friday in the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Sharon. The conference will open tomorrow afternoon with the observance of the Lord's Supper. The Rev. John Feisel, of Cleveland, O., will deliver the conference sermon. Following the service, new members and visitors will be introduced and officers will be elected.

Speakers will feature the meetings to be held Friday. Subjects will deal with the mission problems.

Hunter Injured At Beaver Falls

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 5.—George Drake, 34, of Dewey street, Munhall, was treated at the Providence Hospital here for gun shot wounds in the side of the face, sustained, it was reported, when his shotgun was accidentally discharged in the automobile in which he was en route home.

Elected Post Head For Eighth Time

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 5.—Frank A. Weber, who served as adjutant to the late Col. Joseph H. Thompson in the World War, has been elected commander of the American Legion post here for the eighth consecutive time.

Men's Bible Class Will Banquet Sons

The Men's Bible Class of the Hazelwood Presbyterian Church will hold a father and son banquet tomorrow night in the social rooms of the church. The Rev. W. H. Moore will be toastmaster and the principal speaker will be the Rev. A. R. Robinson, of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church.

Woman Casts Vote Lying in Ambulance

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Margaret Raymond voted in an ambulance today.

Defying a physician, she went in an ambulance from a hospital to a voting precinct. The vehicle was backed up against a booth and Mrs. Raymond, lying comfortably on her back, marked the ballot, then rode back to the hospital.

In tone and beauty, a worthy companion to the sensational Radiola Super-Heterodyne models.

For Only $112.50

LESS RADIOTRONS

Unless it bears the famous RCA trademark, it is not a Radiola.

A full-sized radio in a trim, compact cabinet. A two-fisted, he-man set in performance—a delicate, graceful woman's set in appearance. In apartments and modest-sized homes, no longer need limited space mean limited radio enjoyment! And no longer need limited means deprive you of fine entertainment.

Now you can have a genuine Radiola, created by the world's greatest radio organization, for the sensationally low price of $112.50, less Radiotrons—an instrument of full volume, with faithful, life-like tone reproduction. Only RCA could offer so much for so little!

See it today. Marvel at the astounding clarity of its tone, the exquisite beauty of its cabinet, and the ease with which it brings in distant stations. Look at the back of it, and note how cleverly the cabinet holds a full-size radio with 7 tubes—4 screen-grid—usually found only in larger, more expensive instruments.

And be sure to look on the dial for the famous RCA trade-mark—your guarantee of the finest radio entertainment today and in years to come.

New Model 48 RCA Radiola . . . tuned radio frequency . . . screen-grid . . . 7 tubes—four screen-grid . . . improved electro-dynamic speaker . . . sharp selectivity . . . compound volume control . . . large, clear dial markings . . . illuminated and magnified . . . cabinets of early English design . . . extremely compact . . . special wood cabinet, walnut finish . . . price only $112.50, less Radiotrons.

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

A delightful interpretation of the mode for larger women shows the tendency to blouse the waistline above a well-fitted hip yoke. The inevitable lingerie touch is here expressed in the dainty lace vestee and jabot, further echoed on the sleeves. Shoulder and back tucks give fullness where most necessary.

Pattern 2049 is lovely made of lustrous satin, canton crepe or sheer velvet in brown, green or black, solid color or printed with small designs of egg-shell, turquoise, white or beige. Ecru lace is smart.

May be obtained only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins, carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

SEND FOR OUR WINTER FASHION BOOK, containing exquisite models for adults and children and an excellent assortment of transfer patterns and stamped novelties that make delightful and inexpensive GIFTS. PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS, book with pattern, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5.—Address your request to

AIR MARKS SET BY WINDS' AID

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Strong tail winds sent transport airplanes into Washington at unusual speeds.

A Washington Airline ship flew from Philadelphia in 40 minutes, an average speed of 192 miles per hour, while an Eastern Air Transport shuttle plane made the 35-mile hop from Baltimore to Bolling Field in nine minutes, averaging 233.1 miles per hour.

Both flights, airport officials said, set speed records for transport planes.

CHIEF SEIZED IN RUM PLOT

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Harry S. Parker, chief of the capital city's police, and five others were charged with transportation of liquor in United States District Court here today in warrants issued by Commissioner D. W. Peters.

The six, including one woman and a Negro, were arrested by federal prohibition agents late last night while allegedly delivering whisky to a Negro political ward meeting.

WHEN PAIN COMES...

Two hours after eating

WHAT many call "indigestion" is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard anti-acid with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this more pleasant way. A small bottle is sufficient to show its merit.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for more than 50 years in correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c a bottle; any druggist. Complete directions for its many uses, are enclosed with every bottle.

The Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid—never a tablet. Look for the Phillips' name on the bottle.

"Half-dissolved soap—hot water need no longer rot delicate fabrics"

silk experts tell Committee of 17

New-type "bead" soap for silks wins enthusiastic praise from noted women who compare it with old-time chips and flakes.

A SOAP that helps silk stockings to wear longer!

No news, no discovery—ever meant more to thousands of women in homes, in schools, in offices!

Such a soap has actually been made. It has been tested and endorsed by all the great silk manufacturers. It has been approved as the "ideal soap for silks" by a committee of 17 distinguished American women who met recently at the Ritz Hotel to watch the new soap tested.

They found that this revolutionary new soap (1) dissolves instantly; (2) cleanses in water 20 degrees cooler than "flake" soaps require; (3) rinses away 100% to protect silks against soap damage; (4) resupplies the natural oils of silks and so prevents unnecessary silk runs.

Lillian Edgerton shows Antoinette Donnelly how woolens remain soft and like new when washed with Palmolive Beads.

Miss Elsie de Wolfe, noted interior decorator and member of the Committee of 17.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, social leader and writer, who is member of the Committee of 17. "Palmolive Beads is an ideal soap for fine things," says Mrs. Fairbank.

Called Palmolive Beads

"The name of the new soap, 'Palmolive Beads,' reveals the secret of why this new soap gives such vastly better results," said chemists.

Silk manufacturers, leading stores, designers of smart women's wear came to the makers of Palmolive Soap—told them that modern hasty wash-bowl laundering was working havoc with beautiful fabrics—and asked them to create a soap as protective for fine fabrics as Palmolive Soap is for lovely complexions.

Made of olive and palm oils

And so Palmolive Beads were made. The first soap for silks ever made in the form of tiny, hollow, instant-dissolving "beads." The only fine fabric soap ever to be made of olive and palm oils.

Palmolive Beads are for sale at your dealer's at 10 cents the box—no more than you pay for ordinary flakes and chips. Get a box today.

NEWS ABOUT HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM LIFE; LOCAL NOTES

Marlene Dietrich, German Star, Heralded As Film Sensation

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5.

Officials at Paramount stand by their guns that Marlene Dietrich, Josef von Sternberg's discovery, will be the sensation of the year in "Morocco."

For the German actresses' second vehicle, "Dishonored," they have borrowed Victor McLaglen from Fox, and are signing Norman Kerry to play an important supporting role.

Marlene Deitrich

"Dishonored" is the story of a woman spy during the war time. Like "Morocco," it will be directed by Josef von Sternberg, who persuaded Paramount to sign Miss Deitrich after she played the leading woman in the picture he made in Germany with Emil Jannings.

Not since Maurice Chevalier's advent, has Paramount launched such a pre-release publicity campaign on the picture of a new star.

Chevalier came through with flying colors.

Once before, however, Paramount tried to make Mary Miles Minter into a second Mary Pickford. Everybody knows what happened.

Miss Deitrich comes to the screen under the most difficult circumstances. She stands in a pitiless spot-light, with everybody challenging her to impress them.

HIGH C THEIR LIMIT

The microphone used in recording talking pictures will not function at an altitude greater than 10,000 feet.

This fact was discovered recently when a studio ordered a consignment of the delicate instruments sent air-mail from New York.

They arrived, apparently in perfect condition, but would not function under a test. Thinking that the consignment was faulty, the studio sent for another lot. They also failed to record.

In vestigation disclosed that the innards of a microphone go permanently hay-wire if the instrument is taken above the altitude named.

PLAN COSTUME BALL

One of the big events of the social season will be a military and naval Armistice night costume ball to be held at the Ambassador here.

Mary Pickford

An important feature will be the Cecil B. De Mille-Metro-Gldwyn-Mayer pageant.

On the entertainment committee are Mary Pickford, Sid Sid Grauman, Walter Kelley, Winifred Sheehan, Gilbert Adrian, John Ford, Jack Warner, Harry Rapf, Abraham Lehr, William Collier, Sr., Fred Niblo and Carl Laemmle, Jr.

The following instructions accompany the invitations: Gentlemen are requested to wear military, naval or aviation costumes if possible. Ladies are requested to wear Red Cross, canteen or ambulance uniforms, or costumes typical of nations that participated in the World War.

A brilliant fete seems assured.

Radio Drama

Mary Doran has a prominent role in "Remote Control," a comedy melodrama of radio life, which comes to the Penn Friday.

DO YOU KNOW

That Lola Lane toured the Chatauqua circuits in preparation for going on the stage?

That John Robertson, a Canadian farm boy who has made good as a screen director, played in companies with Rose Stahl, Maude Adams and other great stars during the earlier years of his career?

Harry G. Sampson Kiwanis Speaker

Harry G. Samson will speak tomorrow at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel. His subject will be "Europe Before and After the Armistice."

To Donna Wanda

Sweet sonneteer, with boyish-bob allure,
I have a word or two to say to you;
But listen, child, and do not misconstrue,
For wild-eyed Poes are often quite obscure.

And there, I half suspect, the trouble lies;
You missed the implication of Wahn's verse;
Byronic boys go mad—and even worse,
When femmes misjudge the thought a rhyme implies.

So grab a pen, and from your very soul
Indite a roundelay of deathless love;
Tell him you'll be his little turtle-dove,
Or anything that poets swallow whole.

Then make a date with him and look upon
A smiling Don—a Don no longer wan!
—H. P. Stoddard.

Gag

Leave it to Herring Hershfield, the author of "Super-City," a highly engaging book, to rock the house when he has a gag to tell. At the Heywood Broun show Sunday evening he sent them into spasms with the one about the dialectician who came home after losing his fortune in Wall Strasse. He was blue and disgusted when his Mrs. showed him a costly coat she had purchased that day.

"Take it back!" he thundered, "I'm broke, take it back!"

"I'd sooner die first!" she snapped.

"Well, go ahead then—wear it," he screamed, "but I'm warning you. You'll be the best dressed person in the bread line!"

Wiseys

"Jot down the name of Bert Hanlon as being one of the major clowns who should be more famous than he is. At the Friars testimonial dinner to Ripley, Hanlon starred. He said among other things:

"Ripley has toured the world, but I've been to Europe, too. Say, I've been to Europe every year since I was 15. That is, every year except during the war. I wouldn't go that far to see any war! My last voyage was awful, though. It was the roughest trip I ever made. Why, it was so rough—on the third day out—I began to look like my passport photo!"

Time Tells

The recent blurb in Zit's Weekly, viz: "Heard in a night club—That a certain tabloid columnist will be bumped off within six months"—has been taken up editorially by Time, the breeziest of the mags of its type. Under its "Press" department Time says in part:

"...Broadway's newswise readers associated this warning not with Coolidge, Brisbane, Broun or a dozen others, but instinctively thought of Gossip-Colyumist Walter Winchell. New York has heard before the rumor of threats against his life.

"Not loath to dramatize his position, Winchell himself has helped circulate the impression that 'some day,' etc. Characteristic is the legend that he has placed in a safe deposit box the names of those who might cheerfully see him 'rubbed out' with a detailed account of their motives."

The magazine adds: "If he has annoyed anyone with his peeping chit-chat, observers reflected that he may also be feared and hated for what he knows and has not written."

Oh, a pish and two tushes to all that. It is a legend, indeed, that we have safety-vaulted a list of revenge-seekers. That, as someone already has niftied, is hardly necessary. If our lifeless body is ever found, half the population of Manhattan will be held on suspicion!

In Fewer Words

And who ever heard of anyone needing a gun to blow out a columnist's brains? When a pocket handkerchief will do

Observation

That Broadway fame goes as swiftly as a rumor was exemplified again. A man who a year ago was pointed out by celebrity worshipers, and who was announced every time he entered a public place, sat at a conspicuous table, danced, and otherwise had himself a merry time.

But his appearance was not the signal for an ovation, any recognition, or a cue to arouse enthusiasm—yet he is a fine man; he has never been in any front-page trouble which might have melted his popularity, and he is just as talented as he was a year ago, when his voice was recorded on films, phonograph platters and he starred in shows.

Charles Mack. Or should we add "... of Moran and Mack?"

The Broadway Idea

Considering the depression and the unemployment situation, the fast thinkers on the Grandest Canyon are demanding a fee from those who seek their talents for club shows, entertainments at lodges, etc.

One wag received an offer from a "benefit" promoter. The letter said:

"There will be thousands of people there, you will become famous!" The wit replied: "F. A. M. E.—Meaning Fifty and My Expenses."

NEW STAGE DRAMAS LISTED FOR MONDAY

"Strictly Dishonorable," the Preston Sturges comedy that has run in New York for two years, will open in the Nixon Monday. Seats go one sale tomorrow.

The stories of many lives are interwoven in the living tapestry of "Street Scene," coming to the Shubert Alvin next week. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday. Seats go on sale at the box office tomorrow.

When "Lilac Time" was put into the pictures, Colleen Moore was chosen to play the role which Jane Cowl created in the stage play. In the Pitt next week, where the George Sharp Players are planning a revival of "Lilac Time," Jean May will have the star role.

Bootleggers' Drama Opens "Y" Playhouse

What with a chill rain, election returns, Newman travelogue at Carnegie Hall and O'Neill drama at the Kaufmann Settlement, there was not the usual full house to greet the opening of the "Y" Players in the Beliefield Auditorium last night, though "Ned McBobb's Daughter" was the attraction.

Sidney Howard's drama is about bootleggers in Maine, up against the New England conscience of a woman. Peggy Scott was the woman, and if her name wasn't Peggy one might say she struggled manfully with the character and dialect, playing with skill where she was lacking in force.

The best work of the evening was done by Milton Brauman as Captain McCobb and Harold Weinberger as Babe Callahan, while Alfred Smith had some effective moments as Lawyer Grover. Jacques LeVine was defiantly dogged as George Callahan, and Betty MacDonald did well as Jenny.

The stage pictures, as always, were very good, being the work of Frank Stout. Helen R. Stout had directed the prodution, and it went smoothly enough to merit better attendance. The play will be repeated tonight. G. S.

Underworld!

Dorothy Matthews is heroine in the underworld drama, "The Doorway to Hell," which opens tomorrow on the Stanley screen.

ASLEEP on his feet, yet he went to bed early. Nervous, headachy, feeling terribly old and upset with the pains across his back. What's wrong?

Though He Eats the Purest Foods... he has SYS-TEM-IC POISONING

WHY do so many folks suffer in the waking hour? Medical science has discovered the truth. The pure foods we eat are blamed for most kidney, liver, intestinal and nervous troubles that reveal their presence in the first morning hours.

We know that when you get up in the morning feeling and looking twice your years, harassed by jumpy nerves or pains in your back, nauseated or bothered by a rank taste in your mouth . . . you are probably the victim of the foods you have eaten . . . You have SYS-TEM-IC POISONING.

Every morsel of food that enters your mouth passes right through the stomach into the small intestine where the important task of refueling the blood with energy and health is completed. If this food does not move on immediately it generates millions of dangerous germs that pollute the blood, attack the kidneys and stomach, and upset the nervous system.

HOW TO GET RELIEF

What can be done to correct this condition and regain buoyant health?

Neither harsh purgatives nor strong drugs will help you one bit. Such doses cause false stimulation that gives only temporary relief and leaves you feeling worse than ever.

To get relief and recover health . . . you must purify the system, rid it of poisonous germs just as an effective antiseptic cleanses an open wound.

The very first thing in the morning take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water and just 30 minutes later you'll feel much better.

SIFTS AWAY INFECTION

Jad Salts is totally unlike anything you've ever taken—vastly different in action and result. It is a scientific blend of ingredients that leading authorities recognize as most effective for relieving food infection.

This remarkable blend gently sifts through the body and quickly sweeps away all noxious germs that cause SYS-TEM-IC POISONING. When Jad Salts is taken with plenty of water the sluggish kidneys are stimulated so that they again discharge poisonous food debris.

As the system is thus purified, nerves are calmed, blue mornings vanish, glorious health and energy soon return.

Now beware of food infection. At the first warning sign of SYS-TEM-IC POISONING take a spoonful of Jad Salts in a glass of water as soon as you get up and you'll sit down to breakfast feeling fine. Start each day with this exhilarating, bubbling drink that Jad Salts makes and you'll soon look and feel better than you have in years. You'll sleep sounder and greet the morning clear-eyed and clear-headed, keenly alert, vigorous and ready for the day.

WHERE FOOD INFECTION STARTS

Stomach
Duodenum—9 inches
Small Intestine—12 feet
Large Intestine—5 feet

Foods allowed to remain in the small intestine generate poisonous germs that breed infection and cause SYS-TEM-IC POISONING . . . recognized by kidney trouble, upset stomach, indolence, backache, dull mornings, sallow, blemished skin, nervousness, or restless, disturbed sleep.

YOUTH HELD IN BLACKMAILING

Max Chessett, 20, of 614 North St. Clair street, a graduate of Peabody High School, confessed in Morals Court today to writing a "blackhand letter" to his neighbor, M. E. Heller, 613 North St. Clair street, in an alleged attempt to extort $300.

Chessett was held for court by Magistrate T. D. Jones, charged with extortion and blackmail.

The youth was captured early today after he had picked up a package, "wagers wrapped in five $1 bills under a street sign at Hays and North St. Clair streets, where it had been left by Heller, a wholesale grocery.

Detectives Walter Monahan, William Harkins and Thomas Morgan arrested Chessett with the package stuffed in his pocket.

The letter, signed "Dangerous Mystery, Black Hand," threatened Heller with death. His home would be blown up, the letter said, unless he paid the $300.

The letter:

"Dear sir:

"This letter is from the Dangerous, Mystery Back Hand. To fail in his instructions means death, disaster and ruin.

"You will leave $300 in paper bills in fives, tens and twenties, or any way to suit you, just so it amounts to $300. Wrap the money securely in paper and tie it with a string and place it under a tree or some object so it will be hidden. Leave it at Hays street and N. St. Clair signpole and depart immediately. Be sure no one notices you doing this. This must be done at 12 o'clock midnight on November 4, 1930."

"DYNAMITE—AND DEATH"

"Remember, dear sir, that your home is constantly guarded by my men, and any false move you make and if you make an attempt to 'phone the police your home will be dynamited and blown to bits and your life also will be snatched out.

"Take warning, do not breathe a word of this to anyone, but do as I say and your life and home will be spared. Do not ignore or take this letter as a joke. I mean every word of it.

"THE DANGEROUS, MYSTERY BLACKHAND."

In admitting sending the letter, which Heller received by mail Monday, Chessett said:

"This may kill my mother. I needed the money to go away on account of my health."

Traffic Tunnel Cuts Town Off Main Road

NEWCASTLE, Cal. — (AP.) — A tunnel under this little town's business district will cut off Newcastle from a transcontinental highway.

A 30-foot bore, 331 feet long, will be constructed to enable traffic to continue without passing on the main streets by a circuitous route.

Leaky Trunk Hero Goes to Defeat In Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Another veteran Republican congressman, M. A. Michaelson of the Seventh District, central figure in a "leaky trunk" prohibition investigation a year ago, apparently went down to defeat in Illinois' election. Returns from 25 representative precincts of 731 in the district gave Leonard W. Schuetz, (D), 3,481 votes to 1,810 for Michaelson. This would give the Democrats 12 members of the next congress, to seven Republicans, with eight seats let in doubt.

MRS. PINCHOT TO CARRY ON

MILFORD, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Manifestly relieved at the end of a long campaign, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot said today she looks forward to the next four years in Harrisburg with pleasure.

As she finished a telephone call to her son, Gifford, Jr., a student at the Taft School, Watertown, Conn., who had called up to congratulate his father and mother, she said:

"You know, I haven't seen my husband for long periods while he would be campaigning in one end of the state and I in another. We always have a reunion at Milford on election day.

"I suppose I should feel that a rest is in order, a sort of letdown, but I guess those do not come natural to me. Perhaps that is because we are always campaigning."

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Pain Stops Instantly!

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

PINCHOT SEES FIGHT AHEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor, in a statement shortly after midnight claimed victory in the election. He said:

'This is victory of the plain people against the special interests. It is also the triumph of the decent, dry, law-abiding people over the gangsters of Philadelphia. It is the most significant victory in which I have ever been concerned, and I am profoundly grateful to have had a share in it.

"We have taken the first step and the great task ahead is to make the laws follow the mandate of the people.

"The fight next will be to give the people in fact what they have declared for in this election. I am profoundly grateful for the victory."

Squirrel Adopted By Farmer's Cat

CONNERSVILLE, Ind.—(INS.)—A baby squirrel found in the woods near here has been adopted by a cat.

The squirrel was taken to the farm of Elisha Cockfair, where the mother cat adopted it and washes it regularly as she would a kitten.

Ban Against Betting Perils Ohio Racing

COLUMBUS, O.—(INS.)—The future of horse and dog racing in Ohio is doubtful following a decision by the Ohio State Supreme Court which held that the so-called contribution form of betting is illegal.

Rio Grande Watering Project Near Finish

SOCORRO, N. M.—(INS.)—Construction of the $10,000,000 irrigation project which will provide water for 150,000 acres in the middle Rio Grande conservancy district, is being steadily pushed to completion.

The district extends along the Rio Grande from Cochiti to a point north of San Marcial, N. M. At present 12 large excavation machines are in operation.

Steer Held in Straw Two Months Rescued

GALVESTON, Ind.—(INS.)—Starved to a mere bag of bones, a valuable steer was rescued from the middle of a huge straw stack on the Charles Snyder farm near here after imprisonment in the stack of more than two months.

The steer had crawled on top of the stack, apparently, and then had fallen through and been trapped.

'Land of Free' Fort Not to Be Dry Prison

BALTIMORE, Md.—(INS.)—Fort McHenry, where waved the Stars and Stripes that inspired "The Star Spangled Banner" with its words, "O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave," is not to be used to imprison prohibition law violators.

It was suggested the fort be put to this use to relieve crowded prison conditions, but Attorney General William D. Mitchell vetoed the proposal.

Tiny Golf Courses Banned in Basements

NEW YORK.—(INS.)—It looks as if miniature golf links won't have any where to go this winter but out.

Owners of the baby golf courses have been attempting to move their equipment to basements, but Tenement House Commissioner William P. Deegan has denied permit applications on the ground that a golf course constitutes a place of public assembly which is illegal in a dwelling.

NEELY ELECTED IN WEST VA.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Election of Matthew Mansfield Neely, Democrat, to the United States Senate by a plurality of more than 113,000, was shown today by returns from nearly four-fifths of West Virginia's voting places.

Neely's lead over James Ellwood Jones, Republican, began piling up shortly after the polling places were closed, and when 1,893 of the state's 2,354 precincts had been reported, he had a plurality of 113,697. The vote was Neely 298,117 and Jones 184,422.

The Mountain State electorate also increased the Democratic delegation in the state House of Delegates from 31 at the 1929 session to 43 for the next, with 22 counties yet unreported.

Two congressmen, one Republican and one Democrat, were assured of re-election on the face of incomplete returns. Congressman Carl G. Bachmann (Rep.), of the First District, and Congressman Joe L. Smith (Dem.), of the Sixth District, had commanding leads over their rivals in those districts. Congressman Frank L. Bowman (Rep.), clung to a slender lead over Jennings Randolph (Dem.), in the Second District.

State Senator Walter S. Hallanan, of Kanawha County, who is Republican national committeeman for West Virginia, today conceded his defeat for re-election in the Eighth Senatorial District by Clyde Beecher Johnson, of Charleston.

GUNMEN STEAL AUTO, CASH

Two holdups, one in which an automobile was stolen, were reported to police early today. William Neiss, of 326½ Forty-fifth street, reported that two armed men accosted him while he was putting his car in the garage in the rear of his home and robbed him of $65 and his automobile.

Dan Anson, of 3142 Dobson street, reported that three men with revolvers held him up in front of 3022 Paulowna street and took 94 cents from his pocket.

Foreign Capital Desired by China

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Nanking dispatches to the Kuo Min News Agency, representing the Chinese Nationalist government, said that 170 Chinese financial leaders had agreed that foreign capital and foreign experts should be imported to develop the country's industries.

President Chiang Kai-Shek made the announcement of this stand to the Industrial and Commercial Conference, which is seeking to develop basic industries and the promotion of foreign trade.

Ruth Bryan Owen Returned to Office

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Florida's off-year general election saw three of her four Democratic Congressmen returned to office without opposition. They were Congressmen Robert A. Green, Second district; Thomas A. Yon, Third, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William J. Bryan, in the Fourth.

The contested seat was that of Herbert J. Drane, in the First district, opposed by L. E. Womack, Tampa Republican.

50 Hurt as Police Rout Gandhi Group

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Fifty persons were injured in charges by police on a crowd which gathered today on the Chowpatti sands to observe the six-month anniversary of Mahatama Gandhi's imprisonment.

Penn. Boy is Strongest

"My son, Joseph, has never been really sick in his life," says Mrs. B. J. Flounders, 5643 Pine St., West Philadelphia.

"He's a young athlete, as you can see from his picture. He's strong and full of life. I give him California Fig Syrup at the first sign of constipation or colds and it keeps him well. It increases his appetite, has helped build him up. I have also used California Fig Syrup myself with benefit for constipation."

To show how California Fig Syrup acts to build-up and strengthen half-sick, headachy, constipated children through giving tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels, nothing could be more convincing than praise like this.

Your doctor will approve the use of this pure vegetable product—as often as an impure breath, coated tongue, listlessness, feverishness or lack of appetite warn of constipation—or to keep bowels from clogging during colds or children's diseases.

When buying, look for the word California on carton and bottle. That marks the genuine.

Election Results Over Nation

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 5.—Former Senator William M. Butler, for whom Calvin Coolidge made a late radio appeal, lost by a substantial margin to Marcus H. Coolidge, Democrat, in a campaign for the Senate seat. Frank G. Allen, Republican, seeking re-election, was running a close second to his Democratic opponent, Joseph E. Ely. The state also placed itself in the wet column by voting for repeal of the state prohibition enforcement law.

Mr. Coolidge.

VIRGINIA

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—There was little interest shown in the senatorial contest in which Senator Carter Glass, veteran Democrat, swamped J. Cloyd Byars, Independent, and Joseph Morgan, Socialist. Republicans lost two of the three congressional seats won in the Hoover landslide two years ago.

IOWA.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Iowa Republicans are again in control of Iowa's government with only one Democrat holding a major office. Lester J. Dickinson defeated Daniel F. Steck, Democratic incumbent United States Senator, by a large margin.

DELAWARE

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 5.—By a comfortable margin Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Republican, was re-elected over former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat-Liberal. The Prohibition Amendment, the principal issue, was attacked by the Democrats.

CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—While other Democrats were being defeated Dr. Wilbur L. Cross, retired dean of Yale's graduate school, was elected Governor over his Republican opponent, Lieut.-Gov. Ernest E. Rogers. Dr. Cross, who campaigned for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, will be this state's first Democratic governor in a score of years.

MONTANA

HELENA, Mont.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, famed prosecutor of oil-lease investigations, and an ardent prohibitionist, was returned to the Senate, defeating his Democratic opponent, Judge Albert J. Galen, by a substantial margin. Galen supporters blamed his defeat, not on the prohibition issue, but on the reaction to economic depression. Senator Walsh, returning for his fourth term, indicated this will be his last.

Mr. Walsh

OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5.—Democrats recovered the two congressional seats lost in the Hoover landslide of 1928 as Oklahoma regained its status as a Democratic commonwealth. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, Bolivian colonist, rolled up a tremendous majority over Ira A. Hill, Republican, for governor. Blind Thomas P. Gore, war-time senator, goes back to the Senate chamber, having unseated Senator W. B. Pine, millionaire, Republican.

WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Washington's delegation to Congress will have only one alteration. Ralph A. Horr, anti-dry Republican, of Seattle, was elected in place of Representative John F. Miller (Rep.). Horr will be the first avowed anti-dry ever to represent this district.

SOUTH DAKOTA

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 5.—Incomplete returns indicated the decisive defeat of the veteran Senator William J. McMaster by Gov. W. J. Von Bulow, Democratic candidate for the Senate, whose wit featured a campaign without an outstanding issue.

RHODE ISLAND

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—By three to one Rhode Island voted against retention of the Eighteenth Amendment. In one of the closest battles in the state's history, Senator Jesse H. Metcalf was re-elected over former Senator Peter G. Gerry, Democrat.

TENNESSEE.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 5.—An independent Republican, O. B. Lovette, gained the congressional seat of Representative B. Carroll Reece, regular Republican, in an election otherwise featured by election of a Democratic governor and a Democratic congressional bloc.

CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—California voters elected Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, governor, over Milton K. Young, dry Democrat. Rolph, who ignored the prohibition issue, is known as a liberal. He goes to the governor's chair after 18 years as Mayor of San Francisco.

Rolph carried with him the entire Republican state ticket.

TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 5.—Harry M. Wurzbach, congressman, was the only Republican able to withstand a Democratic onslaught as Texas returned to the Democratic party. All other state and national campaigns were won by Democrats.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 5.—Albert W. Noone, octogenerian manufacturer, and nominated by the Democrats for both governor and senator, lost both elections in a campaign in which this state clung to its Republicanism.

MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 5.—A mounting tide of ballots swept Einar Hoidale, Norwegian-born Democrat, towards victory over Senator Thomas J. Schall, blind Republican, for the United States senatorship. Meanwhile Floyd B. Olson, Farmer-Laborite, maintained his lead for governor over Republican Ray P. Chase.

INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 5.—Ten of Indiana's 13 representatives in Congress probably will be Democrats, returns indicated. This is an exact reversal of the present situation.

NEBRASKA.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—Senator Norris (Rep.), had little trouble defeating G. M. Hitchcock (Dem.), but Democrats were encouraged by the election of four of their candidates to the House, and possibly a fifth. The gubernatorial contest was still in doubt, Bryan (Dem.), leading the incumbent, Arthur J. Weaver, on incomplete returns.

Mr. Norris.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Gov. Long was not only elected to the Senate without opposition, but his $100,000,000 public improvement program was approved by an overwhelming majority.

WISCONSIN

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 5.—By more than two to one Philip La-Follette, youngest son of the late Senator Robert LaFollette, won the governorship over his Democratic opponent, Charles Hammersley.

OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Julius L. Meier, who ran as an independent on a platform favoring development of power by the public as opposed to private interests, today was conceded victory in the governorship race in Oregon over Phil Metschan, Republican, who supported private development, and Edward F. Bailey, Democrat.

MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Thomas D. Schall (Rep.), the blind incumbent, today refused to concede victory to Einar Hoidale (Dem.), in the Minnesota senatorship race, despite Hoidale's lead of 60,000 votes.

A Farmer-Labor candidate, Floyd B. Olson, apparently was elected governor over Ray P. Chase, Republican state auditor.

IDAHO

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Although Senator William E. Borah, Republican, swept Idaho with his customary large majority, the Democrats had apparently captured gubernatorial honors. Congressional results were in doubt.

VERMONT.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 5.—The native state of Calvin Coolidge stood by Republicanism in an election characterized by Democratic victories in the rest of the country. Gov. John E. Weeks was elected to Congress in the First District against a wet Democrat in an anti-prohibition district.

WYOMING

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 5.—With the possible exception of Gov. Emerson, the entire Republican congressional and state tickets apparently had been elected.

ALABAMA

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Alabama's army of renegade Democrats were safely back in the fold today after routing Senator J. Thomas Heflin, fiery petrel of Alabama politics, decisively defeated by the regular Democratic nominee, John M. Bankhead, the son of the man Heflin succeeded in the Senate. The incumbent, barred from his party for his disloyalty, ran as an "Independent Jeffersonian."

Mr. Heflin

NEW MEXICO

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—A Democratic landslide in New Mexico had carried United States Senator Samuel Bratton to victory today; elected a Democratic governor and a Democratic congressman to replace the Republican incumbents.

SOUTH DAKOTA

SIOUX FALLS, N. D., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Running ahead of the rest of the Democratic ticket, Gov. W. J. Bulow today maintained a lead in South Dakota's senatorial contest over Senator W. F. McMaster, insurgent Republican incumbent, bidding for a second term.

COLORADO

DENVER, Col., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Edward P. Costigan, whose roving political career has found him a leader in the Roosevelt Bull Moose party and an ardent Wilsonian Democrat, was swept into the office of United States senator on the crest of a near-Democratic landslide in Colorado. Costigan's indicated plurality will exceed 40,000 over George H. Shaw, Republican.

Gov. William H. Adams, Democrat, was re-elected by a large plurality to his third term.

ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—George W. P. Hunt (Dem.), six times governor of Arizona, appeared to have defeated the Republican incumbent, John C. Phillips, who in 1928 won the governorship from the veteran Democrat.

Hunt campaigned for tax reform and more militant opposition to the Boulder Dam project.

MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Excepting the case of Wilber M. Brucker, candidate for governor, the majority of all Republican candidates in yesterday's election continued to pile up as additional returns were tabulated today. Returns from 2,659 precincts out of 3,317 gave for U. S. senator: James Couzens (Rep.), 513,368; Thomas A. E. Weadock (Dem.), 137,931. For governor, 2,760 precincts gave: Brucker, 406,005; William A. Comstock (Dem.), 308,375.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The Democratic tidal wave that re-elected Gov. Ritchie for his fourth term in yesterday's election also made the Maryland delegation of six in Congress solidly Democratic, belated returns today indicated. The Republicans lost the two seats they held. Ritchie's plurality swelled today to the record total of 63,002.

3 Killed As Train Crashes Into Truck

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Three men were killed and four were injured seriously by a Milwaukee Railroad passenger train which struck a Wisconsin Telephone Company truck at a grade crossing today.

WHAT THEY SAID

Associated Press.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, Democrat, re-elected governor of New York: "The people certainly have been marvelous to me!"

CHARLES H. TUTTLE, his Republican opponent: "The result, a great personal tribute to Gov. Roosevelt, speaks for itself."

DWIGHT W. MORROW, Republican, elected United States senator in New Jersey: "The voters were looking for a new heaven and a new earth two years ago. Not finding it, they looked again."

GIFFORD PINCHOT, Republican, elected governor of Pennsylvania: "I promise to put behind bars every election thief in the city." (Of Philadelphia).

JOHN M. HEMPHILL, Democrat, whom he defeated: "I haven't characterized my campaign by any bombastic statements and I don't intend to now."

SENATOR GEORGE H. MOSES, of New Hampshire, Republican national chairman—"It was plainly a raw, wet and characteristically Democratic day."

WILBUR L. CROSS, former Yale dean, Democrat, elected Governor of Connecticut—"I shall return the political control of the state to the people to whom it belongs."

JAMES HAMILTON LEWIS, Democrat, elected United States Senator in Illinois—Mrs. McCormick fought as valiant a fight as any man ever did."

MRS. RUTH HANNA McCORMICK, his defeated Republican opponent—"Oh, my Lord, we're just swamped!"

DR. ROBERT PARIS CARROLL, Syracuse University, defeated dry candidate for Governor of New York—"I am rather of the opinion that both old parties are disintegrating. No party should live more than 50 years."

MRS. RUTH BAKER PRATT, Republican, re-elected to Congress from New York: "I'd take on anybody now; I'd take on two or three Brouns."

HEYWOOD BROUN, Columnist and Socialist whom Mrs. Pratt defeated along with her Democratic opponent: "I am still in the fight. I need a machine and tomorrow will start building it."

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH, Republican, of Idaho, re-elected, who had declined a $2,500 salary rise pending re-election: "I did not feel that I could accept an increase in good faith without giving the voters a chance to express themselves."

J. THOMAS HEFLIN, Democrat, defeated for re-election to the United States Senate in Alabama: "This was one of the most fraudulent and corrupt elections ever held in Alabama."

SENATOR SIMEON D. FESS, of Ohio, chairman of the Republican National Committee: "I must have time to study this apparent Democratic landslide in Ohio. I do not know whether it is the wet and dry question or not."

SENATOR PAT HARRISON, Democrat, Mississippi—Without doubt in certain states the prohibition question played an important part, but taken as a whole, it was a nation-wide rebuke to the Hoover administration for the flagrant violation of campaign pledges.

MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY, of Boston: The American people have served notice upon the Republican machine at Washington that bread and beer are more potent than proclamations and promises.

LEWIS NEARING 700,000 LEAD

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Swept to victory on the tide of a Democratic landslide, James Hamilton Lewis, Liberal-Democrat, was elected to the United States Senate by a plurality which will reach 700,000, it was indicated today.

Col. Lewis was elected over Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, his Republican rival, by one of the most preponderant majorities ever given a national candidate in Illinois. The state gave him a majority even greater than it accorded President Hoover two years ago.

It was also the first time a Democrat ever was elected to the Senate by direct vote of the people of the state. Col. Lewis was elected to the Senate in 1913 by vote of the Legislature.

The Democratic sweep also gave the party five new seats in Congress, incomplete returns indicated. Results in 10 districts were still in doubt.

Returns from 5,392 of 7,109 precincts in the state gave Lewis 1,056,088, Mrs. McCormick 487,432 and Mrs. Lottie O'Neill 54,386. Mrs. McCormick is the daughter of the late Senator Mark Hanna, of Ohio.

Illinois, in a ballot referendum, voted by more than two to one in favor of repealing the national prohibition act and for modification of the Volstead law.

Despite the Democratic landslide, Congressman Oscar De Priest, the nation's only Negro congressman, led his Democratic opponent.

N. Y. LANDSLIDE FOR ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—In the most smashing Democratic landslide in New York State's history, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was swept back into office by a plurality of more than 700,000 in yesterday's election.

Mr. Roosevelt

With 130 of the state's 8,397 election districts still to be heard from, Roosevelt early today had a lead of 722,896 over his Republican opponent, Charles H. Tuttle. The vote stood: Roosevelt, 1,750,864; Tuttle, 1,027,968.

Gov. Roosevelt carried the entire state ticket to victory with him. Both Democrats and Republicans were amazed at the landslide.

Gov. Roosevelt carried the five counties comprising Greater New York by 565,868, the largest vote ever rolled up by Tammany Hall for any Democratic candidate.

Roosevelt's plurality was almost twice as large as the 385,000 given former Gov. Smith in 1922.

Democratic leaders insisted today that the sweeping victory means Gov. Roosevelt will have to be reckoned with as their party's presidential candidate two years hence.

Vandergrift Man Shot While Hunting

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Earl Gumbert, 35, of Vandergrift, was wounded while hunting rabbits, Adrian Hospital attendants reported his wounds were not serious. Gumbert was shot in the legs by companions.

Illinois Vote Gives Jury Right to Women

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—Late returns today indicated that Illinois has given women the right to sit on juries, following the example of 21 other states.

In Cook County, 2,445 precincts out of 3,470 showed 299,773 affirmative votes on the referendum with 188,737 opposed. It appeared that the Cook County plurality balanced the negative ballots downstate.

ATTACK BALKED BY TARDIEU

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—A preliminary skirmish which served as a preparation for the real battle to come, enlivened the opening session of Parliament.

Opponents of Premier Tardieu, as had been expected, went into action with criticism of the government's foreign policy, but they were thrown off their stride at the very outset by the premier's insistence that debate on the issue be started immediately.

Francois Bouisson, president of the Chamber of Deputies, was obliged to ask that the discussions be delayed until he could obtain certain necessary documents which he had not brought to the opening session.

Francois Albert, an opposition deputy, assumed the burden of the attack, a sally directed at the government's interior policy rather than towards its foreign minister, Briand, whose handling of German relations has caused bitter criticism.

MORROW WINS SENATE SEAT

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, has been elected United States Senator from New Jersey for both the short and long terms. It was indicated he would lead by 180,000.

Mr. Morrow.

Latest returns gave Morrow 546,388, Simpson 367,454, a lead of 178,934, which might mount to 190,000.

For the short term, Morrow polled 270,153 votes to 143,969 for Miss Thelma Parkinson, Democratic candidate.

Partial returns in the Congressional election indicated that Republicans had captured seven of New Jersey's 12 seats in the House, an increase of three.

PAINLEVE AIDS ZIONIST CAUSE

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Former Premier Paul Painleve appeared as a champion of Zionism at a mass meeting held to protest the recent British statement regarding the Palestine mandate. Painleve said:

"The promises of the Balfour declaration have not been kept, yet the Jews founded the center of civilization, the Zionists have heroically fulfilled their promises, and the Arabs have not the right to despoil them.

"Zionism must live and will live as conceived."

BRITONS GIVEN LLOYD GEORGE JOB PLAN

Liberal Leader Proposes Nationalization of Farms, Radical Aid to Industry

International News Service.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The carefully worked out plan of David Lloyd George, Britain's war time premier and Liberal leader, to aid England's rapidly increasing family of unemployed was placed before the British public today.

The plan, submitted in the form of a memorandum to the government of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, is milder in tone, but more far-reaching in its proposals than the measures suggested by Lloyd George during the last elections for unemployment relief.

FARM CONTROL

The two most spectacular features of the memorandum are proposals for government control of agriculture and immediate flotation of a $1,250,000,000 loan to be expended on public works to provide labor for the unemployed.

The plan calls for reduction of production costs to a level which will enable British goods to compete successfully in world markets. A slash of 10 per cent on the average, varying in different industries, is suggested as necessary for this purpose, and the memorandum urges the government to set an example to industry by cutting its own expenses by this amount, partly by "drastic revision of the dole."

STIMULATE INDUSTRY

Government stimulation of new enterprise and industry to absorb men thrown out of work by rationalization of older industries is proposed. Thirdly, the Liberal suggest revolutionary governmental encouragement of agriculture, stating 500,000 men could be employed by this means, while an additional 150,000 could be put to work reconditioning land and building equipment.

U. S. Papal Delegate To Become Cardinal

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Mgr. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, Apostolic delegate of the Roman Catholic Church to Washington, D. C., is expected to be created a Cardinal of the Church at a consistory to be held in December, it was said here today.

Husband Paid Killer Of Wife, Say Police

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Shortly after arresting Ben J. Brown, 27, Huntington Park glass worker, police said today he admitted Slaying Mrs. Merle Ellis, of Pasadena, last Sunday on an offer of $2,000 from her estranged husband, Emery, to kill her.

3 BYRD AIDES GET CROSSES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Three members of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition were honored today by the Navy Department.

Capt. Alton N. Parker, of Los Angeles, a Marine Corps officer, was awarded the distinguished flying cross by Secretary Adams for "extraordinary achievement as test pilot in a flight of the expedition which resulted in claiming new land for the United States."

The Navy cross was awarded Master Technical Sergeant Victor H. Cregha, of Malden, Mass., for "distinguished service" as a machinist for the expedition and Gunnery Sergeant Kennard F. Bubier, of Washington, for "distinguished service" as an aviator mechanic.

WELFARE FUND AIDES TO MEET

Opening rally of the volunteer workers in the employ division, Welfare Fund, will be staged tomorrow night in the Fort Pitt Hotel with 500 expected in attendance.

The division, under chairmanship of F. J. Chesterman, reports about 700 business establishments are organized for the campaign with owners and leaders giving fullest support.

The rally will be attended by district chairmen, colonels and majors, as well as captains of plant groups. The program includes music by the Boys' Club of Pittsburgh Band, one of the members of the Welfare Fund. The Rev. Dr. C. W. Petty, First Baptist Church, and Dr. L. B. Bernstein, executive director, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, will be the principle speakers. August K. Oliver, president, and Joseph Dilworth, general campaign chairman, will also figure in the program.

The division is divided into nine districts. Chairmen and vice chairmen are: District 1: A. E. Oxenreiter, chairman; colonels, H. W. Leonard, C. R. Freehafer, W. B. McQuiston, Frank P. Barry, W. E. Graham. District 2: George S. Ebbert, chairman, P. Tyler, vice chairman. District 3: Royal E. Cook, chairman; J. Clifford Franz, vice chairman. District 4: Allen S. Davison, chairman; Maurice Walsh, vice chairman. District 5: F. J. Kreis, chairman. District 6: Carl L. Pierce, Jr., chairman. District 7: Joseph T. Miller, chairman; W. D. Bowers, vice chairman. District 8: William Bradford, chairman; Wister L. Lynch, vice chairman.

Showless City Votes Approval of Movies

BROOKLINE, Mass., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Movie fans, who have been fighting for years to have motion pictures allowed in this town, finally triumphed yesterday and voted 8,219 to 6,884 in favor of permitting movies to be shown here. Brookline, with a population of 47,437, is the largest place in the United States without moving pictures.

Police Seek $52,000 Jewel Theft Gang

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Police today began a search for an expert "gang" of jewel thieves believed by investigators to have escaped with a bag containing $52,000 worth of jewels and clothing, the property of Mrs. Charles Leigh, Minneapolis society matron, who was in Boston visiting her daughter. The bag was stolen from a parked automobile.

Chinese Reds Again Fire on U. S. Gunboat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—The American gunboat Luzon, patrolling the Yangtze River in China, again has been fired upon by bandits, Frank Lockhart, American consul general at Hankow, reported to the State Department today.

$50,000 Fire Sweeps Building in Scranton

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Fire which broke out in a building housing several stores and an auditorium here early today wrought damage estimated at $50,000 before it was brought under control. Three alarms were sounded when flames threatened nearby structures.

Sahara Water Wells To Be Dug by French

PARIS.—(INS.)—There will soon be plenty of water in the Sahara if the French engineers can have their way. They are convinced there is a large layer of water lying beneath the sands. Maps will be made to show the exact location of the underground water before any wells are dug and iron pipe laid. An area of 2,700,000 square miles in size should be made fertile by the prospective irrigation.

Late Congressman's Office Won by Son

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Charles F. Curry, Jr., today had apparently established a safe lead in the fight for representative in the Third District. Late returns showed he was leading J. M. Inman by 6,100 votes.

Curry's father, former congressman from this district, died last month while still in office.

To WOMEN who want to stay YOUNG

Never Neglect Your "NERVES"

"NERVES" cause more lines and wrinkles in the face than age. Beauty and charm soon fade if you don't control your "NERVES." Nervousness affects the digestive organs often causing skin and complexion troubles. Then strive as you may with powders, creams and facials you soon begin to look old—long before your time.

Try This Delightful Way to Quiet Your "NERVES"

"Control your 'NERVES,'" say leading beauty experts, "if you want to keep the wrinkles out and preserve your beauty and youthful complexion." Whenever you feel nervous—just drop a Dr. Miles' Effervescent NERVINE Tablet into a glass of water . . . you'll like the pleasant, sparkling, harmless drink it makes . . . you'll be delighted the way it soothes and calms your overwrought "NERVES" and gives nature a chance to correct the trouble. You'll enjoy the renewed sense of poise and self-control it brings.

Mrs. H. Carter of Newark, New Jersey, writes—

"I cannot tell you in words how much Dr. Miles' Effervescent Tablets have done for me. I find them just as you say—effective, pleasant and convenient. They keep me feeling fine.

Today modern women are fast coming to realize that "NERVES" soon steal their youthful charm and attractiveness. No woman can long retain her youthful looks and pleasant disposition if she is subject to Nervous Headache, Nervous Irritability, and other frequent nervous troubles.

Dr. Miles' NERVINE is made in both Effervescent Tablets and Liquid form. For 50 years Dr. Miles' NERVINE (in liquid form) has brought grateful relief to thousands of nervous people. Now this same time-tested formula is also offered in handy Effervescent Tablets. In the tablets the NERVINE formula is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid—which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

CALVERT ILLNESS BEFORE BAR GROUP

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH
By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

Listeners to the Pitt-Notre Dame broadcast over the Columbia chain may have wondered why Ted Husing, the announcer, went out of his way to tell the audience that 13-year-old Jack Hernon was listening in from his bed in Aspinwall. This was why: Jack, who is a son of John Hernon, of Motor Square Garden, has been ill for some months, but he had expected to be able to see the game. When the doctor suggested that he remain in bed Jack was disappointed. But when he heard his name coming over the air he forgot his disappointment. It was real medicine.

"Bill the Barber" is Bill Heckman, of the South Side, a quiet, meek, partly bald gentleman whose remaining hairs are gray. Bill manages prize fighters, second and third-stringers. In the daytime he erases beards and clips wigs, but he enjoys himself more at night when he is in the corner of a preliminary fighter. If you're interested in boxing you can hear all about it by dropping into Bill's chair for a shave and admitting you're a fight fan.

Harry Washington, the Negro messenger for Mr. Lang's Department of Public Works, wishes to announce the birth of a baby boy in the Washington

The Rev. Robert Wilson, one of Pittsburgh's United Presbyterian missionaries to Abyssinia, where they crown kings in royal style, can offer you a fairly certain method of collecting the five or ten you loaned a friend. In Abyssinia, if a fellow doesn't pay you a debt you are legally entitled to handcuff him to yourself and keep him handcuffed until he comes across. To the handcuff manufacturers this should serve as an idea.

If you can't go to the football game you want to see, the next best thing is to hear it broadcast over KQV. One Paul Miller broadcasts the games, direct from the studio, but Mr. Miller is such a capable faker that you'd swear he was right in the middle of the play. The cheers of the crowd and the college songs are phonograph recordings. Mr. Miller does an excellent job.

What has become, speaking of things which have disappeared, of the invitations they sent to parties 10 and 20 years ago, which bore the polite request, "Please bring (pie) (cake) (candy)?" We asked the question, but we know the answer. Today it's "B. Y. O. L.," which means that you must bring your own liquor.

John J. Gerlach, Jr., has been operating buses in and near Pittsburgh since 1907. He owes his start to the late Henry C. Frick. One day Mr. Frick walked into the office of the Public Service Commissioner, addressed the young clerk, Hiram Hirsh, and asked that Mr. Gerlach be given permission to operate a bus line. Needless to say, permission was granted. Mr. Frick was interested because Mr. Gerlach was his chauffeur.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Well, this day after election, many a good man will find that he has been misplaced, because he failed to bring in enough government loot from Washington. Did you ever figure what constitutes our modern "representative"? The one that can bring home the new federal post office, even if they wasn't using the old one, federal aid for roads that nobody may ever drive on, and a government dam. That's the height of statesmanship, to come home with a dam, even if you got nowhere to put it. Just raid the national treasury enough and you will soon be referred to as a "statesman."

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

Hunt Goes on for Mystery Man Who Took Ballots And Lists by Trickery

Election-day squabbles in which women played a leading part, held the attention of Common Pleas Court yesterday, while police and detective kept watch over polls that for the most part were conducted in an unusually orderly manner.

County sleuths pressed their hunt for a "mystery man" who tricked judges of election boards into giving up ballots and registration lists, with no result other than to uncover a fourth fraud perpetrated on the judge of the Third District, First Ward. New ballots and lists were provided by the County Commissioners and none was deprived of a vote.

Mrs. Mary Arnold, 1322 Bellaire street, appeared early before Judge H. H. Rowand, who heard election disputes, with a complaint that she had been denied a place as minority inspector on the election board of the Fifth District, Thirty-second Ward, at 1225 Brookline boulevard.

WOMAN'S CLAIM UPSET

When the board was haled before the court, questioning developed that Mrs. Arnold, whose cause was championed by Mrs. Bonnie Quaill, Democratic candidate for the Legislature in the Twelfth Legislative District, had failed to show her election certificate in the confusion incidental to opening of the polls. The board

DISBARMENT CASE DELAY SOUGHT

Testimony on Attorney's Fitness to Attend Given At Hearing Before Board

The Board of Goverance of the Pennsylvania Bar Association was hearing medical testimony today to determine whether Attorney George H. Calvert is physically fit to appear before that body in defense of disbarment action instituted against him a year ago. Calvert had asked for a continuance on grounds of his alleged physical condition.

ESTATE CASE

Calvert and former Judge Henry G. Wasson were appointed a committee for the $3,000,000 estate of Mrs. Eleanor H. Davidson, who was adjudged incompetent several years ago, after the death of her husband, Frederick C. Davidson, former president of the Union Drawn Steel Company, of Beaver Falls. Wasson's disbarment was recommended by the Board of Governance. The case is still pending before the Supreme Court.

SUFFERED BREAKDOWN

The hearing was being held in the Bar Association rooms, City-County building. It had been delayed by Calvert's illness. He suffered a nervous breakdown after the filing of the disbarment action by Martha K. and Blanche Hibbert. The petition alleged gross mismanagement of the estate.

Attorneys W. Clyde Grubbs and William B. McFall, Jr., are representing the petitioners. Attorney W. W. Stoner is Calvert's counsel. The standing masters hearing the case are Attorneys Charles F. C. Arensberg, Thomas C. Hare, of Altoona, and Arthur W. Mitchell, of Erie. They also heard the Wasson case.

JUDGE'S SON FORFEITS $50

Failure of Attorney Max Schoonmaker, son of Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, of 3200 Fifth avenue, to appear in Traffic Court today for a hearing resulting from an auto collision July 31, caused his $50 bond to be forfeited. No warrant was ordered for his arrest.

Schoonmaker was called for hearing September 17 on a charge of reckless driving after his car had collided with a milk wagon driven by Joseph Helenbrecht, 40, of 2127 Salisbury street, on Manchester Bridge. The case was held over until insurance companies could make adjustments.

Helenbrecht said no insurance adjustment had been arranged.

Woman, 98, Casts Ballot; Never Misses Chance

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Perhaps the oldest voter in the state cast a ballot in Huntingdon when Miss Annie Simpson, 98, walked to the polls to mark a Republican ballot. She said:

"I've never missed a chance to vote since the women were given the franchise."

She was accompanied to the polls by a brother, J. Randolph Simpson, 90, who also voted a Republican ballot. He cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln when the martyr-president was seeking re-election to the presidency.

HITS FEDERAL WATERWAYS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—The propriety of the Federal government in financing facilities for the carrying of freight on the inland waterways in competition with the Federal-regulated railroads was questioned by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, in a speech before the Washington Board of Trade.

He cited the encroachment the boat lines and the motor bus and truck services have made upon the business of the railroads. During the 30 years prior to 1920 the volume of freight handled by all the roads increased from 60 to 80 per cent, but in 1929 the increase was merely 8 per cent with "scarcely no increase in the region north of the Potomac and east of the Mississippi."

During the 30 year period preceding 1920 the passenger business increased even more than the freight traffic but since 1920 this business has decreased more than 34 per cent, he said.

Willard said the government's entrance into the steamboat business should end with the improvement of waterways and let the task of financing boat service remain with private capital.

AUSTRIA SEIZES SOCIALIST GUNS

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—With the general elections only a few days off, great excitement prevailed in the ranks of Socialists as the government began a series of raids of Socialist headquarters, confiscating arms and ammunition.

The Socialists protested, claiming that 120,000 Fascists were permitted to retain their rifles, machine guns, field-pieces and great quantities of ammunition.

The government announced that forty machine guns, 500,000 cartridges and 4,000 rifles, revolvers, grenades and bandoleers had been seized.

The search of private Socialist dwellings also was started despite the protest of the Socialists who claimed the government was acting without legal search warrants.

The general elections of Sunday hav stirred intense interest since for the first time the Socialists are threatening to become the strongest party in the National Assembly by reason of a split in ranks of the other parties.

EX-PITTSBURGH COMPOSER DIES

Leo Oehmler, 65, noted composer and violinist, and a former Pittsburgher, is dead in his home in Pasadena, Cal., according to word received here. He was born in Pittsburgh, and was a graduate of the Western University of Pennsylvania, the Royal Conservatory of Music and the Schwarzburg-Sondershausen and Sterns Conservatory of Berlin. He studied with many famous teachers, and his compositions include 325 numbers for violin and piano.

At the age of 6 he played a violin and was hailed as a prodigy. He left Pittsburgh for Pasadena 20 years ago. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Katherine Heche Oehmler; three sisters, Mrs. E. J. Markland, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Clara Kaltwasser, of New York, and Mrs. F. G. Scheibler, of Pasadena, and one brother, Rudolph Oehmler, of Pittsburgh.

BROTHER SAVES BOY FROM FIRE

DENVER.—(INS.)—A 5-year-old Denver boy, to whom fire prevention training had apparently meant something, saved the life of his 3-year-old brother and probably prevented his home from complete destruction.

Richard Junkle, 5, was ill in bed. His mother had gone to the store and his father was at work. His little brother, Robert, was at play in the same room.

Robert evidently had some matches among his playthings. Fire was suddenly seen to break forth from his toy house. Richard leaped from his bed and carried his brother to safety.

BREAK GROUND FOR INSTITUTE

Ground was broken today for the Mellon Institute, Fifth and Bellefield avenues, with 100,000 cubic yards of earth to be excavated within the next 90 days.

Institute staff members, headed by Assistant Director H. S. Coleman, institute fellows and contracting officials witnessed the first steam shovel start excavation on the Bellefield avenue side. Among staff members were Dr. George D. Beal, Dr. L. W. Bass and Dr. W. A. Hamor.

According to J. B. Kelly, vice president of the Mellon-Stuart Company, the excavation will be the largest ever made in the city. Three shovels will be operated, according to D. Navarro.

TROLLEY CRASH INJURES 35

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Thirty-five persons were injured here when two street cars collided at Twelfth street and Susquehanna avenue.

Panic-stricken passengers fought to disentangle themselves from the wreckage, and women and children were trampled in the rush for the exits.

Police took charge of the situation and sent four ambulances to the scene for the removal of the injured to hospitals. A check up, they said, indicated that no one had been fatally hurt.

WANTS WIFE IN JAIL LONGER

When Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, today in Morals Court, fined Mrs. Mary Kosko, 49, of 73 Logan street, $5 or five days in jail, her husband, Charles, said:

"Judge, that isn't enough; she ought to have more time in jail."

They were arrested after a quarrel in their home yesterday, both charged with disorderly conduct.

Kosko said he gave his wife money to pay an electric bill, came home from work, found the family wash unfinished and his wife missing.

He said he found her in a speakeasy.

The wife said two men came to the house and asked her to go to the polls and vote. She said she went, and had several drinks.

Kosko was discharged.

Fill on Allegheny Bank Authorized

Authority was given yesterday by the war department for a bank fill to be made on the bank of the Allegheny river between Foxburg and Parker. This will permit the state department of highways to construct a highway along the left bank of the stream. The fill will be approximately 4,000 feet in length with a maximum width of approximately 40 feet.

Honduras Suffers Heavy Storm Loss

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Heavy storms descended on the Honduras north coast Sunda, and were still sweeping the country last night.

Many buildings and railroad bridges have been destroyed between San Pedro Sula and Puerto Cortes, with the railway line unable to operate.

The light plant in San Pedro was damaged and the city is in darkness.

Banana plantations around the river. Ulua and Chamelecon suffered greatly.

New York Adds 1,000 To Odd-Job Payroll

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The city today added 1,000 men to its cleanup and odd-job payroll, bringing the total to 2,900 on the emergency unemployment relief list. The task before the squad is to tidy vacant lots, playgrounds and parks.

Farewell Tribute Paid Father Hehir

Educators, priests, public officials and citizens joined to honor the Very Rev. Martin A. Hehir, retiring president of Duquesne University, at a testimonial banquet last night in the William Penn Hotel. Nearly 1,000 persons were present as tribute was paid to the local educator. Father Hehir, 75, has been president of Duquesne University 31 years.

The speakers were John E. Laughlin, vice dean of the law school of the university; President of City Council John S. Herron; Dr. S. S. Baker, president of Washington and Jefferson College; James Francis Burke; the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Catholic diocese; Mayor Charles H. Kline and Attorney F. W. Ries, Jr.

Judge Frank P. Patterson, of Common Pleas Court, was toastmaster. He was introduced by the Rev. J. F. Carroll, vice president of the university. Judge Patterson first called upon Mayor Kline. Attorney Ries presented Father Hehir with a purse in behalf of local friends, students and members of the faculty.

Increased Oil Trade Hope of Mexicans

MEXICO CITY.—(INS.)—Mexican oil producers anticipate a substantial increase in the demand for Mexican oil as a result of information received here to the effect Canada plans to establish heavy duties on American oil products as a reprisal for the Hawley-Smith tariff law.

Officials of oil companies here understand a preferential duty will be established on oil products from Mexico and other Latin-American countries.

Gunshot Wound Kills Unemployed Man

Gustave Gustafson, 56, of 5162 Carnegie avenue, died today in St. Margaret's Hospital from a gunshot wound in the head, said by the coroner to have been self-inflicted at his home on October 15. He was said to have been despondent because he was out of work.

Mellon Votes Early; Kline Charged With Coercion

A. W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, voted early in the Second District of the Fourteenth Ward, Irwin B. Laughlin, ambassador to Spain, was at the same polling place, but was informed that because of failure to register, he could not vote. He sought the registration board to find if he could cast a ballot.

Arthur M. Scully, county chairman of the Liberal Party, charged that Mayor Kline was using coercion in getting the vote out for Pinchot on the North Side. The Mayor also was said to be working personally in the Woods Run district, which includes the Twenty-seventh Ward, home of Sam. J. Grenet, who bolted to Hemphill.

Three thousand watchers' certificates were said to have been issued to the Republican, Democrat and Liberal parties. In the 1,087 county districts the division would be something over two in each district for the Republicans and something over five for the Democrats and Liberals combined. The Liberals supported only John M. Hemphill.

Indians, who were imported to lend atmosphere to North Park, had a yen to vote in McCandless Township. The board was informed by Judge Rowand that if they were registered and had paid taxes, they had the rights of any citizen. The original Americans returned to their wigwams without casting ballots.

'Robin Hood' Bandit Helps Jobless Man

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—A modern Robin Hood was at large in Chicago today. After taking $310 from the manager of a drug store he ordered Jack Franklin, a customer in the store, to give up his money, but when Franklin protested he was without money or a job. He said:

"Here, then get some coffee," and gave Franklin two bills from the roll of loot.

Philadelphia Rys. Get Big Tax Refund

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—A refund of $160,224 and a credit of $1,560,910 to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company of Philadelphia for over assessments of income and profits taxes for the years 1919 to 1921 was announced by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

VOTE MACHINES SPEED COUNT IN FIRST USE IN STATE

DEVICES SHOW HIGH GRADE OF EFFICIENCY

Heavy Scranton Balloting Handled in Record Time; Others Tabulate Rapidly

In counties where voting machines were used for the first time the election returns yesterday were in a few minutes after the polls closed. The machines worked successfully and although reserve machines and repairmen were on hand, no calls were made upon them.

In Lackawanna county machines were used in the 246 voting districts. The voting was exceptionally heavy in Scranton. Straight ticket voting by giving the one-lever pull necessary to register the voters' choice, moved the voters in and out of the polls with unprecedented dispatch.

50 VOTES AN HOUR

In Fayette county, Uniontown and Connellsville registered an average of more than 50 votes an hour for the 12 hours that the polls were open. Two machines installed in the second ward of Uniontown handled more than 1,000 registration without trouble.

In Somerset county, Meyersdale borough, through the use of the voting machines, was able to announce the total result of the election tabulated on three machines 10 minutes after the polls closed.

First returns from Cumberland county were tabulated and announced 10 minutes after the polls closed at Enola and New Cumberland, where five machines were in operation.

COURTS BLOCK USE

The machines used were furnished by the Automatic Voting Machine Company, of Jamestown, N. Y.

Although machines were delivered in Philadelphia and in Lancaster county, they lay idle in warehouses. Court action prevented their use.

Five districts in Lackawanna county where voting machines were used, reported complete returns a few minutes after the polls closed.

Voters of Lawrence county voted 60 to 1 in favor of installation of voting machines. Blair county voters rejected use of the machines. Lackawanna county, which is completely equipped with machines, was the first county to report its figures complete for governor. It gave Pinchot a 4,400 plurality.

Vote Machine Projects Win In 4 Boroughs

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—On the question of adoption of voting machines, four boroughs today had voted in favor of their use and two had disapproved them.

Lemoyne and Camp Hill, in Cumberland County, voted to adopt machines and Mechanicsburg in the same county voted against them.

Danville, in Montour County, voted five to one in favor of the machines.

On other questions, Pottstown approved a $500,000 bond loan for a sewage plant by a vote of 2,700 to 1,900, as did Norristown, while Royersford defeated a loan for a similar purpose.

A proposal to adopt the use of voting machines was defeated in Blair County by approximately 3,000. Lawrence County voters approved their use by a 6-to-1 vote.

TRAFFIC CODE PARLEY SET

Parking problems and the proposed traffic code for Pittsburgh will be considered by the Better Traffic Committee at a meeting at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the council committee room.

Frank L. Duggan, general chairman, announces that the plans of the committee for the relief of the parking situation in the downtown business district are rapidly taking shape. Results from questionnaires sent to merchants and other interested groups are to be made public shortly.

CORNELL HEAD TO SPEAK HERE

Four college heads will meet in Pittsburgh tomorrow, when the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania attends a special luncheon to hear Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University, speak on developments at the university in the past year.

Dr. S. S. Baker, president of Washington and Jefferson College, Dr. Edward S. Baker, president of Carnegie Tech, and Dr. John H. Bowman, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, will be special guests of the club.

Dr. Farrand is expected to talk on latest developments in the $10,000,000 building program now nearing completion in Ithaca, New York, and of Cornell's projected Fine Arts college.

Camera Question Box

Today's question: Mr. M. E. Tracy says, "People must do things for themselves not only to appreciate the value of those things, but to get real pleasure out of them." What do you Think?

MISS HELEN GANZ, North Side, Stock Girl—I believe that people must do things for themselves to get a real appreciation of them. There is a certain satisfaction comes to one who has made some article for himself that he would never receive otherwise.

Miss Ganz

MISS MARY LAUGHLIN, North Side, Stock Girl—Yes, I think this is true. Things that we make for ourselves take on a certain value to us that one we would buy will never have. This is true even in the case of wearing apparel.

Miss Laughlin

MISS EVELYN M'CORMICK, Brushton, Bookkeeper—I believe a person must do things for himself in order to have full appreciation of them. Pleasure from this work is the reward of the labor.

Miss McCormick

FRANK HERP, North Side, Student—Every man is by nature creative and has a genuine pride in the creations he accomplishes. I think Mr. Tracy is correct, for any form of work is a pleasure if the person is interested in it.

Mr. Herp

MISS DAGMAR NELSON, Mt. Washington, Bookkeeper—People must do things themselves if they want to appreciate the value of them or want to get real pleasure from them. They value their own work and time spent on it.

Miss Nelson

EDDIE LAWRENCE, North Side, Student, St. Boniface—I believe that an individual realizes the value of an article that he has given his time and skill to make. The thought of accomplishing a thing is a pleasure in itself.

Mr. Lawrence

DREW LEFT BAR TO GO TO WAR

Judge James B. Drew, of 625 Morewood avenue, has had much legal experience in Allegheny County—a fact that counted heavily in his favor when he was chosen as Republican candidate for Superior Court. He is a native Pittsburgher, born here April 27, 1877.

He was educated at preparatory schools and at Columbia University, which bestowed on him the degrees of A. B., A. M., and L. L. B.

After practicing a short time at the Allegheny County bar he was named assistant city solicitor by Mayor George W. Guthrie in 1906, and was reappointd to that office by Mayor W. A. Magee.

In 1911 Judge Drew was elected to the County Court bench. In 1918 he entered the World War and served as a captain until the close. He was elected for a 10-year term on the Common Pleas bench, beginning January 1, 1920.

SEVEN INJURED IN FIVE AUTO ACCIDENTS

One Girl Among Victims; Machine Hits Street Car In East End Smashup

Seven persons, one a girl, were injured as a result of automobile accidents last night and today.

Harry Berry, 31, of 1660 Broadhead street, a substitute fireman attached to No. 8 Engine Company, suffered concussion of the brain, and Miss Jean Kessler, 18, of 5900 Margaretta street, a fractured leg, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a pole in the 2500 block of Center avenue early today.

Police of the Center Avenue Station refused to comment on a report that there were other passengers in the car. At Passavant Hospital it was said Berry was in serious condition.

AUTO HITS TROLLEY

Wallace Balsley, 22, of 309 West street, Wilkinsburg, suffered brain concussion and lacerations when an automobile which he was driving crashed into a street car and a machine at Penn and Murtland avenues, police reported. Balsley's machine rebounded against an automobile driven by James H. Bricker, of 809 Walnut street, Wilkinsburg, after colliding with the street car. Balsley is in Columbia Hospital. He said the accident occurred when his machine skidded in the car rails, according to police.

When a truck which he was driving skidded off the Sawmill Run boulevard, William Knoll, 19, of 2328 Lucina street, Overbrook, suffered internal injuries and was taken to Mercy Hospital by a motorist.

BOY, 3, INJURED

Breaking from his 5-year-old sister, Thomas Stinger, 3, of 507 Carson street, ran across the street near his home and was struck by an automobile driven, police said, by William S. Walker, of 118 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. He was taken to the South Side Hospital. Walker was arrested.

Two persons were injured this morning when a truck, driven by Constantine Cologie, 25, of 103 Herron avenue, collided with a Lincoln avenue street car at South Euclid avenue and Baum boulevard.

Those injured were Morris Fleshman, 35, of 825 North Sheridan avenue, and Harry Cipelle, of Apple avenue. Both were passengers on the street car. Fleshman was knocked from his seat, receiving injuries on the left knee and bruises about the body.

ELWYN DENIED ANNEX BALLOTS

Residents of the Elwyn District of Baldwin Township were wondering today "how come" county officials "forgot" to provide the special ballots authorizing them to vote on annexation to Pittsburgh. As a result of this oversight Elwyn will continue to be a part of the township, pending legal action which may result in a special election.

John J. McGrath, attorney for the petitioners, who presented the petition of more than five per cent of the qualified voters to the court of quarter sessions in April, said:

"Someone overlooked the printing of the ballots, and I am sure I do not know who is responsible. I intend to go into court and ask for a special election to be set. The procedure will take about 30 days, and if annexation is passed at the special election, that section will become a part of the city by January 1, 1931."

POLICE REVIVING MAN, 72, GASSED

POLICE, MINE SAFETY WORKERS REVIVING WILLIAM ONIONS, 72, OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES

Police from Oakland Station working over Mr. Onions at the end of two hours in which they revived, removed him from his home, 3138 Boehm street, to Homeopathic Hospital, where he is in serious condition. He was a carbon monoxide victim, a nephew found him.

GAS KILLS MAN; 1 NEAR DEATH

One man was dead today and another in a serious condition in the Homeopathic Hospital from carbon monoxide fumes. They were found in their homes last night.

Thomas Mullen, 65, of 1418 Epiphany street, was found dead in bed by his daughter, Helen Mullen, of 3642 Vernon street, according to the coroner's report. A flueless gas stove was burning with the door and windows of the room closed. The body was taken to the morgue, where a test of the victim's blood disclosed carbon monoxide poisoning as the cause of death.

Attaches of the Mine Safety Appliances Company and police from the Oakland Station revived William Onions, 72, of 3138 Bohem street, after working on the victim with an inhalator for two hours. The aged man was found in bed by a nephew who, receiving no response when he knocked on the door, forced his way in. The victim was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital where his condition was regarded as serious.

Spanish Gold Sent To Bank of England

VIGO, Spain, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—One million pounds sterling in gold arrived here from Madrid for shipment to the Bank of England in connection with the government's effort to stabilize the peseta abroad. The gold was heavily guarded as it went aboard the steamer Asturias.

Miner Fatally Hurt In Slide at Library

Caught in a fall of coal while working in Montour No. 10 mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Library last night, John H. Hyslop, 32, of New Eagle, received a crushed back and internal injuries which resulted in his death today.

Woman Pleads Self Defense in Killing

Nora Blank, 30, Negro, of 621 Duff street, was placed on trial today on a charge of murder for killing Madison Mitchell, Negro, 43, a roomer at the Duff street address.

She pleaded not guilty on the ground of self-defense, saying Mitchell had hit her with a bottle before she shot him on July 17, 1929.

had chosen James McTighe, a Democrat, to take Mrs. Arnold's place. Judge Rowand concluded not to disturb McTighe, as no objection was made to his fitness.

Mrs. Edna Toole, who had been named by Mrs. Arnold as minority clerk, was sworn in, but ousted 15 minutes later, the court was informed. Mrs. Mary Buckley was appointed clerk by McTighe. Her complaint also was dismissed and Mrs. Buckley allowed to continue.

Mrs. Florence G. Nally, Republican vice chairman of the Twenty-fifth District, Nineteenth Ward, of which Attorney Blakeley was judge, had not been sworn in. The court, by telephone, was informed by board members that they had duly taken the oath as required. Mrs. Nally's plaint also was dismissed.

JUDGE FAILS TO APPEAR

When the polls were opened in the Third District, First Ward, Forbes School, Forbes and Stevenson streets, John Pugliez, judge of election, as well as all ballots and the list of registered voters were missing. John Barry, 1315 Seitz street, was chosen judge at a "curb-stone election."

County detectives learned that Pugliez, a trolley motorman, of 1353 Vickroy street, had been duped into turning over the ballots and books, given into his custody, to a stranger Sunday, who said other members of the board desired to examine the records.

Pugliez explained his absence from the polls by saying he did not wish to serve and went to work on his customary street car run, instead. He was questioned by Chief George W. Murren, of the county detectives, but could throw no light on the identity of the man to whom he had given the supplies.

SUSPECT FREED

Constable John Schneider, of the First Ward, arrested a suspect, but he was dismissed after no one could identify him. Judges of election in the First District, First Ward; Fourth and Thirteenth districts, Fourth Ward, had previously been victimized by men who obtained the ballots on pretense that there had been a mistake which the county commissioners wished to rectify.

Newly printed ballots and certified lists of registered voters were sent to these districts by the commissioners.

The Liberal party has engaged Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, who took an active part in the assessment litigation, to prosecute any frauds against John M. Hemphill, in Allegheny County, it developed yesterday. Eaton was in conference with a number of men interested in the Liberal party and announced he had already begun a preliminary investigation.

Attorneys Eaton and Fleming Nevin protested to Judge A. B. Reid that the Liberal party had been given no representation on the Returning Board scheduled to begin official count of the ballots Thursday. The board, it was said, will consist of three Democrats and the remainder Republicans. Judge Reid dismissed the protest with the statement that no request for representation by the Liberal party had been made until yesterday, after the list had been made up and placed in the hands of the prothonotary.

WAR ANT FOR OFFICER

Charges that he was forcibly ejected from the polling place of the Fifteenth District of the Fourth Ward, 52 Bates street, were made late yesterday by Anthony McGinley, who said he was sworn in as an inspector of elections after he had been taken to the place by Coleman Coyne, brother of Senator James J. Coyne.

Judge Harry H. Rowand, before the complaint was made, issued a warrant for the arrest of John P Kennedy, of Wakefield street, a plainclothesman attached to the Oakland Police Station. McGinley charged that he was struck by the policeman, who tore his shirt in forcing him out of the place.

Kennedy told the court he was summoned by a city fireman who told him McGinley was intoxicated and disorderly. He did not say why he failed to arrest the man. Judge Rowand continued the case until 2 p. m. today.

Old-Time Boys Made Share Of Mischief

MILFORD, Conn.—(INS.)—Boys were full of mischief 260 years ago. Records have been uncovered here showing that in 1671 10 boys were arrested and fined 10 pounds apiece for burning an Indian fort that stood on the banks of the Housatonic River where the village of Devon now has existence.

Robert Treat, founder of Milford, and later the founder also of Newark, N. J., was the judge. The Wepawaug tribe of Indians made complaint, and Judge Treat acted promptly. That at least was an example of fairness to the Indians, who dwelt in harmony with the whites in Milford.

JOE JR., ROONEY THE 'BABIES'

The title of "baby member" of the State Senate and House of Representatives each falls to Allegheny County with the election of Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., from the Thirty-eighth Senatorial district, and James Rooney from the Seventh Legislative district.

When Senator Armstrong, at the age 27, and Assemblyman Rooney, at the age of 24, take their seats among their wise and experienced elders at Harrisburg in January, they become part of a "backfield" unlike the Pitt quartet which Rooney graced.

Both take their new honors modestly—and seriously.

The son of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong knows the handicaps as well as the advantages of a name.

Armstrong, who succeeds Senator Max G. Leslie, lives at 2651 Pioneer avenue, is married and the father of a boy and girl. Rooney is unmarried and lives on East Robinson street, North Side. He achieved fame on the gridiron at Pitt, particularly as a punter, being graduated last year.

Candidate Killed On Rail Crossing

HICKORY, N. C., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—P. A. Guthrie, 47, Democratic candidate for justice of the peace here, was killed when a westbound Southern passenger train struck his automobile at a crossing here.

Guthrie had been carrying voters to the polls, but was alone when the accident occurred.

VOTING RHYME LULLS BABIES

"Bye baby voter, mama's gone a-voting.
She'll bring a nice big ballot in
To wrap her baby voter in."

Mother Goose rhymes have changed to fit the times and members of the Dormont--Mt. Lebanon League of Women Voters brought this modern version to entertain the children while mothers went to the polls yesterday.

League members without children or those whose children were big enough to care for themselves made it a point to assist mothers with younger offsprings who couldn't be left alone. They supplied automobile transportation and temporary nursemaids in the person of these league members who went into homes upon call while the busy mother went to the polls.

It was an innovation in the neighborly spirit which has prevailed in these two South Hills boroughs for several years during which men and women both have tendered the service of their automobiles in "getting out the vote."

Widow Receives Half Of $50,000 Estate

Half of his $50,000 estate was left to his wife, Sarah J. Love, with the stipulation she receive the income from it as long as she lives, by John C. S. Love, formerly of Edgewood. The balance was bequeathed a brother, Lynn Love, and a nephew, John C. S. Love.

Borah to Accept Increase in Senate Pay

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Senator William E. Borah will accept his $10,000 salary as senator when he begins his next term in office March 4.

He made this statement in reply to a direct question, only after he was assured that his election was a certainty by a plurality of probably three to one.

The senator declined during his present term to accept an increase in salary from $7,500 to $10,000 voted by congress on the grounds he was elected by his constituents to a job paying the lesser sum. He said:

"I do not feel that I could accept an increase in good faith without giving them an opportunity to express themselves."

GIRL REPORTED LOST, SAFE

Reported to police as missing from her home, Miss Myrtle Howard, 22, formerly of West Brownsville, today communicated with her mother, Mrs. Anna Howard, of 912 Federal street, to announce she was safe.

Fear had been felt for Miss Howard following threats made against her after giving testimony in an arson trial at Uniontown recently. The mother said the girl had been stopping with friends since disappearing Monday.

RIVER AIR LINE TIME CHANGED

A change in schedule in the operation of the new Pittsburgh-Cincinanti air line to facilitate connections here with east and west bound coast-to-coast planes was announced today by Main Aeronautics, Inc., operators of the new Ohio River service.

Planes leave Bettis for Cincinnati daily, according to the new schedule, at 12:10, picking up passengers from New York on the west-bound Transcontinental and Western Air ship arriving at 11:51. Leaving Cincinnati at 10:30 a. m. daily, the new schedule allows a 45-minute margin for connection on the east-bound transcontinental run, arriving here at 2:05. The New York ship leaves Bettis at 2:52 p. m.

Officials of the new Cincinnati line revealed today the possibility of replacing their present plane equipment with amphibians by next spring, adapted particularly to Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and other down-river points, by reason of the natural facilities afforded for direct passenger service between business centers.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Drake Makes Bow At Tea

Today is a day that many young girls will remember for many a day, and one girl always. For today ushers in the debutante season of 1930, and the first bud of the season is making her bow this afternoon. On Friday there'll be another debut, and throughout the month and next month many more, until 32 young girls have curtsied to society.

The first debutante to be presented this season is tall, slender, blonde Virginia Drake, whose mother, Mrs. J. Frank Drake, is presenting her at a tea this afternoon in the family home, Pembroke place.

A profusion of the bud's gift bouquets displayed against masses of palms and cibotium ferns forms the background for the debutante, who is receiving with her mother. The bud is wearing a graceful gown of jade green velvet, fashioned on princess lines, with long, tight-fitting sleeves, and is carrying different gift bouquets during the afternoon.

The debutante has as her aides Parthenia Ross, of Morristown, N. J.; Lydia Irish and Laura Evans, buds of the last winter; Madelaine Alexander, Betty McKay and Frances Kier, sister buds. Frances will make her debut on Friday afternoon at a tea her mother, Mrs. Frank J. Kier, will give in the Kier home, Beechwood boulevard.

Many Aid Hostesses

Mrs. Drake has asked Mrs. W. S. Moorhead, Mrs. John W. Lawrence, Mrs. Howard Heinz, Mrs. R. S. Richards, Mrs. W. P. Trainer, Mrs. Walter C. Carroll, Mrs. Frederic Ickes Merrick, Mrs. Julian Burdick, Mrs. A. Rex Flinn, Mrs. Franklin C. Irish and Mrs. Samuel A. McClung to be her aides.

Today Mrs. Daniel M. Clemson gave a luncheon in her home, "Highmont," Fifth avenue, in honor of Mrs. Richard Ernst Clemson, a bride of June.

Covers were laid for 300 at the luncheon tables, decorated with chrysanthemums. Similar flowers in all shades and cibotium ferns decorated the home. Mrs. Clemson wore a gown of black velvet and ecru lace, made in the princess mode, and the guest of honor chose a black crepe gown with turquoise blue beads outlining the neckline and the wrists.

Aiding the hostess were Mrs. E. V. Babcock, Mrs. A. P. Burchfield, Mrs. Samuel Harden Church, Mrs. Lindsay Christie, Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, Mrs. James S. Hammond, Mrs. Norwood Johnston, Mrs. John B. Luckie, Mrs. H. H. McClintic, Mrs. B. K. McMechen, Mrs. W. W. Smith and Mrs. B. R. B. Townsend.

Some time ago I enumerated some of the committee chairmen for the annual Cinderella ball, to be held November 28 in the University Club. Today I know a few more, and I'll list the entire committee.

Cinderella Ball Aides

First of all, the chairman is Marjorie Kimball, and the vice chairman is Miss Marjorie Gethoefer. Mrs. B. R. Shriver is chairman of tickets; Mrs. Stanley N. Brown is treasurer; Mrs. J. Shirley Austin is chairman of boxes; Mrs. Charles S. Wunder, of publicity; Frances Forsyth and Sylvia Robertson, two buds of the past winter, of cigarets; Mrs. Frederick Gwinner, III, and Mrs. John J. Bissell, entertainment, and Ellen McClay is secretary.

* * *

Now I'm back on the fascinating topic of the buds of the season. One date for the Thanksgiving season has been cancelled because of illness. The tea Miss Emily K. Lippincott, of Sewickley, was to give on November 26 to present her debutante nieces, Adele and Mariana Lippincott, has been postponed.

News of 1930 Buds

The buds, who are students at the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts, will be home on November 22 for the Thanksgiving holidays.

La Salle Dorrance and her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Harold J. Dorrance, of South Negley avenue, are home from a week-end in Annapolis, Md., where they attended several social affairs at the United States Naval Academy. Among the events was a dinner given for Harriet and Neil Stewart Zang, daughter of the William Zangs.

Yesterday at the Allegheny Country Club Mrs. Maitland Alexander and her debutante daughter, Madelaine, were hostesses at a large luncheon in honor of four former classmates of Madelaine at Farmington, who were here to attend the Stone-Mellon wedding. They included Barbara and Gertrude Vander Poel, of New York, who are house guests of Laura Evans, of Beechwood boulevard, and Rose Grosvenor Davis and Kathleen Curtis, of New York, who are guests of the Stephen Stones. After the luncheon Mary Franklin Robinson, a bud of the past winter, entertained the guests at New Place, on the Robinsons' Sewickley Heights estate, at a tea. Her mother, Mrs. William Christopher Robinson, assisted her as hostess.

Mrs. Jean Isles Mort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Isles, of McClure avenue, Swissvale, and George Mc Mattes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mattes, of Homestead Park, were married this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the parsonage of the First Presbyterian Church, Swissvale, by the Rev. W. O. Yates.

Weds In Parsonage

The bride wore sapphire blue transparent velvet with a hat to match and a corsage of orchids.

Her only attendant, Mrs. Martin C. Coyne, Jr., of Swissvale, wore delft blue transparent velvet with a hat to match, and had a corsage of orchids. William Mattes was his brother's best man. At the reception which followed, in the home of the bride's parents, chrysanthemums in autumn shades decorated the home with white chrysanthemums centering the bride's table. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Mattes will be at home in Harrison avenue, Swissvale.

MISS VIRGINIA DRAKE

Miss Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Franke Drake, Pembroke place, who is making her debut to society at a tea her mother is giving in the family home this afternoon.

Past President of Woman's Club Tells Members How To Live to Be 90

Mrs. Sarah Archer, 90-year-young member of the Woman's Club of Pittsburgh, celebrated her birthday yesterday as honor guest at the club's regular meeting in the Congress of Clubs and gave her recipe for a happy old age. Love of home and children, thinking for oneself, self-control and self-reformation, kindly thoughts, freedom from jealousy, never ceasing to learn, diet and care as to her manner of life were all named as factors in the remarkable paper which Mrs. Archer read.

Mrs. Harry G. Eakins reminisced a bit about the honor guest's club life—she, like Mrs. Archer, is a past president of the Woman's Club. Miss Miriam Schonfeld also spoke in eulogy of Mrs. Archer and Mrs. J. Charles Wilson read several poems selected with that unerring sense of the appropriate which this charming woman always displays.

Mrs. George H. Herwig sat at the piano and played one after another of the old, old songs, the club members singing them, and pretty little Mary Graham, in a dainty hoopskirted costume, sang other old numbers.

And of course there were flowers and gifts galore for Mrs. Archer.

At the musicale to be given Sunday afternoon by Pittsburgh Unit of Junior Hadassah, the program will include soprano solos by Suzanne Seiger, accompanied by Matthew Frey; violin solos by Mark Meyer, one of the Tuesday Musical Club scholarship winners; and a sleight of hand performance by Cy Marcus.

Hadassah Musicale

Chief interest of the unit, however, is centering around the benefit party which will be held at the Alvin Tuesday night to see Elmer Rice's "Street Scene." Among the many projects which the unit supports in Palestine and to which the proceeds of the benefit will go is the care of orphan children. Miss Myrtle Marcus, president of the unit; Miss Alyce Berman, chairman of finance, and Miss Jewelle Miller, general chairman for the benefit, are among the most active in its interests. The ticket committee includes Faye Miller, Lillian Shapira, Esther Parker, Pearl Weissman, Lucille Hecht, Bella Stolzenberg, Esther Rogow, Sally Harris, Esther Pachtman, Ethel Selekmann, Edna Bennett, Yvette Boiner and Ida Pancer.

Events at the College Club's weekly meetings this month will begin Friday afternoon with a talk on "The Jury System" by District Attorney Andrew Park. Next week Mrs. Harvey Gaul will tell the members of her summer in Palestine, and this will be followed on the twenty-first by an address on "Angkor, the Mysterious," by Ross Skinner. A musicale on the last Friday of the month will bring the activities to a close.

November Schedule

The annual ingathering and exhibition of the Pittsburgh Branch of the Needlework Guild of America will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in Calvary Parish House, Shady avenue and Walnut street.

To Gather Garments

Last year distribution was made through 52 institutions and hospitals of the city, and as more are continually seeking help from the guild a large increase is asked for this year. To become a member it is only necessary to contribute two new articles of household linen or wearing apparel, including stockings and underwear for which there is great demand.

Mrs. Anna McQuiston Collins, president, has appointed the following committees: For Tuesday, Mrs. A. E. Smyser, Mrs. D. H. Thompson, Mrs. H. B. Patterson, Mrs. T. G. Craighead, Mrs. J. H. Palmer, Mrs. C. A. Tesson, Miss Grace Espy, Mrs. A. D. Miller, Mrs. Sarah Coleman and Mrs. Grace Williams; Wednesday, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mrs. V. H. McClure, Mrs. John Lusk, Mrs. George Marshall, Miss Eleanor W. Stewart, Miss Asenath Cavitt, Mrs. George Bushfield, Mrs. W. S. Foster, Miss Marjorie Maxwell and Miss Jane Kerr.

The Divine Providence Alumnae Association will hold its annual fall card party Saturday, November 15, at the Keystone Athletic Association. Bridge, "500" and euchre will be played. Miss Bertha Tretow, president of the association, has selected the following committee: Mrs. J. P. Werneth, Mrs. Gerald Ley, Marie Enz, Mary Lippert, Cleo Angel, Frances Smetana, Mrs. S. J. Heimbuecher, Bernadette Horrell, Catherine Staab, with Miss Margaret Reilly as publicity chairman.

ASTRAKAN WARMLY APPROVED FOR THE WINTER WARDROBE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 5—Astrakan is just about curled up in our affections for we seem to utilize it for everything. No suit or coat seems to feel itself worthy of greeting the world without a generous amount of that fur somewhere about. It is the fur par excellence for daytime wear for both sports and more formal clothes. More and more we are using the flat, curled pelts for all but the most formal of formal day coats and suits. The fluffy long-haired furs seem to be more at home on frocks that essay the lavish note.

WE ARE certainly hearing quite a lot about the ensemble these days. Of course, it is not the ensemble that we have become so accustomed to, but it is a more subtle affair that is infinitely more becoming to most of us, with its color tie-ups and jaunty jackets that insist on establishing relationship with a frock that, at first sight, does not seem anxious to acknowledge it.

* * *

THE ENSEMBLE sketched is one of the smartest models in the new Vionnet collection. It consists of a beige woolen crepe dress smartly tailored and a short jacket in dark brown cotton velvet. The dress has a scarf collar in brown astrakan with one wide rever in front and a brown leather belt. There is a loose-setting pocket at the left just below the waistline. The jacket is collarless and is slipped on beneath the astrakan collar of the dress giving the effect of a fur-collared jacket. The sleeves are trimmed with deep shirred cuffs of astrakan reaching from wrist to elbow.

THE RITZ is as ever a sartorial stamping ground and one sees just what is what in the world of modes. And suits of simulated fur are very much in that category. The suit show was sketched at the Ritz and is of broadtail plush with a short belted and bloused jacket worn over a white satin blouse. The collar is almost non-existant as it consists merely of a narrow band tying at one side with a bow-knot. The paplum-like lower part of the jacket is bordered with a band of silver fox. A slight circular movement at one side of the skirt is obtained by the insertion of narrow long godets.

Annie Learns That Goldie Caused Kid's Death

CHAPTER XXIV.

Polack Annie, wide awake, lay in the fantastically huge bed and stared hard-eyed through the open leaded window at a branch that swept by, the leaves crimson and russet in the bright autumn morning sun.

A burst of violent whistling cut through the bathroom door, and the two hard, vertical lines between her eyebrows deepened. She wished Goldie wouldn't whistle, or—if he had to whistle, that he would try to keep on the key. And that he'd whistle something other than the Maine Stein Song.

It was harder to take than she had thought it would be. The Edgewater Kid had changed everything for her. Now she knew she would live always in misery. At least she had paid off Kinky King with six bullets, and Goldie Gorio——

The bathroom door opened and Goldie sauntered out, still whistling. He was grinning merrily, his face a Santa Claus effect with thick white shaving cream. His black, oily hair was wet, curled and rumpled. The gold buckles on his suspenders gleamed. His gorilla-like arms were covered with thick, curling hairs and a black thatch peered forth at his chest.

"Well, Annie, Babes, how you feel this beautiful morning, eh?" he grinned, waving his solid gold handled razor in a typical Latin gesture, and falling into Latin mannerisms of speech, as he often did when he felt jubilant.

She forced a synthetic smile.

He came toward her, doing a grotesque dance step out of sheer good spirits, and patted her heavily with his free hand. It was still dripping wet.

She shuddered.

"You feel better after you rest," he rumbled reassuringly. "How you like your Goldie, oke? You rest awhile and I go an' bring you some breakfast. I'm going to treat you right, Annie, you can bank on that, Babes. You're mine now, an' ev'ything what's mine is covered with gold."

Annie Frightened

He gave her a final pat, commenced whistling and swaggered back into the bathroom, rubbing the lather into his whiskers, closing the door behind him.

Annie stared again at the blood-red leaves in the sun.

A bird was singing. Was it a robin? She couldn't tell a robin from a hawk. She wished Goldie would stop whistling so she could hear the robin. Why did she feel so strangely, bitterly hostile toward Goldie?

"After all," Annie mused, "I'm no angel. I been through plenty tougher than this. I could be a lot worser off. It's a swell layout. He seems to of fell for me hard, and he's a Big Shot."

But she could not drive off the gooseflesh. Some hidden feeling, some strange, unanalyzed urge, kept whispering to her insistently that she must hate and distrust Goldie.

She glanced around the luxurious room, its Bourbon splendor marred only by a few scattered possessions of Goldie. His tan brogues where he had kicked them off, a shirt tossed into a corner, his vest and coat hung over the back of the little chair before her dressing table, with the two lengendary golden automatics which Goldie carried, in their holsters, lying on the seat of the chair.

She tried to relax. Goldie whistled on endlessly. The bird had stopped singing and was chattering as though scolding.

She stared at the window, but snapped out of her inertia into sudden, frozen terror when a hand—a dirty hand splotched with dry blood that showed nearly black in the bright sunlight—reached over the edge of the window sill and clung to it.

Monk Still Alive

Annie stifled her scream. In a second she gauged her possibilities of rushing to the bathroom or leaping across the chamber to Goldie's glittering pistols.

In that split second she decided her best chance of warning Goldie would be to engage the intruder in conversation. If she screamed, Goldie would rush out unarmed to face bullets. If he heard her talking, he would stand still in surprise for a moment, and in that moment would realize danger threatened. She waited, taut.

Tousled, blood-clotted hair followed the hand. And then a face—the most awful face she had even seen. One cheek was torn and covered with thick, plastered gore. The eyes were protruding fireballs. The rest of the face and the clothes as they appeared above the sill were blood-streaked and clotted.

"Monk!"

She had tried to say it in a loud voice; to say more; to ask him why he looked that way and why he had entered the house by a rose trellis. But her throat was paralyzed and the word was a parched whisper. Her eyes, too, protruded.

Monk stared grimly, terribly at her, as he painfully swung a leg over the sill. Goldie was still whistling in the bathroom.

Monk, swaying on his feet in the room, signalled silence with a finger on his lips.

Something in his terrifying, devilish look at the closed bathroom door made her obey him. She walked slowly across the room toward him, still and staring.

Monk's left hand, also covered with blood, hung limp. He fumbled in a pocket with his right hand, and slowly drew out a revolver. He was swaying so that it seemed he would collapse any moment.

"They punched my ticket," Monk whispered, his voice hissing and crackling like waxed paper, "and I'm just about to my station, but I'm gonna take one bad Guinea along."

He jerked his revolver in the direction of the whistling.

Annie felt she had to spar for time. Now that the moment had come, she was willing to sacrifice herself, if need be, for Goldie, because Goldie was the Edgewater Kid's God, and the memory of the Kid was hers.

"He put us all on the spot—all of us—all gone—wiped out—all but me."

Accuses Goldie

Annie stared, wide-eyed. The man couldn't be joking. Delirious! That was it.

"He sent us there 'an he stayed here. Gleason an' the cops clipped us. I wouldn't rat. I wouldn't tell 'em where he was. I wouldn' let that mob knock him off. I'll do that meself—that's what I prayed for—I prayed to be spared for that—for this—"

Annie heard, dumbfounded.

"Oh, no," she breathed. "Not Goldie . . . you're out o' your head . . . here, lay down—lemme get you a slug o' rye—"

"Slug, hell! I'm copesettee. I drove all the way here—like I am—an' on my nerve. I'll last long enough to settle up for the boys—"

Annie sprang between him and the door. She held out her arms to bar his way.

"Get the hell out o' there," he shrilled, "or I'll drill you. You're standin' between me an' your worst enemy, you dumb dame . . . an' you knocked off Kinky King!"

"Yeah—I did!"

"What a laugh! For killin' the Kid! Well, Kinky had nothin' to do wit' it . . . there's the Big Boy—in there—"and he pointed with his gun.

"Wh-what! G-goldie? He—my Kid?"

"Sure. Who d'you think worked that typewriter? Chimp. Who put him up to it? Goldie. Why? Becus' the greasy rat had a yen for you! It cost many a good guy's life when he flopped for your red hair an' your—"

She stood, glassy-eyed, petrified, swaying.

"On the soul o' me mother, I swear it I wouldn' o' never peached. Goldie said the Kid was crossin' the mob an' had to go . . . now I know who was crossin'—an' now I'm gonna—get out o' my way—"

Monk Collapses

In a daze, Polack Annie sidestepped.

"I'll make it," gurgled Monk. "I'll square the Kid—an'—"

Annie turned to glare with volcanic hate at the door behind which was the man who had widowed her, had defrauded her, had betrayed her. She realized with sudden shock like an icy shower that the whistling had ceased. The other door was half open. Goldie stood there, still with lather on one side of his face. He was grinning. But his eyes were hard and bitter. He laughed. It was forced, but it was loud.

Monk recoiled, pulled himself forward with a spasmodic effort, then sank to his knees from weakness. Slowly, painfully, he raised his weapon. It seemed many minutes to Annie. She was frozen stiff.

Goldie's arm suddenly whisked. A gold and silver streak flashed across the room. The revolver thumped on the carpet. Monk's wrist fell limp and lifeless. A thin streak of blood oozed down it. Goldie's razor lay beside the revolver. Goldie strode toward the dying man, whose eyes were welled with tears and whose shot body rocked. Still Annie couldn't move.

Goldie's gorilla arms lifted the inert Monk. He held him aloft and out. Goldie was whistling! He twined his fingers around the spent man's slender windpipe. Goldie shook him. Long shakes, ending with jerks. Each time Monk's gory head popped back and forth. The fifth time. A crack like the thin, high snap of a blackshake whip. Monk's body sagged. Goldie looked down at it a moment. Then he flung it into a corner.

Annie stood rivited. Horror possessed her. Panic couldn't move her. Goldie turned toward her—and bowed!

"You—said something?" he asked, in supreme mock gallantry.

She said nothing.

Goldie laughed.

Powder and Rouge Contribute to "Art of Looking," Says Fay King

By FAY KING.

Few fathers, brothers or husbands now object to their women folks applying a little rouge and powder.

In fact, one sees men escorting wives, mothers and sweethearts who are really painted up a little too much, without seeming to notice or mind in the least.

Just as education is a factor in the art of living, so a little compirision, properly applied, contributes to the art of "looking."

The prettiest natural nails are improved by a manicure and polish. The prettiest face is improved when its shine is dulled with a little powder, and the cheeks brightened with a touch of pink.

Through the ages cosmetics have been used. The art is to apply them so well one is not aware of them.

Madge Enters Into Another Mystery

I scored myself savagely for my carelessness, as I saw the fright in Marion's eyes at my assertion that her mother "had all that she could bear just now." We had all agreed that if possible Marion's Christmas holiday was not to be shadowed by the news of Robert Savarin's expected death. And my carelessness had been the means of arousing her speculation concerning her mother's upset nerves and the reason therefore. I hastened to make what amends I could, but with Marion's steady eyes upon me as I answered her frightened questions I felt that it was a clumsy effort indeed.

"Nothing that will affect your mother permanently," I said, glad that I could speak the truth that far at least. "And it is something which she would prefer you not to know just now—a business worry, unexpected—very upsetting for the time, but the worst is over now and your mother is all right again, or will be as soon as she is able to get some rest and quiet. But I know that she would not wish you to know she had been worried, so please——"

"Of course not," she said quickly. "But, oh, Auntie Madge, to think I am bringing her more worry just when she has the other thing to trouble her."

"Don't waste time thinking of something that can't be helped," I adjured her. "Just be yourself, dear—you always have been the most loving, thoughtful little daughter a mother could have, and all she needs just now is love—a great deal of it."

"I can give her oceans of that," Marion said fervently, and then we said no more until the cab drew up before the hotel door. As the driver made the turn I had caught sight of Harry Underwood's tall figure approaching the entrance and I spoke quickly, insistently, to Marion.

"There is your stepfather," I said. "Will you stay down with him in the library until I send for you? It will be better for me to see your mother alone first if I can.

Her first panic-stricken instinct was to voice a negative. I knew that from the look which flashed in her eyes at my proposal. But she controlled herself admirably and her answer was delayed only the fraction of a second.

"Whatever you think best, Auntie Madge," she said, and I gave a hurried direction to Purnell, who had appeared urbane and smiling at the side of the cab.

"Catch Mr. Underwood before he goes upstairs and bring him out here, quick.

Purnell waited upon no ceremony. My last word was addressed to his flying heels, and in another half-minute he reappeared, ushering Mr. Underwood to the cab door.

"For ——" Mr. Underwood began as he caught sight of his stepdaughter, then he held out his hand to her through the door which Purnell flung open.

"Welcome to the old hotel suite," he said warmly. "Is this a surprise or does your mother know you're coming today?"

"No, she doesn't know," I answered quickly, "and I want you to take Marion into the library and stay there until I telephone down to you. I want to explain the surprise to Lillian before she sees Marion."

Mr. Underwood's keen black eyes traveled from my face to Marion's.

"That's probably a strategic move," he commented dryly, and then he helped us out and paid the taxi driver.

I wanted a word with Mr. Underwood alone before I left Marion with him, and I knew he had read my wish when he adroitly made an opportunity to speak aside with me.

"Anything wrong?" he queried, and at my decided negative he added, "Any instructions?"

"Tell her nothing about Robert Savarin," I said. "I have told her that her mother is very much upset over a business worry but that the worst of it is over."

"You blessed little Sapphira!" he said fondly, and then he was back in the library with Marion and I was on my way upstairs."

I heard Lillian at the telephone as I opened the door and her voice was strained, raucous.

"Helena! Something's the matter, I know there is by the way you talk. You were not only surprised to hear my voice but shocked as well. No, I am not raving. Tell me,— Yes—if you hurry. Helena, first tell me—Oh, she's hung up the receiver!"

She began to joggle her own receiver frantically and I walked over and put a firm hand upon her shoulder, but before I could speak she thrust the receiver into my hand.

"Make them give you Helena's number again," she said. "Bryant——, I must get her before she starts. I'm shaking so I can't do it. I called Helena's apartment to see if she had' arrived and she was so—queer. Something's wrong. I know it."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, November 6

The general trend of planetary conditions holding sway on this day is especially significant for the breaking away of the old obstructions and crystallization with the advance of affairs toward steady progress and sound foundations. There will be a stimulus toward constructive action and possible change, with promise of financial betterment. But it would be wise to sign all papers with precaution and if in employment not to run counter to the wishes of employers. Sound investments, not speculation, are encouraged, and elders may be approached for assistance.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of substantial progress following the breaking of thwarting conditions and congestions.

A child born on this day should be steady, patient, persevering, and should make progress toward the fulfillment of ambitions by industry and application.

Midget Philosophy

The long skirts may revive the imaginations of the coming generation, but the men of this generation have no illusions about the "divinity" and beauty of the feminine knee. They've seen too many of the overstuffed and under-padded varieties.

Some men were born to be lovers, but never to be husbands; which is probably why they are always the first to marry—and the last to stop marrying.

There is something about the sight of his wife's photograph on a man's desk that takes his stenographer's heart right out her work.

The sleep of the just may be sweet, but, from our observation, it is usually the UNJUST who sleep serenely until noon, while the "just" are downtown working for a living.

Men still complain that modern inventions have made life too easy for the women; yet, thanks to them, a man merely has to turn a knob or press a button, instead of getting up to make the fire mornings; and can tune in on a jazz program, instead of listening to a curtain lecture, evenings.

The only excitement some women seem to get out of life is the thrill of going from beauty parlor to beauty parlor and from specialist to specialist.

The kind of girl a man likes for a "date" and the sort he wants for a wife are as different as what he likes for afternoon tea and what he wants for a solid meal. Yet, nine times out of ten, he will marry the "date," and then wonder why the whipped-cream menu is so unsatisfying as a steady diet.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Serving Tea and Coffee at the Restaurant Dinner

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct for a lady to serve the gentleman with the coffee, sugar and cream at dinner in a popular hotel or restaurant where the waiter has neglected to do so?

If the coffee is served by the waiter, is it proper for the lady to serve the gentleman and herself with the sugar and cream?

To come down to the final point, the question is—regardless of the waiter, who should serve the coffee, sugar and cream, lady or gentleman?

F. P.

There isn't any rule about this, but it has always seemed to be more consistent with the idea of the woman's province for her to serve the tea or coffee. But this depends. Many gentlemen, who have definite ideas and ideals of their hostship, like to add this detail to their list of things to do to show their "complete" hospitality. So automatically they assume this rite of serving the tea or coffee.

Other gentlemen, just as punctilious in their hostship, like very much to have the lady suggest that she would like to serve the tea or coffee. So she may, especially if he does not make the move quickly to do this serving, say, for instance, "Bob, shall I serve the tea?" or "Tom, would you like to have me serve the tea?" The well-trained waiter hears this suggestion, and places before her the tea or coffee and the accessories for their service.

The Surprise Party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the proper way of thanking all of the participants of an informal "Housewarming Party?" The party was a surprise. Many of those who took part were not close friends and could not be thanked by sending informal notes. Would engraved cards be proper if sent to all?

Reader.

The proper time to thank your friends was at the party, when they were saying goodbye, or when you opened the gifts at your party, or both. Engraved cards are not sent for such occasions. If you did not do this you may ring them up on the telephone and tell them how kind they were, or, better, write an informal little note saying much the same thing. They were sufficiently well acquainted with you to come to your house and take part in the entertainment, therefore they are sufficiently well known to you to receive a note of thanks if they brought a gift.

The Spirit of Giving

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Does an announcement card require sending a gift? When I was married I sent a friend an invitation to the church only and she sent me a very lovely gift. Now I think, even though she had only a home wedding and I was not invited, I should still remember her as cordially as she did me. My husband thinks it is not necessary.

Perplexed.

Although this announcement card does not make it necessary that you send a gift, the fact that you do want to send a gift makes me wish that you would send it. It isn't the card that suggests a gift, but the wish-to-give. And especially since your friend was so generous in her remembrance of you.

Elaine And Her Ideas From Paris

Tell It to Sally

By SALLY MARTIN

When You Are Simply Overcome With Pity for Yourself—Think of the Other Fellow!

Out of a job? Nothing doing for a steno? Nobody wants a bond salesman? And you think that's a pretty raw deal, with winter coming on?

Well, just suppose you were the circus fat lady . . . 400 pounds of distressed dimples that no "big top" wanted around—what would you think then?

That's Myrtle's story. Always laugh at fat ladies? Then can the laugh this time—here's one you should salute! For here today speaks as gallant and sensible a soul as ever entered this column.

Letty began the fracas. Letty couldn't get a job, because, according to her, married ladies in silk sox 'n' fur coats were preferred. So she was all for shooting said married ladies at sunrise. They were selfish robbers, she said, taking the bread right out of her mouth . . . and out of the mouths of thousands of other gals with no husbands to support them.

Myrtle can't get a job either. But is she moaning and crabbing and blaming the woman next door? She is not. Get in on her broadcast.

"Dear Sally—

"I've just read Letty's complaining letter in today's paper, and I must say that she makes me tired!

"If she was a little more sensible and broadminded, she'd probably find it easier to get along in this world, and she certainly wouldn't go around blaming everybody else for her troubles. I wonder what she'd do if she were in my shoes.

"For 20 long years I have lived and worked under the 'big tops.' . . . Circus and carnival tents. I have known hard times, good times, and just middling times. And I have seen and heard a lot, as I traveled around from place to place.

"So this Letty thinks that not one in thousands of working married women need their jobs, does she? Well, she'd better wake up and get next to what's going on in the world. Some of them maybe do want more pleasure and more jewelry. So do single girls. But most of them that I've known wanted more money saved—better educations for their children— wanted to get ahead. And they have a right to want these things, according to my notion.

"I've had a lot of hard luck, myself, lately. Two years ago my father's health failed him, so we were forced to retire from the road. We came to town, and I have tried and tried to get some kind of a job, but I have always failed . . . not because of married women, but because of myself. Who wants to hire a girl weighing over four hundred pounds?

"Yes, that's me, exactly. And you guessed it, I was the circus Fat Lady. And I know what the average boss says to himself when he sees me coming. He just looks sort of foolish, and hurries to tell me that he's afraid I won't do.

"My mother and father both realize what it all means to me, and realize that it seems impossible for me to get work.

"Now, I suppose you're saying 'Why don't you go back to the Big Tops?' Well, there are two reasons why. The first is that there is no money there any more. And the second is that my sister, with whom I used to work (she was fat, too), has passed away, and I would be all alone.

"Why don't I reduce? I can't. I have been fat like this ever since I was a baby in arms, and I always will be.

"But I'm not blaming anyone else because I have no work. Not even the bosses who refuse to hire me. Through it all I have tried to keep a stiff upper lip and see things straight. For that is part of the game. It's the code of the 'Big Tops' to 'Take your punches on the nose and keep smiling'. And this I have done, although sometimes I have come near failing at it.

"I hope Letty reads this . . . and I hope she learns to take her punches 'on the chin.' And she'd better stop concentrating on hating the married women, and find out what's wrong with her that she can't get that job she wants.

"And I hope that while she's doing it, she keeps smiling, because nobody will want her if she goes around feeling sorry for herself and blaming other people for her troubles.

"MYRTLE."

You said a mouthful, Myrtle! And here's to your grit and your fine courage. It's one of the oldest and pestiest of human habits to blame somebody else for our misfortunes, but it doesn't buy any of us anything. Whereas, a good straight look at what ails us . . . and a good dose of gumption spent on getting rid of it . . . will buy us plenty.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Few People Escape the Penalty of Diet Errors

How many persons there are who are afflicted with some form of digestive disorder? Their number is legion. Acute or chronic gastritis is a very disagreeable condition. It points to some gross errors of diet, to ingested bacterial or mineral poison, or to the toxin of some infectious disease.

DR. COPELAND

Acute gastritis begins suddenly and unexpectedly with fullness and discomfort in the stomach. It is really an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining of the stomach. Thick mucous covers the membrane and interferes with the normal action of the digestive juices. The material makes an ideal breeding-place for the germs of fermentation.

The walls of the stomach will absorb poisons as quickly as they will nourishing food. Fermentation follows, and with this condition there is a great accumulation of gas which causes pain and swelling.

The patient is troubled with headache and fever, thirst and chilliness. There may be nausea and vomiting or attempts to vomit. Very often a sour or bitter fluid is ejected. There are palpitation of the heart, cold sweats and prostration. There may be a jaundiced condition and, in this case, the vomited material is a mixture of blood, mucous and bile. The tongue is coated and there are fever sores on the lips. The skin is apt to itch intolerably.

Depending upon the physical condition of the patient, and the severity of the attack, the symptoms may last for a day and a night. In other cases they continue for several days.

Gastritis should not be neglected, for it may become chronic.

The causes of this disease are many. First of all, it may come from a general impoverished condition, due to unsuitable food. It may result from eating stale or bad food. It may be due to impairment of the digestive apparatus from other causes.

If the source of the trouble is wrong diet or some bacterial or mineral poisoning of the system, there should be a thorough washing of the stomach. A large quantity of water should be used with a little bicarbonate of soda. This will remove food remnants and mucous and if the attack is mild, recovery should be quick.

When the stomach has been thoroughly emptied, the colon should receive irrigation. It is well to take a dose of castor oil or some saline solution for further cleaning out of the bowels.

Feeding may be resumed after a day or two and a soft, bland, non-irritating diet be given for a week or ten days. Milk, milk toast, dry toast, soft-boiled or poached eggs, juices, baked apple, rice or tapioca pudding, cup custard and tender meat may be given. All coarser foods should be omitted in the diet for a few weeks.

The stomach recuperates quickly when given a rest, so that it is best not to take food for twenty-four to forty-eight hours. If no food is given, with such a period of rest, and the original cause of the attack removed, the stomach condition disappears quickly.

U. S. INDICTS POLITICIAN

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—O. B. "Boss" Limehouse, one-time political leader of Dorchester County, was indicted here by a Federal grand jury on charges of sending "obscene and indecent" letters and explosive material through the mail, in an alleged effort to intimidate his political enemies.

The letters, all unsigned, were mailed in 1929 to members of the "D. R. L."—Dorchester Riddance League—a faction which ousted Limehouse and his group from control of the county in 1928. The explosives were a loaded pistol cartridge and two matches, mailed during the same time to "D. R. L." officeholders.

The O. B. L. faction, which took its initials from Limehouse, attempted a comeback in this year's Democratic primary, but for a second time the "D. R. L's." carried the county officers.

BROKER'S WIFE OBTAINS WRIT

RENO, Nev., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—George M. Evans, Washington, D. C., real estate operator, has been served with an injunction restraining him from molesting his wife, Anne S. Evans, daughter of Countess Festetics De Tolna, and their two children, who have been making their home in Reno for the last three months.

The restraining order was issued in conjunction with the filing of a divorce suit by Mrs. Evans, who charges that for the last six days Evans has harrassed her and threatened to do her bodily injury. Evans came here about a week ago from Washington.

Evans and his wife married in Paris, June 8, 1921. Mrs. Evans is the daughter of the first countess Festetics De Tolna, who makes her home in Paris. The countess was Miss Ella Gerald of San Francisco. She divorced the count in 1910.

Listed as Dead, Voter Proves Lively

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The voting records of Louisville may list William H. Waddell as a dead man, but he displayed enough life to cast his ballot for the candidate of his choice.

When Waddell went to his voting booth he was advised his registration card showed him dead. He went to election headquarters where his "death" was confirmed by official records. An impromptu court was called and the judge decided the man was alive.

Waddell cast his ballot.

JESUITS OPEN NEW BUILDINGS

ROME, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The pontifical Gregorian university, central training station for priests of many countries, including the United States, Canada and Latin-America, has inaugurated its new university buildings on the Janiculum Hill. The dedication ceremonies will continue for a week.

Pope Pius sent a cardinal delegate in the person of Cardinal Bisleti, prefect of the congregation of the seminaries and universities.

The Pontiff also sent an apostolic letter to the general of the Order of Jesuits, which governs the institution.

PLANT OPENED IN EAST END

Opening of the plant of the Beckwith Machinery Company, at 6550 Hamilton avenue, was announced by A. S. Keller, industrial manager of the Chamber of Commerce. The plant represents an outlay of $150,000.

It has 24,000 square feet of floor space, divided into a display room for tractors and earth moving machinery, and a service and storage department. It has a siding on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and a 200-foot frontage on Hamilton avenue.

Officers are: J. S. Beckwith, president; Edward D. Townsend and E. G. Stoner, vice presidents, and G. D. Fox, secretary and treasurer.

3 DIE AS AUTOS, TRUCK CRASH

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Four persons from Shenandoah were killed here in a collision of two automobiles and a truck.

The dead are: Dr. H. H. Holderman, chief surgeon of the Locust Mountain Hospital; Benjamin Dunlap, 45, a hardware merchant, and Dunlap's wife, Olive, 40, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Dunlap.

The party in Dunlap's automobile were on their way to visit a daughter of Dunlap who is a patient in a Philadelphia hospital. About two miles east of here, a truck was stalled on account of mechanical trouble. As Dunlap attempted to pass the truck, a coupe approached from the opposite direction. The Dunlap machine struck the rear of the truck and was swung around across a trolley track into an embankment. As the machine swung around, the rear end crashed into the coupe, hurling it from the road.

ARREST MOONEY WITNESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Estelle Smith, leading prosecution witness in the Mooney-Billings pardon case, was arrested in a chinatown hotel in company with a white man and two Orientals.

Police said she was registered with a man giving his name as Clarence Clark. A charge of vagrancy was placed against each.

At the recent hearing of the Mooney-Billings case before supreme court justices, Miss Smith played an important part in offering testimony one justice considered valuable. Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings are serving life terms for the 1916 Preparedness Day bombing here.

LATIN-AMERICA EXPERT DIES

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Charles Melville Pepper, 70, writer and for 13 years director of the Chile-American Association, died in a hospital yesterday.

A war correspondent in Cuba in 1898 and a delegate to the second Pan-American Congress at Mexico City in 1901, Pepper was a student and writer on Latin-American affairs.

In 1917 he conceived the idea of the Chile-American Association and interested a group of American business concerns with large holdings in Chile. The organization makes surveys of business conditions both in the United States for Chile and in Chile for the United States.

Popularity increases with a Clear Skin

A CLEAR, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that natural beauty—a clear skin and a rose-petal complexion—comes from within.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body-power to clear up your skin.

More red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a sallow complexion and to pimples and boils. The way to regain the red-cells is to take S.S.S.—the tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Your skin will clear up! Your whole body will be strengthened, invigorated!

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of these outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning.

If your vitality and clear skin are slipping away from you try S.S.S. Its successful record of over 100 years in building red-cells in the blood is a guarantee of satisfaction.

CLARA BOW explains what makes a Girl ALLURING . .

"THERE'S ONE THING that stands out above all others in making a girl really alluring," says Clara Bow, whose vivid beauty and personality have won her world-fame in motion pictures. It's lovely skin.

"You may have marvelously appealing eyes—and a lot of charm—and a beautiful figure.

"But just notice the way people cluster around a girl who has lovely skin! And any girl can have lovely skin if she takes good care of it!

"I got my first chance in the movies, partly, at least, because of what my father calls my 'baby-smooth' skin.

"You see, motion picture directors found out long ago that unless a girl has marvelous skin she can never make millions of hearts beat faster when she appears in a close-up. The incandescent lights reveal the tiniest flaw in the skin!

"That's why we motion picture actresses have to keep our skin at its very best every minute.

"Several years ago some of us began using Lux Toilet Soap, and were enthusiastic about it.

NANCY CARROLL

"So other screen stars began to use it—until it wasn't long before almost every important actress in Hollywood was using it. Janet Gaynor—Joan Crawford—Mary Brian—Bebe Daniels—Dorothy Mackaill.

"Take Nancy Carroll, for instance, one of Paramount's most fascinating girls. She keeps her fair skin delectable as an apple blossom with Lux Toilet Soap.

"And Mary Brian, too. Her skin is clear and smooth as a little girl's. Jean Arthur, too, keeps her skin lovely with Lux Toilet Soap.

"In fact," Clara Bow goes on to say, "nearly every girl I know in Hollywood uses this soap. And aren't we glad that we have kept our skin in good condition—the talkies have even more close-ups than the silent pictures have!

"When I get letters from girls all over the country—so many of them saying nice things about my skin—I long to answer every one of them and tell these girls that they can keep their skin just as beautifully smooth as we screen stars do—by using Lux Toilet Soap."

STATE ELECTION PRODUCES SERIES OF STARTLING UPSETS

PINCHOT GROUP HERE GAINS PRESTIGE

Bosses in Other Counties Go Down Before Onslaughts Of Both Sides in Fight

The bitter contest for governor between Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee, and John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal candidate, produced some startling results. Political veterans, long dominant in their county, went down before the onslaughts of both Pinchot and Hemphill forces.

Charles Johnson, Secretary of the Commonwealth, undisputed boss of Montgomery County, suffered a loss of prestige through the Hemphill victory in that county. Hemphill winning it by more than 7,000 votes. Johnson supported Pinchot reluctantly and the Pinchot leaders today charged that he "lay down."

On the other hand, the prestige of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong and Mayor Charles H. Kline increased through the smashing plurality of more than 70,000 votes given Pinchot in the county. Withstanding both importunities and threats of the Philadelphia leaders, Armstrong and Kline remained firm in their party regularity and, aided by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, Coyne and State Senator William D. Mansfield, far exceeded the fondest Pinchot hopes.

PINCHOT WINS CHESTER

State Senator William H. Clark, of Chester County, who is also Republican county chairman, through a strenuous last week's work, surprised himself and the Pinchot leaders by rolling up a plurality of more than 5,700 for Pinchot in Hemphill's home county. United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy fell below expectations in Bucks County, producing a plurality of 3,300 for Pinchot as contrasted with former Grundy pluralities of 5,000 to 7,000.

Sate Senator Horace W. Schantz, of Lehigh County, who wrested the county from Democratic control in 1914, was defeated for re-election in a Hemphill Democratic landslide of more than 12,000 votes.

Butler County produced a plurality of 4,000 votes in face of negative support of the Republican county organization, dominated by Public Service Commissioner Samuel Walker.

CAMBRIA LEAD SMALL

The Republican county organization of Cambria County, headed by County Commissioner John Walker, made good its threat that it would keep the Pinchot plurality in that county to a minimum. Pinchot barely squeezed through with a plurality of 1,300 instead of the 5,000 to 6,000 predicted.

The two Republican factions in Schuylkill County, headed by County Chairman Paul W. Houck and Charles A. Snyder, respectively, apparently teamed together as that hard coal county rolled up a plurality of about 11,000 for Pinchot.

One of the greatest surprises of the campaign was the landslide majority that swept Dauphin County. The two factions, headed by County Commissioner Harvey Taylor and Warden Thomas Caldwell worked in harmony with Jack Stiteler, the Pinchot leader, and surprised themselves with the huge Pinchot vote.

LEWIS HAS HARD FIGHT

Former State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, of York, in face of the stiffest kind of Democratic opposition, brought York into the Republican column with a plurality of 7,000. W. Searight Stuart, his ally in Cumberland, came through with a Pinchot plurality of 7,200. Republicans dominated by the Sadlers and Democratic regulars made a strong fight in Cumberland.

Indiana, the home county of Gov. John S. Fisher, produced a Pinchot plurality of more than 9,000 votes. Vernon Taylor, the Republican leader of the county, stood with the Pinchot forces and vigorously fought former State Senator B. O. Clark, who headed the Hemphill forces.

American Gives Art Treasure to France

PARIS, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Art objects valued at more than $1,000,000, gathered by Edward M. Tuck, wealthy former Bostonian, over a period of 40 years, were presented to the French government today and placed in a new museum set aside in the Petit Palais.

Tuck has lived in the same apartment on the Champs Elysees for 40 years.

'Feminine Bloc' in Congress Reduced by Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Women candidates for seats in the halls of Congress suffered varying fates in Tuesday's election, with the net result that the "feminine bloc" of Congress is expected to be decreased by one, leaving six in the House.

The two women who sought the honor of being the first of their sex elected to the Senate suffered crushing defeats. They were Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick (R.), of Illinois, and Miss Thelma Parkinson, who opposed Dwight H. Morrow for the short term in New Jersey.

The most spectacular victory of members of the present "feminine bloc" of the House was that of Mrs. Ruth Pratt, who nosed out a victory over Louis Brodsky (D.), and Heywood Broun (Soc.) in the Seventeenth New York District.

Other women members of the House apparently re-elected are Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen (Dem.), of Florida; Mrs. Otis Wingo (Dem.), of Arkansas; Mrs. Florence P. Kahn (Rep.), of California, all unopposed; Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers (Rep.), of Massachusetts; Mrs. Katherine Langley (Rep.), of Kentucky, is expected to win when ballots are counted today. Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Pearl Oldfield (Dem.), of Arkansas, voluntarily retired from the House.

Mrs. Izetta Jewell Miller (Dem.), made a hard but apparently unsuccessful fight in the Thirtieth New York District.

County Solid for G. O. P. In Assembly; Third of Delegation New Men

The entire Republican delegation from Allegheny County to the House of Representatives in the State Legislature, one-third of which comprises new faces, was elected without any serious opposition with public interest centered in but one district.

That was in the First Legislative district, in which Joseph C. Marcus, chairman of the Allegheny County delegation in the Legislature, who died ten days before the election, was succeeded by Walter Tucker, prominent Negro leader, nominated in the emergency by the Republican county committee.

DEMOCRATS TRAIL

Tucker ran close behind his Republican running-mate in the district, Joseph R. Lynch, returned for his fifth term, and both were given total votes about six times those of their Democratic opponents. Complete unofficial returns give Lynch 5,040 and Tucker 4,787, and their Democratic opponents, Donohue 888, and McCall 961.

Tucker was the beneficiary of many "plumper" ballots in the first four districts of the Fifth Ward, the Hill district above Fullerton street, while Lynch ran ahead generally in the First and Third wards and in most of the remaining districts of the Fifth Ward.

The election deprived Allegheny County of its only woman member of the Legislature, with Burgess Fred C. Gangloff, of Coraopolis, taking the place of Miss Helen Grimes, who failed of renomination at the primary.

TWO EASY WINNERS

In the Second District, George C. Metzler, with both old party nominations, and Patrick J. Maloney were winners.

Charles T. Dwyer won over his Democratic opponent, Thomas R. Conley, for representative from the Third District.

In the Fourth District, Edward B. Goehring, who has represented the district since 1918, was returned over A. G. Gehlman, Democrat.

Max Spann, in the Fifth District, was the Republican choice over T. J. Swain, Democrat.

The three Republicans elected for the Sixth District were William T. Bell, George H. Soffel and Clayton A. Dietrich.

NEW MEMBER VETERAN

James P. Rooney, a new member, and James Wettach, a veteran since 1913, will represent the Seventh District.

The North Side Eighth District elected Samuel J. Grenet and William F. Stadtlander, both with long legislative records.

In the districts outside the city, the following Republicans won: Ninth District, John A. Rhodes; Tenth, James H. McClure, Frank J. Riddle, Arthur Storer and Carl C. Baldridge, all veterans in the House; Eleventh, Frank S. Hoffman and Frank M. Reed; Twelfth, M. A. Musmanno, Matthew A. Dunn, Joseph G. Steedle and Fred C. Gangloff, the latter a new member; Thirteenth, Thomas W. Neely and Louis W. Hagmaier.

The new members are Tucker, Metzler, Maloney, Dwyer, Spann, Rooney, Reed, Gangloff and Neely, although Neely had previously served a term in the Legislature.

Following is a list of other Legislative representatives in the general assembly.

U. S. Anti-Dry Vote Aids German Stocks

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—The Berlin stock market reacted favorably today to the American elections. The anti-prohibition sentiment expressed by the elections was held at least partially responsible for the exceedingly firm tone of leading liquor stocks on the Bourse.

ERK ONLY NEW CONGRESSMAN FROM COUNTY

Former Secretary Elected to Porter's Post; Campbell, Kelly, Estep, Sullivan Win

When Congress convenes in December the only new face in the Allegheny County delegation will be that of Edmund F. Erk, of the North Side, who was elected to the unexpired term of Stephen G. Porter, whose death left a vacancy in the Thirty-second district.

He was also elected for the subsequent term, beginning in December, 1931, or March 4 next, in the event a special session is called.

Pennsylvania is expected to lose several Republican seats in the House of Representatives. Democrats who are indicated winners, ousting Republican incumbents, are Norton N. Lichtenwalner, of Allentown, Fourteenth District, and Harry L. Haines, York County, Twenty-second District. Patrick J. Boland, of Scranton, Eleventh District, who has been the only Democratic member of Congress, was returned without opposition. The race in Northampton was won by William R. Coyle (Rep.) in a hard fight with Everett Kent (Dem.).

Mr. Erk was secretary to Congressman Porter for 20 years, and was selected by members of the County Committee from that district to stand for election because of his familiarity with Porter's work, particularly in the suppression of the opium trade and the care of drug addicts.

KELLY UNOPPOSED

In the Thirty-third District, Clyde Kelly practically was without opposition, having received both the Republican and Democratic nominations. He has served continuously in Congress since 1912, and has been active in improving the mail service and in revision of postal salaries and rates.

P. J. Sullivan begins his second term in the Lower House as representative of the Thirty-fourth District. He, also, received the nomination of both the Republicans and Democrats. He served the city many years as alderman, councilman, police magistrate and member of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes.

ESTEP ALSO WINNER

Elected for the third term from the Thirty-fifth District, Congressman Harry Estep was opposed on the Democratic ticket by John Murphy. Mr. Estep served as assistant district attorney of Allegheny County for 10 years, the latter five years as first assistant.

Guy E. Campbell, dean of congressmen from the county since the death of Porter, will enter on his eighth successive term in December. He was the unanimous choice of both old parties in the Thirty-sixth District.

Other Pennsylvania Congressmen elected yesterday follow:

First District—James M. Beck (x) (R).

Second District—George S. Graham (x) (R).

Third District—Harry C. Ransley (x) (R).

G.O.P. NOMINEES WIN STATE SENATE

Armstrong, Brandt, Einstein And Mansfield Elected; Escape Factional Warfare

The hectic gubernatorial fight had little or no effect in the balloting for members of the State Senate in Allegheny County.

Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., son of the Republican county chairman and chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, succeeds to the toga long worn by Max G. Leslie, who was not a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Brandt

In the Fortieth District, Herman P. Brandt returns to the Senate after serving since 1928 in the unexpired term of Edward E. Pfischner.

Morris Einstein, of the North Side, will continue his service begun in the Senate in 1918. He was re-elected in 1922 and 1928 in the Forty-second District.

Mr. Mansfield

In the Forty-fourth District, William D. Mansfield, of McKeesport, was re-elected to serve his fourth term in the Senate from the southern part of the county. He was first elected to the Upper House in 1922.

DISABLED VET WINS OFFICE

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 5.—John C. Litty, disabled World War veteran of Salem, was elected treasurer of Columbiana County Tuesday with a total of 11,223 votes.

Litty, who was runner-up in the August primary, was indorsed by the Republican executive committee when A. Earl Edwards, Republican nominee, withdrew from the ticket October 14, and re-entered the fight Monday, making it a three-cornered race with Bert Burns, Democrat, of Lisbon.

Edwards received 5,085 votes, Burns polleed 7,671.

The entire Republican ticket was elected in the county.

Besides Litty the winners are Commissioner, John McBane Kerr, of Yellow Creek Township; auditor, John H. Irwin, East Palestine; prosecuting attorney, John E. Bauknecht, East Palestine; sheriff, William J. Barlow, Lisbon; recorder, Mrs. Edith Elliott, Lisbon; coroner, Ernest R. Sturgis, East Liverpool.

A proposed $225,000 bond for a new city hall was defeated here, while East Liverpool school district voters sanctioned renewal of a three-mill school tax levy.

Dog's Barking Saves Dozen From Fire

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Three alarms of fire were sounded today when flames broke out in Lincoln Hall, a large three-story frame building in North Scranton. The barking of a dog awakened a dozen persons sleeping on the second and third floors and they barely escaped in night clothing. Several stores are located on the ground floor of the building. Damage was estimated at $55,000.

N.Y. 'Silk Stocking' District Elects Mrs. Pratt

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ruth Pratt, Republican and only woman member of Congress from New York, was re-elected to the House of Representatives from New York City's "Silk Stocking" Seventeenth District. She won from Louis Brodsky, Democrat, by 621 votes in a total of 45,979.

Mrs. Pratt, widow of a New York multimillionaire, was victor in a three-cornered race in which her other adversary was Heywood Broun, Socialist, author and newspaper man. She charged that Broun and Brodsky combined efforts to defeat her. Broun polled 6,842 votes to almost 20,000 apiece for the other two.

Mrs. Pratt's district is called the "Silk Stocking" district because it embraces much of the exclusive midtown residential area of Park avenue and the East Sixties.

LIBERALS GIRD FOR BATTLE ON FRAUD

Democrats Also Prepare Lawyers' Committees to Balk Vote Irregularities

The Liberal and Democratic parties were prepared to fight any fraud or even minor irregularities in yesterday's election that are reported to them, it was announced.

Arthur M. Scully, chairman of the Liberal Party, said Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, has been retained in this connection. A committee of lawyers is to be at work to prevent fraud against the Democratic candidates. County Chairman David L. Lawrence, declared. The Liberals were said to have engaged the services of private detectives.

The Pinchot fight on the North Side was directed by Mayor Kline, it was rumored at Liberal headquarters, because of the stand taken against Pinchot by Representative S. J. Grenet, Twenty-seventh ward chairman and Dr. F. H. Frederick, chairman of the city civil service commission.

In the Democratic headquarters, Charles Alvin Jones, campaign chairman, said he had learned of a plot to hold out 20,000 votes in controlled wards of Pittsburgh in order to see how the vote was going before making returns.

The lawyers' committee looking after frauds in the Democratic party is composed of the following: Hill Burgwin, Bernard B. McGinniss, Ewing Laporte, Donald C. Anderson, Stewart Dunn, Charles A. Fagan, Robert B. Greer, Andrew C. Smith, Francis X. McCullouch and D. K. Ferree.

On the Liberal committee, headed by Eaton, are Attorneys Simon T. Patterson, R. A. Applegate, A. D. Churchill, T. P. Trimble, Jr., Fleming Nevin, H. S. Dunn, R. G. Greer, C. S. McGregor, Wells Fry, J. I. Simon, W. S. Doty, Thomas Thornton, Lawrence J. Purpura, J. M. Flannery, D. C. Anderson, Bennett Rodgers, W. R. Scott, A. G. Smith, Harmer D. Denny, Jr., Arthur M. Scully.

AUTO OF SLAIN MAN FOUND

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Pierced by a bullet, the automobile of Dominick Raselli, Newark gangster who was shot to death in the General Hospital, was found by police trying to capture the killers.

The victim's car, found in the rear of John Caruso's home in Belleville, led police to believe there was an earlier attempt on Paselli's life.

Four men were arrested on open charges but denied knowledge of the crime.

Fencing Class Begun At West Virginia U.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 5.—Fencing has been introduced at West Virginia University by the division of physical education and about 25 students have taken it up. Prof. Harry L. Samuel is in charge of the activity. Thomas Falor, of Thomas, this state, lately a fencing champion at the University of Florida, is assisting.

BOND PROJECTS WIN AND LOSE IN COUNTY

McKeesport Votes Park Issue, Beats Sewer Fund; Clairton School Plan Fails

Many Allegheny County towns yesterday voted on bond issues for school and municipal improvements. The largest of these was the city of McKeesport, with two issues totaling $800,000. One issue was favored and the other rejected. The city of Clairton's school bond issue was defeated by only 25 votes. Results were as follows:

M'KEESPORT.

Issue of $140,000 for parks was passed; one for $660,000 for sewers was rejected. The former was passed by 3,769 votes against 3,053, and the latter lost 2,192 to 3,835.

CLAIRTON.

Issue for a $210,000 high school was defeated by 25 votes. About 1,700 were cast.

BELLEVUE

Purchase of seven-acre playground approved by vote of 1,497 to 1,104; issue of $50,000 bonds to provide funds approved 1,362 to 1,131.

MUNHALL.

Voters approved a $650,000 school bond issue by a vote of 2,116 to 318. The money will be used to erect a new junior high school in the Homestead Park district and an addition to the Munhall Senior High School, and the purchasing of ground for a recreation field.

BRENTWOOD.

The issue of $250,000 for the first high school was approved 804 to 311.

ETNA

Two improvement issues totaling $69,500 approved by a margin of eight to one. Approximately 1,400 votes were cast. The issues were for a $60,000 trunk line system, and $9,500 for the improvement of water lines. The latter amount will be transferred from the garbage disposal plant bond issue which was passed in 1927 but never materialized.

RESERVE TOWNSHIP

A $50,000 bond issue for a new water line was indicated, passed by a large majority.

Due to the scattered districts in Indiana and Patton Townships, the results of their two bond issues could not be learned last night. Indiana voted on an issue to increase the township taxation for the purchase of additional fire apparatus. Patton Township voted on $50,000 to be used for a water system.

DRY ISSUE PUT ASIDE HERE

The Republican organizations of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county placed loyalty to party above the prohibition issue in the face of returns of yesterday's election.

Gifford Pinchot, dry Republican nominee for governor, defeated John M. Hemphill, anti-dry nominee of the Democratic-Liberal parties, by a plurality of approximately 70,000 in the county.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the county organization, and Mayor Charles H. Kline, leader of the city organization, declared frequently in supporting Pinchot that prohibition had no part in the governorship contest.

During the campaign, Armstrong frequently expressed tolerance of anti-dry sentiment and Mayor Kline asserted prohibition should be decided by a referendum on that issue alone.

Davis Labor Secretary In Three Cabinets

James J. Davis, secretary of labor in the cabinets of three presidents, maintains his Pittsburgh home at 159 Hornaday road, in what was Carrick borough before its annexation to the city.

He was born in Tredegar, Wales, October 27, 1873, and came to America when 7 years old, his mother and five other children joining the elder Davis in Sharon, Pa., where he had been working in the steel mills since leaving Wales four years before.

STARTED TO WORK EARLY

Young "Jim" got his first job before he was 8. A Sharon hotel man employed him to drive cows to and from pasture at a stipend of $1.25 a month.

Leaving school at the age of 11, he got a job in a nail factory at 50 cents a day. Soon he joined his father in a steel mill, and at 16 was able to manage a furnace.

He worked in more than 50 mills throughout the country, finally settling in Elwood, Ind., as a puddler in a tin mill while that industry was virtually in its infancy.

POLITICAL CAREER BEGINS

It was here that Davis began his political career. He was a prominent union man. When officials of the town decided that tin workers should have a part in municipal government, Davis was elected city clerk. Four years later he was chosen county auditor.

He aspired to be state auditor, but about that time became affiliated with the Loyal Order of Moose, and his rise to national prominence was rapid.

Within a year from the time he joined the Moose, he was made director general, and in 14 years built up the membership from 247 to nearly three-quarters of a million. He resigned this position when President Harding offered him the labor secretarial post in 1921.

HAS FIVE CHILDREN

Davis' greatest achievement as Moose director general was the founding of Mooseheart, 35 miles from Chicago, a home and school for orphans of Moose members, which represents an expenditure of approximately $3,000,000 and cares for more than 1,000 children, educating them in trades and professions until they are able to earn a livelihood.

On Thanksgiving Day, 1914, Mr. Davis married Miss Jeanette Rodenbaugh, of Pittsburgh. They have five children.

Davis is a thirty-third degree Mason, member of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Elks, Eagles and Foresters; the Duquesne Club and Pittsburgh Athletic Club; Chevy Chase, National Press, Congressional Country and Burning Tree Clubs, of Washington. He is chairman of the Federal Board for Vocational Education and a member of the United States Council of National Defense and Smithsonian Institution.

PITT NEVER SCORES ON HUSKER LINE.

SURPRISE HAS BEEN expressed by a number of local football followers at the failure of Eddie Baker, Pitt captain and quarterback, to stick to the orthodox system of trying to jam the ball right through the opposing line after the Panthers had advanced the leather to within a goose-step of the Nebraska goal mark in Lincoln last Saturday. Instead of adhering to established customs, Baker attempted a couple of stabs off tackle, with the disastrous result that the Pitt ball-carriers were hurled back by Hokuf and Prucka, the Nebraska ends.

Eddie Baker

If Baker had got away with that style of attack and won the game it would have been considered a smart play, and Eddie would have been lauded for crossing up the enemy by springing the unexpected. But because it failed, his strategy has been questioned. In fairness to Baker, it should be borne in mind that a Nebraska line is not like that of the average team, but is always close to being the heaviest and most powerful in the country. And in addition to that, Eddie was backed in the course he selected by some tradition that appears to have been generally overlooked.

FOR IT IS a fact that in all their years of competition, the Panthers have never made a touchdown through the Nebraska line. The teams have played five games since the beginning of their relations back in 1921, and though Pitt made a total of five touchdowns in the five contests not one of them was registered on a drive through the Scarlet's husky forwards.

When the Sutherlands beat Nebraska, 21 to 13, here in 1927, one of the Pitt touchdowns was made on a 98-yard run by Gibby Welch from kick-off, another on a 65-yard run off tackle by Jimmy Hagan from scrimmage, and another on a 71-yard run by Welch after receiving a 10-yard forward pass from Hagan. When the Panthers beat the Cornhuskers in Lincoln last year, 12 to 7, neither of Pitt's touchdowns—one scored by Bill Walinchus and the other by Josh Williams—were made through the line.

HYMAN GOLDBERG has been supplanted as second quarterback at Carnegie Tech by Stuart Dueger, and the change means that in the game against Pitt next Saturday the Tartans will have the services of a player of uncommon promise whom few fans knew to be even on the squad prior to the tilt with New York U.

Brought out to relieve Harry McCurdy, regular quarter, after a month in obscurity, Dueger performed more like a veteran master at the job than an untried third-stringer. He handles every detail of the important position in fine style, and it's a safe bet that from now on he will play a considerable part in the gridiron activities of the Steffen-Waddell forces. All that he needed, seemingly, was one chance to prove his worth.

Hyman Goldberg

FROM THE EAST comes the rumor of a possibility that Yale and Notre Dame may arrange a football game to be played in the Yale Bowl at New Haven either next fall or a year later. One date is still open in Yale's 1931 schedule, it is said, and if Notre Dame cannot be booked for that day the athletic heads of the two institutions may open negotiations for a meeting in 1932. Adam Walsh, Notre Dame captain in 1924 and now line coach at Yale, is advocating such a game, and Tad Jones, still a Blue adviser, also is reported to be in favor of it, as well as Knute Rockne. If arranged, the card will easily pack the Yale Bowl. Another change in the Elis' schedule next year will be the dropping of Georgia for a game with Chicago in the Windy City.

IN SPITE OF the new records they set up for a single series and a single week, at home, the Cubs' attendance for the 1930 baseball season as a whole did not equal the figures marked up in 1929, when they played to more than 1,000,000 fans. The falling off is attributed to unfavorable weather in the spring.

In fact, only one club in the National League was able to report an increase in attendance this year, and that club was Brooklyn. The Robins had one of the biggest seasons in their history. The Giants had a balance on the right side, but it took the World Series to keep St. Louis out of the red. Sunday ball again saved the Braves from a loss in Boston.

CHARLEY O'LEARY, dropped by the Yankees and signed by the Cubs, will be making his first National League appearance when he starts work as coach of the Bruins next spring. Supplanted by Donie Bush, as regular shortstop for the Tigers in 1909, he has remained in the American League ever since, first as extra player and later as coach.

As Ray Schalk is to be Rogers Hornsby's other lieutenant in 1931, both of the Cubs' coaches will be men who have spent the greater part of their major league careers in the Heydler loop. From the time of his coming up in the fall of 1912, Schalk worked steadily in the American League until he went to the Giants as coach a couple of years ago.

OLD POP WARNER has at least one defender out on the Coast. "It seems that the result of the Stanford-Southern California game has brought down a lot of criticism on Warner's head," says a Los Angeles football man, "but let's give the old boy the credit that is due him. Before the game he was faced by the fact that in the last two years his Cards had not scored on the Trojans. He knew that if a team can't score it can't win, and therefore devoted most of his time to developing scoring plays. He felt that defensively the team was O. K., just as everybody else felt. So Pop, drilling his men offensively, saw them score two touchdowns, and that is not such an easy job against a team coached by Howard Jones. Warner did what he had set out to do, that is, develop an offense, and the fact that his line went to pieces certainly is not his fault, because it was, and still is, a good line. But on this occasion it was up against an inspired Southern California line, and that was just too bad. At that it didn't look much worse than the Southern California line did against California last year. So three cheers for Pop. He still knows just as much football as he ever did, and that's plenty."

THOUGH NOTRE DAME meets Penn in Philadelphia next Saturday, the general opinion among football followers is that the first severe test of the Irish will not come until they face Northwestern in Evanston on November 22. From all reports it is Notre Dame's defense, rather than its offense, that will be taxed on that occasion.

While having everything that a football team needs—weight, power and drive—both the line and the backfield at Northwestern are said to be better on attack than on defense. As Rockne has a pretty fair offensive himself, this is a game that may feature attacking power rather than defensive strength, in striking contrast to the eleven scoreless ties played last Saturday.

THE UNUSUAL NUMBER of scoreless ties, by the way, has drawn a flock of complaints that some coaches, seeking only to avert defeat,

COLLEGES HAVE CHANCE TO AID NEEDY

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

With colleges and universities all over the country arranging post-season benefit football games to help out in the unemployment crisis, why not Pittsburgh?

Yes, why not? There's a thought for you.

College football undoubtedly owes much to the public. Starting out as a pastime for the students and alumni, the game has grown to immense proportions through the support of the public. Students and alumni go in heavily for the major games, but they could not and would not jam the stadia for the complete schedules.

Now, then, here is a chance for the college football authorities to show how they appreciate this patronage, at a time when able-bodied men with families are walking the streets seeking in vain for work.

BIG CIVIC AFFAIR

The University of Pittsburgh athletic council meets today and there could be no better time for it to consider offering the use of its stadium and its team, if need be, for the worthy cause.

The game could be handled through a large civic committee, appointed by Mayor Charles H. Kline, and thus would be assured the fullest support.

What sort of a game could be arranged?

Well, how about tossing Pitt and Carnegie Tech back at each other in the event their game next Saturday for the city championship should result in a tie—something that never has happened in the entire history of their relations?

A LOCAL "NATURAL"

Or, if there is a winner Saturday, how about matching it with Duquesne University to round out a real city championship series and possibly pave the way for annual similar competition? There is little doubt that the Dukes would jump at such a proposition, for they have been anxious for several seasons to test their strength against that of the two other local collegiate elevens, and their large army of followers is equally keen about such a meeting.

The main idea would be to keep the expense item down to a minimum, and this would militate against importing a big outside team to play a local eleven. Why not make up a local "natural" and so limit the outlay to mere operating expenses?

DECEMBER 6 GOOD DATE

Saturday, December 6, would be the logical date for such a post-season contest.

Pitt ends its regular season on Thanksgiving day, with Penn State, and Tech lowers its curtain two days later against W. & J. The Dukes play their last game against Providence College on Thanksgiving day morning at Forbes Field. The teams involved in a benefit game would have to do little additional training.

What do you say to being good fellows, Pitt, Tech and the Dukes? And what do you say, John Q. Public, representing the fan army, and you, Mayor Kline?

Don't let other communities show up Pittsburgh in the matter of going to bat in the present emergency!

Spanish Soccer Star Off for U. S.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—Spanish sporting circles were stirred yesterday when it was learned that Gaspar Rubio, one of the best international football players in this country, had left suddenly for America. He booked passage on the steamship Cristopher Colon, sailing from Corunna to Havana.

It is believed Rubio plans to join an American soccer team. The Madrid club, to which he belongs, is expected to take legal action against him, as his contract does not expire until 1934.

Too Many Wives, Hawkeye Coach Is Dismissed

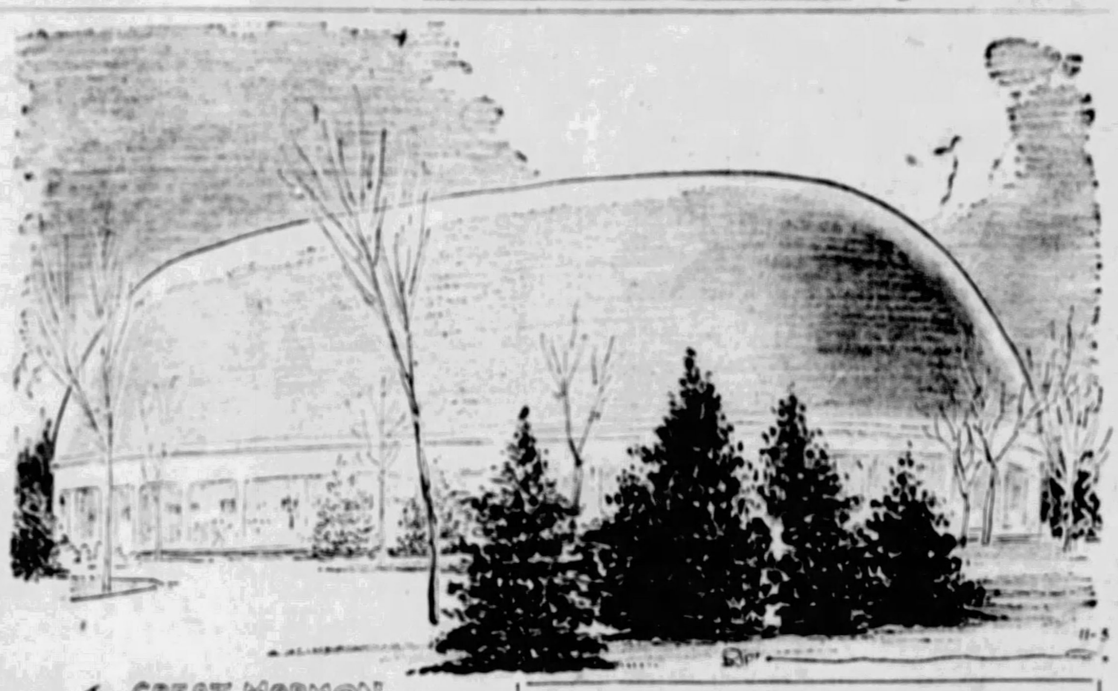
IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Charles Brookins, world hurdle record holder and Olympic team member, last night was dismissed as assistant track coach at the University of Iowa, by Athletic Director E. H. Lauer, because of too frequent excursions into matrimony.

Brookins was married last Friday at Valparaiso, Ind., to Dorothy Coby, of Oskaloosa, Ia. Yesterday Lauer said he learned Brookins had been married to Mrs. Ethel Heid, on September 4 at Aledo, Ill. Brookins asserted he was divorced from Mrs. Heid a week after the marriage, but no record of the divorce was found at Midland, S. D., where he said it had been granted.

Lauer said he considered two marriages in two months too many for a member of the Hawkeye athletic department.

Believe It Or Not By RIPLEY

(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Robert L. Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)



EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: DIANORA SALVIATI WAS THE MOTHER OF 52 SONS—Dianora Salviati, wife of Bartolomeo Frescobaldi, the Florentine poet, bore 52 sons, including one set of quintuplets. The family is very numerously represented in Florence. A tablet with a complimentary inscription was placed on the house where Signora Frescobaldi had lived and bore her numerous progeny. This prodigious mother is mentioned in Italian literature. There also is a reference in Heinrich Heine's "Reisebilder." NO INSECT HAS MORE THAN THREE PAIRS OF LEGS—An insect is strictly a member of a group of six-legged anthropeds, also known as hexapoda (six-leggers). Spiders and centipedes are not insects. OATS ARE FRUIT—Biologically and structurally, oats are the fruit of seed plants which are classed as Caryopsis, in which the ovary wall closely adheres to the inclosed seed.

CHARITY GAMES BOOMING

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Proposals for post-season college football games for the benefit of unemployment relief, fast accumulating, have attracted widespread support and interest, especially insofar as they involve the possibility of Army and Navy patching up their differences to aid the common cause.

Chicago and New York, as well as Philadelphia, are prepared to bid high for a post-season benefit game between the rival football forces of West Point and Annapolis, despite the "many difficulties" which Secretary of the Navy Adams said would have to be overcome.

George F. Getz, of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois unemployment commission, has suggested Soldier Field as an ideal spot for the Army and Navy to meet on the gridiron again, for the first time since they broke off in 1927. He ventured the gate receipts would produce $750,000 for the aid of the unemployed.

$1,000,000 GATE

The New York Daily News, which addressed an open letter to President Hoover on the subject of an Army-Navy game, called for united support of Metropolitan agencies in bringing the game to New York. The newspaper predicted it would draw a "gate" in excess of $1,000,000 at either of the local ball parks.

Foremost among the obstacles to a revival of the service battle is the fact Navy already is scheduled up to December 6, when the Midshipmen play Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Army closes its season at Chicago, November 29 against Notre Dame and West Point officials have shown no enthusiasm for a post-season project.

Meanwhile a growing list of possible opponents was presented for New York University, which has put its football team at the disposal of a civic committee for purposes of a benefit game, for any date after November 22. Western Maryland, one of the few undefeated Eastern teams,

What say about that big post-season benefit football game proposed in another column today to raise money for Pittsburgh's army of the unemployed? . . . If they can put games like that over in New York, Chicago, Detroit and elsewhere, we can do it, too . . . Let's all get together and shove the thing across! . . . Did you know that Bucknell University's football squad, which last Saturday crushed Penn State again and also is the only team to defeat Geneva this fall, boasts four star players from the tri-state district? . . . They are Tony Slate, the halfback, who hails from Weirton, W. Va.; Justin J. Brumbaugh, the high-scoring halfback, whose home is in Springdale; Joseph Crowe, lineman, who prepped at Greensburg High School, and Clark Hinkle, the fullback, who calls Toronto, O., his home town.

They tell a good one about the Carnegie Tech-N. Y. U. game at the Stadium last Saturday, which, sandwiched in between the Pitt-Notre Dame and Pitt-Carnegie Tech games, drew only about 14,000 paid admissions. . . . As the New York band swung out of the opening at the west end of the Stadium to parade upon the field, one of its members expressed amazement at the small gathering . . . "Where's the crowd?" he wanted to know. . . . A local boy was equal to the occasion . . . "You're just a week late, buddy," he piped. "You should have been here last Saturday!"

Speaking of crowds, only 3,500 fans saw Jimmy DeHart's fighting Duke University eleven defeat Villanova at Philadelphia last Saturday, proving that there can be too much football on one day for even such a large city as that which calls the University of Pennsylvania its first love . . . Word is out that Herb McCracken, of here, has been assured his job at Lafayette College, although his contract expires this fall and he is having one of the lamest seasons in the Leopards' history and things haven't been rosy at Easton for the last three years, following four years of howling success. . . . Herb's friends blame the slump on inferior material.

Bob Haubrick, star tackle, of Ohio State University, played through most of last Saturday's game with Wisconsin unaware of what was going on about him, but did a good mechanical job. . . . He was kept out at the start of the second half, but later regained his senses and was sent back to finish the game. . . . How about calling the LaMark brothers, of Coraopolis and New York University, Brothers Under the Moleskin? . . . . Jules Beck, matchmaker of Motor Square Garden, admits he didn't know until he signed Nordi Smith, of Newark, O., for that second bout with Jimmy Belmont at the Garden last Monday night that Nordi was a Negro, although he was familiar with the boxer's record. . . . The Salvation Army authorities are thinking about making their gymnasium available for boxers who want to train downtown. . . . The cauliflower colony has been more or less lost in this respect since Francis Flynn closed his Flynn's gym, in Sixth street, months and months ago, and the move probably will be welcomed.

Shady Side Academy closes a successful football season Friday with a game against Tarentum High School at home . . . . Of the six games played so far, five have resulted in victories, while, in the other contest, Shady Side had six regulars out of the lineup and lost by two touchdowns to one. Coach Jimmy Robertson, former Tech star, keeping up the good work Howard Harpster started with a defeatless season last year . . . . Shady Side won its opening game this season over Allderdice High School, 7-0, and then defeated Perry, 24-7, and Central Catholic, 7-0; lost to Oakmont, 13-6, and came back to defeat Nichols School, of Buffalo, 6-0, and University School, of Cleve-

STOGIES FAVOR NEW CLUBS

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Charles W. Holloway, president and owner of the Wheeling Stogies, announced last night that he would regard with favor the possible inclusion of Charleston and Huntington in the Mid-Atlantic League.

"Although this is the first intimation I have had of the movement to incorporate Charleston and Huntington in the league next season, I would be inclined to look on it as a forward step by the league," Holloway said.

"Transportation costs would be increased if down-state cities were taken into the league, but I believe increased patronage would more than offset this, particularly if they install night baseball facilities. Wheeling will press its demand for a flat guarantee rule at the Mid-Atlantic meeting next month. Clubs that invest money in their plants should reap benefits from their enterprise," Holloway added.

CLUBS AFTER BERTHS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Watt B. Powell, manager of the Charleston Senators, Tri-State League baseball team, said yesterday he and Johnny Stewart, manager of the Huntington Boosters, another Tri-State League club planned to seek franchises in the Middle Atlantic League. Their applications for admission to the Mid-Atlantic will be filed at the league's December meeting. There are no vacancies in the Mid-Atlantic at present. The Tri-State League, a semi-professional organization was formed two years ago. It includes clubs at Charleston, Huntington, Logan, Beckley, Williamson and Ashland, Ky.

IOWA WORKS ON PASSES

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Defense against Marquette passes occupied the attention of University of Iowa football squad yesterday. A freshman team using Marquette formations against the Iowa varsity was able to complete a good portion of the tosses. George Rogge, end, and Gus Hauge, halfback, appeared at the practice in civilian clothes. Their appearance against the Hilltoppers Saturday is doubtful.

SKIBOS SHOW BETTER THAN PANTHERS

By JESS CARVER

The way in which Pitt and Carnegie have been staggering about in their efforts to get somewhere in the football chase makes it extremely difficult to even try to dope Saturday's game in the Stadium in advance.

Had Pitt won last week at Nebraska, it might be expected that the Tartans, beaten by N. Y. U., would enjoy somewhat of psychological advantage. A good team that takes one on the snoggle one week may be expected to come back with a vim the next.

Reversing the situation, had Tech won and Nebraska beaten Pitt, or tied 'em, the Panthers would be in line to make a great stand against the Tartans.

As it is, with Tech whipped and Pitt tied, both knocked off by Notre Dame, most anything may happen.

SKIBOS HAVE EDGE

Taken as a whole, Carnegie has a slight edge in the matter of men and class over the Pitt team of this year. The Skibos looked better against Notre Dame than did Pitt. Waddell's changes generally have been more impressive, for Sutherland has been unable to get his team to click. Tech's been scored on more often, for only Notre Dame has been able to cross the goal line of the Panthers, but the Skibo running attack has functioned much better than that of the Panthers.

Advices from the offices of the athletic directors, Buddy Overend, at Tech, and Don Harrison, at Pitt, indicate that the public is going for this game in a big way. I called up yesterday to get a couple ducats and what do they give me but the old act that all the good seats are gone and that the best I can get are back of the goal posts.

50,000 TO ATTEND

Last year, a turnout of some 43,000 watched the two city rivals battlee. It looks as though there would be about 50,000 on hand this week. Fifty thousand people and . . . the chewing gum had to be on my seat.

There will be one phase of the game that will be well worth watching. It will be the duel between Bulldog Reider, Pitt's little halfback star, and dashing Dutch Eyth, of Tech. Both are backs of the type likely to break way at any moment, given or otherwise, for long dashes for touchdowns, and imagine how either would like to run wild in this particular game.

Neither of the competing elevens Sat'day will be able to present their full strength. Carnegie must enter the fray with two star linemen, Don Fletcher, husky right tackle, and Bernie Burzio, left guard, on the sidelines with injuries.

Fletcher aggravated an old knee injury in the N. Y. U. battle, and Burzio is suffering with strained leg ligaments. Both are definitely out of Saturday's game.

Over at Pitt, Bulldog Reider, who should be in there at the start, may have to stay on the bench, for his strained side, which was well battered by the pounding he took at Nebraska's tackles, is still on the bum. It appears as though Sutherland will start the

RIIS DENIES WASTE IN COUNTY LINKS WORK

SOUTH LAYOUT NOT TO COST $200,000

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

How much are the county golf courses costing us?

When will the North Park be open for play?

These two questions appear to be burning the curiosity of Allegheny County taxpayers, particularly those interested in golf.

Now that the county commissioners have seen fit to grant a playing inspection of the championship South Park layout, and the taxpayers have found it even greater than their highest expectation, their agitation will not be subdued until they know definitely whether the county has proceeded to expend many thousands of dollars more than it had expected in its construction.

The man who has come in for more than a fair share of criticism because the golf courses were delayed in construction, mainly due to weather conditions beyond his control, and who has had only a meager bit of the praise due him, Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis, comes to bat to try to clear up the situation.

DENIES $200,000 COST

He positively denies that the South Park course cost $200,000, as he says it has been reported and proceeds to show in black and white that both courses will not cost anywhere near that amount. Talking for County Commissioner E. V. Babcock, Riis said that Babcock was misquoted on the subject of county park golf course costs, and made no such statement as was credited him—that the South Park links had cost the county a fabulous sum.

The figures presented by Director Riis show that the cost of operation for construction of the North Park course up to October 1 was $73,704.59, which does not include depreciation of equipment, still new and worthy of many months' wear, which will be used for further work in the construction of the park itself.

The figure on the cost of the South Park to August 20, and only little has been done on that course since, due to the drought, is $60,508.85—and does not include depreciation.

Director Riis is firm in the matter of depreciation; he believes it is an important item in the matter of costs for the county parks and golf courses.

MACHINES STILL GOOD

"At the South Park we have an item of $15,918.75 for team and tractor," Director Riis said. "These are in A No. 1 condition at this time, after having been used extensively in our work on the golf course, and are now being used in the construction of the swimming pool and other work in the park itself. It would not be fair not to charge the park construction with the work they are doing on it, nor would it be fair to charge the golf course for the work they are doing in the park. I would say that the depreciation may be charged off at 50 per cent in this instance, which, as you can see for yourself, takes almost $8,000 from the total cost of the South Park and makes it more nearly $52,508 than $60,000."

Labor at the South Park cost $26,703.75, material $8,872.01, tools $695.38 and equipment $5,424.78 (and Director Riis figures on depreciation in these cases also), and repairs, $2,894.18.

During the course construction, 401,300 yards of dirt and 3,272 yards of stone were moved. This was mainly done to meet with Director Riis' object of making every hole visible from to green, providing a minimum of danger in playing and expediting play.

The North Park cost sheet of Director Riis shows equipment at $5,120; labor, $35,567.60; material, $15,591.60; repairs, $2,514.54; team and tractor, $14,226.58, and tools, $684.12. In this case, also, the cost of tools and other equipment which will be, or already have been used in other park construction, should be further discounted by 50 per cent, Director Riis says, since all of it is in first-class condition.

DIFFERENT PROBLEMS

There are 145 acres of golf land in the South Park, and 175 in the North Park. The general topography of each layout has presented different problems, as well, and the North Park had to stand the brunt of costing more than its sister links.

More hand labor has been required in the construction of the North Park layout, due to the uneven countryside, whereas machines and other such equipment were used to quicker and better advantage in the South Park.

The North Park course will be longer than the South, although it cannot be said it will be a superior layout. The difference in length is almost negligible, however, North Park being 6,589 yards and South Park 6,555.

The fact that Director Riis has been able to utilize tools and equipment for the dual purpose of the golf courses and the parks is one of the big factors in the down-keep of costs. Director Riis admits that a person in another position, without that advantage, easily might have spent $200,000 for either course to make them what they are today. The South Park layout by no means has the appearance of being a cheap $60,000 golf course—it is, rather, a $200,000 golf course for $60,000.

Answering the question of when the North Park layout will be ready, Director Riis said he was confident that at least the first nine holes would be ready to open in the spring as soon as the South Park layout is ready — which means as soon as the balmy weather has given the grass a chance to season up. Further, Riis said, the second nine holes would be opened shortly afterward.

PIPE LINES CONSTRUCTED

Pipe lines are being constructed throughout the North Park course, the same as at South Park, to every tee and green—giving the tee and green on every hole individual watering. South Park is a splendid example of fine tees and greens as a result of the water lines there. The second nine at North Park already is seeded, and, with the first nine, is to be reseeded in the spring.

Just as soon as the weather breaks the watering will begin at North Park, and, Director Riis says, there is nothing to keep the course opening back, unless it be an unexpected drought, making the fairways unplayable.

Riis admits that the water situation, combined with the drought of last summer, delayed work at North Park more than at South Park. This was because that layout was not as far advanced, having been started some time after the South layout was well under construction.

WELLS SAVE SITUATION

Riis says, however, that it was the finding of two good 200-gallon-a-minute wells at the North Park that saved it from horrible catastrophy. The creek, thought available, proved to be polluted, or else they dried up. In any event, there was not enough water to take care of the golf course, much less a swimming pool.

So there you are—the cost for the courses appears to have been kept well in hand, and the North Park links will be opened at an early date next season.

PAUL STUDT MISS JEANNE WATKINS BOBBY SARRAF

Every Saturday at the football games at the Stadium, several hundred Boy Scouts turn out to usher the fans to their seats. They do this as a duty to the public. Above are two of the Scouts and two fair rooters. Miss Fiery hails from Martinsburg, W. Va. The Scouts both are 14 years old and Sarraf is one of the youngest Eagle Scouts in the country.

PIRRONE PACKS KAYO PUNCH

Bucky Lawless, of Auburn, N. Y., will be meeting one of the deadliest two-fisted punchers he has faced when he enters the ring against Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, in the 10-round windup at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, as Paul's record attests.

Paul Pirrone

The Cleveland youngster has knocked out Andy DiVodi in one round, Dick Ramies in three, Russie LeRoy in five, Cliff Graham in two, Freddie Fitzgerald in four, Georgie Russell in one and Pete Myers in four. He also has to his credit a 10-round draw with Tommy Freeman the welterweight champion, and a six-round victory over Jack Zivic. Joe Lewis, of Cleveland, is his manager.

Lawless kept himself fit for the local fray by defeating Jackie Horner, of St. Louis, in a 10-round bout at Rochester, N. Y., last Monday night. It was his fourth victory over Horner.

Between Rounds

The Battling Gizzy-Benny McArthurs bout is definitely set for the eight-round semi-final at the Garden next Monday night. Billy Holt, of Homewood, and Georgie O'Hara, of the North Side, will box the second bout and Muzzie Scholes, of the North Side, and Sol Lippo, of the Hill, are in the opener.

Dick Curley, of Chicago, wants to bring Mike Dundee back here for a return bout with Jackie Rodgers. In his last two starts, Dundee has beaten Benny Bass, the junior-lightweight champion, and knocked out Teddy Maranda.

Apples Meyers, Moose Temple promoter, is looking for his best crowd of the season for his Tony Malco-Larry Madge socking card in the downtown arena tomorrow night. Malco always has been a good attraction with the Moose fans, and Madge has won them over with his punching. Billy Brent and Jimmy Taylor, the latter of Cleveland, box the semi-final.

Angus Snyder boxes Cliff Noff at Denver tonight. Young Corbett and Farmer Joe Cooper clash at Oakland, Cal., and Hans Mueller boxes Pete Mike and Vincent Maracanda takes on Oscar Bernard at Jamaica, L. I., while Vic Morosco boxes Sammy Delson and Freddie Lattanzio and Ernest Torros go to it in New York.

Sale of the Jolly Bowl, New Castle's boxing arena, to Ed Fritz, sports writer of that city, yesterday puts an end to the financial difficulties that have kept the bowl dark, and a resumption of shows there may be expected at an early date.

Freddie Edwards and Tony LaRose box the main bout of a show at Athens, O., next Tuesday (Armistice Day). Frankie Porto, of Glassport, meets Mickey Dugan in the six-round semi-final. Edwards and Porto also box the double windup at the Eagles' Hall, East Liverpool, O., Friday night. Edwards against Johnny Demko and Porto against Jimmy Perry in eight-round preliminary and Jimmy Massey and Johnny Lang in a four-rounder.

Patsy Pirrone, of Canton, O., a favorite here, boxes Maxie Rosenbloom, the light heavyweight champion, in a non-title bout at Canton on November 17. Freddie Edwards and Benny Burns meet in the eight-round semi-final.

Tug Phillips meets Billy Stoh in the semi-final of eight rounds to the Johnny Risko-Mickey Walker bout at the Detroit Olympia arena, Friday night. In the six-round battles on the card, Gene Stanton boxes Eddie Anderson, Chuck Doris meets Jack Cunningham, George Pavlick engages Jimmy Dorsey and Joe Palazola battles Eddie Judge.

Ernie Schaaf's contract has been bought from his longtime manager, Phil Schlossberg, by Johnny Buckley, who also handles Jack Sharkey.

Andy Callahan and Sammy Fuller box at the Boston Arena, November 17, and Dan Martin battles Danny Regan at Portsmouth, N. H., next Tuesday.

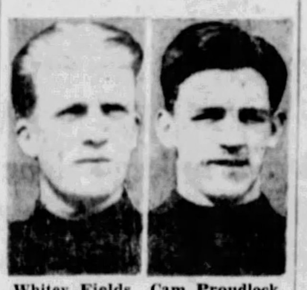
A benefit amateur boxing show will be staged in Turner Hall, Homestead, next Tuesday night for the unemployed of the district. Food and clothing will be bought with the proceeds. Ten bouts will make up the card.

Tiny Smith, of Washington, Pa., and Johnny Edwards, of Huntington, W. Va., will box a return bout in the windup of a show in the Washington (Pa.) Coliseum next Monday night. Jim Kelly, of Pittsburgh, and Joe Walcott, of Washington, will box the eight-round semi-final. Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, meets Tom Anderson, of the Hill, and Jimmy Malone, of Canonsburg, engages Leon Zampetti, of Bentleyville, in two six-round preliminaries.

ICE STARS DUE TOMORROW

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The city's population will be increased to the extent of some 15 stalwart icemen tomorrow when the skaters who are to perform as Yellow Jackets and represent Pittsburgh in the International Hockey League arrive here from Toronto. The puckmen, 11 of whom already have been signed by Roy D. Schooley, president of the Pitt Hockey Club, are due to arrive right after a big batch of election returns, and they aim to elect themselves champions of their circuit before the campaign closes.



Whitey Fields Cam Proudlock

The Pittsburgh skaters have been working out in Toronto for the past week, and, according to reports from the Ontario metropolis, they already are in shape for the start of the title race. Cameron Proudlock, 175-pound left wing, and William Fields, 180-pound center, are said to have shown exceptionally fine form in the early drills, and they loom as likely winners of starting lineup berths.

With the opening game carded for a week from tomorrow, Schooley plans to rush the preparatory work here, and two workouts each day is to be the program. The London Club is to oppose the locals in the lid-lifter, at Duquesne Garden.

C. of C. to Sponsor Special Train

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a special trip to Columbus, Ohio, November 15, for the University of Pittsburgh-Ohio State game. The special train will leave Pittsburgh at 7:55 and arrive in Columbus at 12:18 p. m. on Saturday, November 15.

Fifteen thousand University of Pittsburgh students and alumni are expected to take the trip to Columbus for the game, some going by special trains and others by automobile. The special Pitt alumni and student special will leave Union Station for Columbus at 5 p. m. on Friday, November 14.

The Pitt band will leave on the 5 o'clock train after parading with University of Pittsburgh students from the University to Union Station. Luncheons and breakfasts for Pittsburgh rooters are scheduled for Saturday preceding the game and after the game Ohio State fraternities announce open house.

STRIBLING, MAX SCHMELING GO ASSURED

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5.—A battle for the heavyweight championship of the world between W. L. (Young) Stribling and Max Schmeling, present holder of the title, loomed today when Pa Stribling, the Georgian's father-manager, announced that he had reached an agreement whereby Stribling would fight on the 1931 milk fund card, promoted for charity by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst.

Schmeling already has accepted an offer to participate on the charity program and, with Stribling's acceptance made known today, it was believed that the German heavy will place his title at stake in a bout with the Georgia aspirant to the throne.

KIPKE BUILDS DEFENSE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Coach Harry Kipke stirred out a defensive drill to last the whole practice period yesterday when the Michigan varsity faired to top the freshmen, who used Harvard forward and lateral passes. TUNNEY CASE IS RESUMED TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Supreme Court Justice Hatting will decide today whether trial will proceed in the suit of Timothy J. Mara to take away from Gene Tunney $500,000 of the $1,742,282.04 he earned as heavyweight champion of the world.

After Mara had rested his case Monday, the justice dismissed the complaint against Billy Gibson, Tunney's former manager and a co-defendant, and took under advisement at motion to throw the whole case out on the ground that if the charges could not be proved against one defendant, they could not be proved against the other. He will announce his decision when court convenes this afternoon.

EARNINGS LISTED

A detailed list of Tunney's earnings as champion, compiled by himself under court order, was read to the jury Monday while fight fans in the court sat forward on the edges of the benches and listened eagerly.

The list showed that during the year 1927 the champion's income was $1,157,465.79. That in 1928 he earned $574,955, and between September 23, the date of the Philadelphia fight, and December 31, 1926, he collected $47,881.25.

The biggest sources were the Chicago fight with Dempsey, for which Tunney, as champion, drew more than $990,000, and his match with Heeney in 1928, for which his purse was $525,000.

ASKS 10 PER CENT

On the basis of an oral agreement, whereby he alleged Tunney promised him 10 per cent of his purse for the first Dempsey fight and 25 per cent of his earnings as champion, Mara is demanding one-fourth of this money, together with 10 per cent of the Philadelphia purse and interest dating back to 1926.

If Justice Hatting does not dismiss the case, Tunney will begin his defense today. It is expected he will take the stand.

Fight Results

At Indianapolis—Maxie Wilson stopped Joe Rivers, 2 rounds.

At New York—Billy Krieger defeated Billy Tara, 6 rounds; Ramon Tabinas defeated Raul Rodriguez, 6 rounds.

Mountaineers Prep For Kansas Aggies

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The University of West Virginia football team had a long scrimmage yesterday in preparation for the game with Kansas Aggies Saturday. Emphasis was placed on the running and aerial attacks of the Mountaineers during the practice, in an effort to have them polished up for service against the Westerners.

The reserves are seeing considerable service in the practice this week as the Mountaineers plan a attack of the Kansans, defensive for the wide-open aerial

TWENTY GRAND IS PIMLICO FAVORITE

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Twenty Grand and Equipoise were installed as favorites for the Pimlico Futurity, the mile and a sixteenth turf classic with $40,000 added, to be run for Juveniles here today. Twenty Grand is owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, while Equipoise will carry the light blue and brown silks of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of the late Harry Payne Whitney. It will be the first time Sonny Whitney has been represented in a race.

The starters, listed in order of post position, with jockeys, weights, owners and probable odds, are as follows:

Horse.	Jockey	Wt.	Owner	Prob. Odds
Angle	Guillotti	119	Jeffords	8-1
Equipoise	Workman	119	Whitney	3-1
Vanderpool	Ward	119	Trask	4-1
Sir Hoosier	Garner	122	Bradley	20-1
Tambour	Schaefer	114	Ruth	6-1

STRONG TEAMS FAIL TO STOP WEAK FOES

By W. A. ALEXANDER,
Member, All-America Board of Football.

Most amazing of all the developments of the current football season is the large number of big scores being run up on strong teams. When teams like Minnesota, Yale, Princeton, Navy, Illinois, Missouri, Chicago, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, Stanford, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas Aggies have from three to six touchdowns rammed down their throats it makes old football players shake their heads. They are puzzled as to the cause. Are these teams just weak as far as material goes or is there something else lacking?

W. A. Alexander

In any upset of the nature indicated above there is bound to be one fundamental weakness. That is poor tackling. It is conceivable that a team might lose by three touchdowns and still tackle well, but it is very unlikely to happen. It is certain that if the score is more than three touchdowns, the losers were guilty of tackling badly.

MAY BE CORRECTED

Fortunately this is a defect that can be remedied if the players have nerve and determination and the coaches give them sufficient practice at this defensive art. Nearly always a team that tackles poorly is made up of men who prefer the other phases of football or where the coach in order to perfect other important details has failed to give them sufficient tackling practice. Do not be surprised if any team that has sunk under a big score rebounds in two or three weeks to play some supposedly strong team off its feet. The answer will be that the boys have learned to tackle.

This item of tackling is generally overlooked in seeking to account for a defeat by a large score. When material is lacking of course the big score is easy to understand but material rarely is lacking on big teams. Poor coaching will, of course, bring defeat in the shape of 40 points, but who can accuse Roper, Zuppke, Warner, Stagg, Sutherland, Henry or Neyland of being poor coaches? Their past records refute that charge instantly.

Injuries to key men sometimes spell the difference between a good game and a rout. Often a squad of 40 players will have one man, say, capable of playing the all important position of safety man on defense. An injury to this man terribly weakens the defense. Mis-handled punts may very easily present two or three touchdowns. The same is true on long forward passes where the safety man's duties are vital.

CERTAIN TO COLLAPSE

Lack of well distributed strength is a vital factor in explaining these upsets. A team may possess six first class ends and guards and 15 good backs, but may have no man on the squad capable of playing a good game at tackle. A team of this sort may get by for a few games, but is certain to collapse with a dull thud when the weakness is exploited by a first rate opponent.

Lack of balance in the squad or injuries to key men, as suggested, may figure in a rout, but you safely can blame most of the big scores run up on strong teams as due almost entirely to poor tackling. That feature is a fundamental that is fatal if overlooked.

DUKES PREPARE FOR FINAL NIGHT TILT

This afternoon Elmer Layden's Dukes will begin their last two days of preparation for the formidable Flickertails of North Dakota University, who will tackle the Red and Blue under the Forbes Field floodlights in the last nocturnal game of the season here Friday night. Little over-confidence could be attributed to the Dukes at present, since the Flickertails rate as one of the biggest attractions on their 1930 card.

If the Night Riders can top the Flickertails the boys from the Bluff will be highly pleased, but it is entirely unlikely that the crippled Duquesne combination will be able to best the powerful team which Coach C. A. West will send against them. With Sammy Pratt, Jim O'Donnell and Kass Kovalcheck out for the season, the Duquesne chances are considerably lessened. In addition the morale of the squad is at low ebb and will have to be rebuilt if victory is to be their share of Friday night's battle.

Capt. Glenn Jarrett, the kicking, passing, running halfback star of the Northwesterners, will make considerable trouble for the Dukes Friday night, according to Elmer Layden and Joe Bach, Duquesne mentors, who scouted the North Dakota-Army game last Saturday as the Western team fell before the Cadets, 33 to 6. The score does not indicate the strength of the powerful line and speedy backfield of the North Dakota team, a thing the Dukes will soon discover, Head Coach Layden says.

Dartmouth Paper Flays Green Grid Policy

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 5.—(INS.)—By editorial yesterday The Dartmouth, the student daily newspaper at Dartmouth College, came out strongly against the policy of the Green football teams meeting "setups" in the early season games.

Taking the Yale game as an example, the editorial writer claimed that the Eli eleven went into the contest with an advantage gained by meeting strong teams in the early games. The writer said, "If the Dartmouth team is to be properly conditioned for its big rivalries, it must play colleges capable of giving it a real fight."

Dartmouth played Norwich, Bates, Boston University, and Columbia before its big games with Harvard and Yale. Only Bates held the Indians to a low score.

COUGERS MAY PLAY

University of Michigan, in addition to offering a portion of the receipts of the Chicago game to unemployment aid, also stands ready to furnish the use of its stadium for a prospective post-season clash between Detroit and Michigan State.

Overtures may be made to book an extra benefit attraction involving Washington State's Cougers, at present the unbeaten leading contender for Pacific Coast Conference championship honors. Washington State already has a scheduled Eastern appearance on November 29 at Philadelphia against Villanova. The Cougers might be offered a game the following week in New York against Fordham, leading contender for Eastern championship honors, New York University or Colgate.

CONSIDER CONTEST

DETROIT, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—A proposed charity football game between the University of Detroit and Michigan State College yesterday awaited consideration of the state college officials, with Charles E. Dorais, U. of D. athletic director, announcing himself in favor of the game, but objecting to a change of date from November 22 to Thanksgiving Day.

The game would be played in the University of Michigan Stadium at Ann Arbor.

Michigan State officials, however, said they did not regard the proposal made by Governor Fred W. Green as official, and awaited further communication before taking action on the project.

Detroit and Michigan State have a scheduled game on November 22. Detroit is scheduled to play Georgetown here the Saturday following Thanksgiving. Dorais suggested Friday, November 21, or Sunday, November 23, as possible alternative dates, saying U. of D. officials, in view of the fact that the bulk of the game's receipts would go to charity, were willing for the team to play on Sunday.

are paying too much attention to building up a strong defense and not enough to attack. Chicago has not scored in four straight games, and Princeton has failed to make a point in three of its last four contests.

At Northwestern, Coach Dick Hanley appears to have adopted the policy that the best defense is a powerful offense. Northwestern, though good at any style of attack, features an aerial game, and in Frank Baker is said to have possibly the greatest end in football and one of the best forward pass receivers in the country.

Fidel La Barba

FIDEL LA BARBA, appearing to be headed for the world featherweight fistic throne since his surprisingly decisive victory over Kid Chocolate, has engaged in 60 fights since he entered the ring in 1924. Of these he has won 39 by decisions, seven by knockouts, drawn five and lost seven, two others having been no-decision affairs. Two of his seven defeats were administered by Jimmy McLarnin in 1924 and 1925, two by Johnny Vacca in 1927, and one each by Chocolate, Earl Mastro and Kid Francis in 1929. Two of his five draws were with Newsboy Brown, and one each with McLarnin, Young Nationalista and Clarence Rosen. La Barba defeated Elky Clark for the world flyweight championship in 1927. In the fall of that year he retired to enter Stanford University, but returned to the ring in 1928. He is of Italian ancestry and was 25 years old last September 28.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK,
Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 51.

The Athletics were off to a bad start in the season of 1928 because both Speaker and Cobb were crippled, although playing, and Al Simmons, our rising young star, was afflicted with rheumatism and unable to play.

Connie Mack

I was glad then that I had made the trade for Miller and had resisted all of Jack Dunn's earnest pleadings to send Haas, the young outfielder from Atlanta, to Baltimore.

Haas does not know how near he came to playing in the International League that year. In fact, he actually wore a Baltimore uniform several times on our training trip.

Dunn wanted Haas from the start, and, having so many outfielders quartered at Fort Myers, I was inclined to let Jack have him. I did not feel that I could turn him down after he gave me first choice on so many stars and Dunn needed a good outfielder badly.

The Baltimore club also trained in Florida and we played a half-dozen exhibition games together, and in these games I always loaned Haas to the Baltimore club and he played center field against us.

DUNN SEEKS HAAS

After seeing Haas play, it only increased Dunn's desire to have him. What prevented me turning Haas over to him was Simmons' rheumatism.

Al complained a great deal about his legs and for a while I almost decided to send him to specialists in the North. I felt that Al was considerable of a cipher at the time, as a dependable for the outfield.

In addition, Speaker and Cobb both were lame, although playing a little, and I found that it was impossible to spare Haas, for he and Miller and French were the only fly chasers I had who were in good condition.

So I gave Dunn a bad minute by telling him gently but firmly that under no circumstances could I let Haas get away from me, and it was fortunate I made that resolution.

You must know that I thought at no time that Haas would not fill the bill, but I considered that it was my duty to help out a man desperate for an outfielder who had sent me Grove, Bishop and Boley.

SECOND IN 1928

The Yanks started the 1928 race as they left off in 1927 to pile a lot of distance from its nearest rival.

We managed to be a bad second. On the morning of July 4, the Yanks were 13 games ahead of us. The race had been ruined by the halfway mark and owners looked for slim crowds for the remainder of the season.

We kept pegging away and on July 21 the lead had been pared down to 11 games.

On July 25, we opened our second western trip to the west against Chicago. In the first game Jimmy Foxx, who had been playing different positions, went to third, and Orwoll, who had been pitching, went to first.

With this combination, the Athletics won all four games from the White Sox, although Cobb was hurt in the third game and Haas went to center to stay there for the balance of the year.

In the meantime, Speaker had been benched because of lameness and was confining his activities to coaching from first base. Our lineup at the time consisted of Bishop, second; Haas, center; Cochrane, catcher; Simmons, left; Foxx, third; Miller, right; Orwoll, first; Boley, short, and the pitcher.

BUYS EARNSHAW

For this western trip we had another pitcher available in George L. Earnshaw, the right-handed ace of International League pitchers. We bought him from Baltimore.

For two seasons I had made overtures for Earnshaw, but Jack Dunn always had piped an unrelenting negative in his peculiar voice.

All the time Earnshaw had been wondering whether his baseball career would close in the minors without his ever pitching a ball in the fast set.

Earnshaw was graduated from Swarthmore College and comes of a fine family, and had plenty of ambition, and he as much as told Dunn that he would quit baseball the next year unless he was sent to the majors.

Thereupon Dunn sold him to me early in the month of July for $80,000 in cash, no players being involved. As in some of the previous big deals, I remunerated Dunn in several payments instead of paying the entire amount at once.

PAYS DUNN HUGE SUM

That boosted the sum I had paid Dunn for players in a few seasons to the huge total of $265,600, as follows:

Bishop	$ 20,000
Grove	100,600
Boley	65,000
Earnshaw	80,000
Total	$265,000

I again want to point out that all of these deals represented cold cash, not one player from us being involved in the four transactions.

All-Marine Teams Ordered Abandoned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—An order for the discontinuance of the all-Marine football and baseball teams was issued today by Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, Marine Corps commandant.

In place of the all-team, post teams will be maintained at Quantico, Virginia, Paris Island, South Carolina and San Diego, Cal.

Maj. David L. Brewster, Marine Corps athletic officer, said the change would not necessarily do away with the President's cup game played each year.

Through elimination contests, the best team will be selected to meet the Coast Guard teams in the annual President's cup game.

PENN SETS GRID CARD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The University of Pennsylvania will play nine football games next year, with only two changes over this season's opponents, the Council on Athletics has announced.

The newcomers are Franklin and Marshall and Lafayette, which take the place of Virginia and Kansas, respectively, the holdovers are Swarthmore, Lehigh, Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Cornell and Navy.

All games will be played at Franklin Field with the exception of Notre Dame. Penn will meet the Ramblers at South Bend November 7. The scheduled dates are:

October 3, Swarthmore; October 10, Franklin and Marshall; October 17, Lehigh; October 24, Wisconsin; October 31, Lafayette; November 7, Notre Dame; November 14, Georgia Tech; November 26, Cornell; December 5, Navy.

CARNEGIE HOLDS GRID EDGE

same eleven that squared off against the Cornhuskers.

The Tipoff

Two football scouts of a well-known Eastern school, both of 'em stars in their own right not so many, many years ago, were discussing modern football yesterday.

There is nothing secret about this—the boys were Red Godden and Al Irwin, Tartan luminaries when a luminary at Tech was a luminary indeed.

"I don't think these football players today have as much fun in the games as we used to have," remarked Mr. Godden.

"I remember one day we were playing against Herb Kopf. Herb was getting a lot of all-America mention right at that time, and the papers had been comparing him and Konvolinka to Don Potter and myself, and giving the Prexies the edge.

"We came down to the last quarter, and Herb and I were having at hot and heavy. 'Hey, Herb,' I yelled, 'do you think it is going to rain?'

"'How should I know?' Kopf came back. 'Do I look like a weather man?'

"'No, Herbie, but you've been spending all afternoon on your back looking up. I guess you ought to have that sky pretty well figured out by now.'

"And do you know," Red continued, "Herb wasn't worth a hoot for the rest of the ball game."

LAST FOR SAVOLDI

Because he played three minutes of the Georgia Tech game in 1928, Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's fullback, must wind up his varsity career this year. It was the only game he played in that season.

Speaking of Mr. Red Godden, it might be interesting to some of his friends to know that he entertained a few of the boys with a little red dog session coming back from Nebraska last week.

When in Chicago, you miss half the fun if you are not acquainted with the young Corcorans, the young Elliotts and the young Browns. Bob Kennaire is as fine a chap as you'd wish to meet and Charley Hollerand and Emil are hosts of rare attainment.

LaBarba May Meet Bat Battalino

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—Fidel LaBarba, Los Angeles featherweight, who shook the boxing world with a sensational defeat over Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, may meet Battalino, featherweight champion, in a title bout here December 12. Something definite regarding LaBarba's plans was expected today when he visits Madison Square Garden.

It was understood that the the event Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and Max Baer, coast heavyweight, are not signed for a bout in the Garden December 12, the Battalino-LaBarba scrap would be sought.

If Battalino declines to meet the Los Angeles boxer, the Garden plans a series of featherweight elimination fights. The first of these would bring together Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, and some worthy opponent late this month. LaBarba may be selected to meet Taylor.

The Chocolate-LaBarba fight drew a gross gate of $56,000, Madison Square Garden announced today. LaBarba received $12,000 and Chocolate $14,400, the coast boxer getting 25 per cent of the net and the Cuban 30 per cent.

W. & J. Prepares For Bucknell Game

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 5.—Head Coach Bill Amos yesterday started intensive preparation in the W. & J. camp for the next game with the strong Bucknell eleven at the Pitt Stadium, November 15. Playing against some of the strongest elevens in the East, Bucknell has established a fine record.

The Wash-Jeff squad has been badly crippled for some weeks but Coach Amos hopes that during the two week period that his mainstays will get back into condition.

BONDS STILL CONSIDERED GOOD BUY

Apparently Recent Setback Temporary; Long-Term Upswing Resumed

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Apparently the recent setback in high grade bond prices was temporary, and the longer-term upward swing has been resumed. There is nothing in the economic fundamentals yet which warrants revocation of the oft-repeated advice to buy bonds.

Mr. Rukeyser

The investor who is building his portfolio for the years rather than for the next few months, will, in my opinion, get the best lasting results from a balanced diet of adequate insurance, long-term bonds, preferred stock and selected common shares.

Moreover, a study of economic history indicates that it is prudent toward the tail end of a sharp depression period to consider increasing the ratio of equity securities (or common stocks) held. A good hedge against premature acquisition of common stocks can be obtained through the purchase of sound convertible bonds, or bonds with warrants, which give the security and protection of a bond, which benefits from prevailing low interest rates, and also gives a contingent participation in future profits through the conversion or warrant feature.

The canny investor has learned that the behavior of stock prices is paradoxical. He sometimes reasons as follows: "Current corporate earnings are poor, compared with a year ago, and the near term outlook is not especially brilliant. The bad news is out, and has been well advertised. Therefore, this is a good time to analyze stocks to search for bargains."

STOCK SELECTION

In warning clients against indiscriminate stock purchases merely because prices are lower than they have been, a leading statistical service astutely points out:

"Stocks representing concerns which are likely to recover comparatively slowly (if at all) from the effects of the present depression should be avoided altogether—even if present prices represent only a fraction of levels previously attained. A high yield, in itself, should not be taken as a buying indication. Much more satisfactory results will probably be obtained from shares of companies which have been affected only to a moderate extent by present unsatisfactory general conditions, even if such issues are not among the cheapest available on the basis of yield and earnings.

"In all cases, a substantial reserve should be held in liquid form—either in cash or in readily marketable bonds and preferred shares of the highest investment caliber.

"As indicated by the recent sharp curtailment in brokers' loans, equity shares generally are now in strong hands. Public buying power has not been exhausted, and, with a change in the extremely pessimistic psychological attitude which is now predominant, could undoubtedly attain impressive proportions."

Technical statistical indicators in Wall street lead to the conclusion that in recent weeks the character of the buying has been better in quality than the selling. Not only has there been a drastic shrinkage in brokers' loans, but the decline in loans has been more than proportionate to the deflation in stock prices. This means that stocks to some considerable extent have passed from the hands of marginal speculators to outright investors. A decline in brokers' loans for five successive weeks has brought the total down to the lowest level attained since June 9, 1926, and within $103,000,000 of the smallest total recorded since publication of the data started in January, 1926.

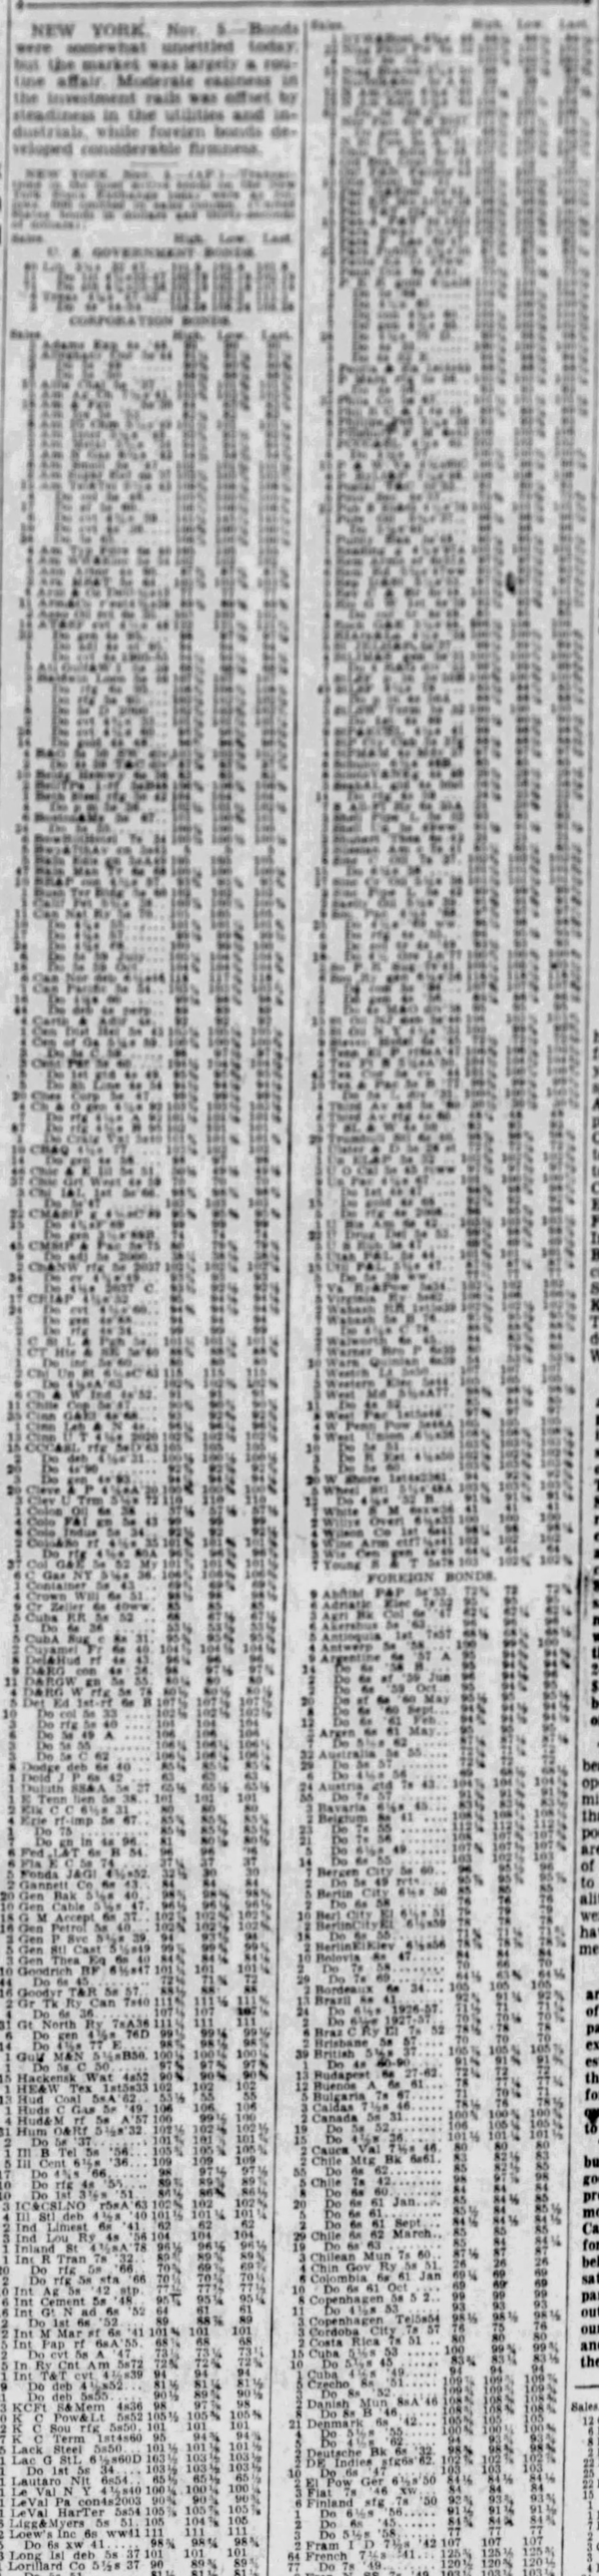
NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Bonds were somewhat unsettled today, but the market was largely a routine affair. Moderate easiness in the investment rails was offset by steadiness in the utilities and industrials, while foreign bonds developed considerable firmness.



Stock Exchange Topics

Wall Street Uncertain On Near-Term Trend In Stock Prices.

With the elections out of the way, Wall street remains in as uncertain a frame of mind as ever as regards the near term course of price movements. Monday's meaningless session revealed little other than that liquidation in special issues has not yet been completed, as evidenced in the fresh decline to new low levels of such stocks as Burroughs Adding Machine, Simmons and Timken Roller Bearing. This confirms recent statements a number of "special situations" have yet to be disposed of and while these are overhanging the market important price advances cannot be expected.

Certain market interests are pointing out an increasing number of issues have of late virtually ignored the general market's reactionary course. This is an encouraging sign that lends color to the conviction of several important observers the market is now in the final stage of the 14-month-old bear movement. Another opinion tending toward the same conclusion points out there is a steady improvement in fundamental factors essential to ultimate revival. Inventories are low, there is a closer balance between production and consumption, commodity prices give indication of having reached a point of relative stability.

A list of 25 companies which have reported larger net income for the first nine months of this year, as compared with the corresponding period of 1929, includes American Chicle, American Telephone and Telegraph, Anchor Cap Corporation, Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, Briggs Manufacturing, Chicago Great Western, City Ice and Fuel, Commonwealth Edison, Cream of Wheat, Fox Film, General Foods, Houston Oil, Industrial Rayon, International Business Machines, National Biscuit, Paramount Publix, Public Service of Northern Illinois, Radio Keith Orpheum, Scott Paper, Telautograph Corporation, Waldorf System, White Rock and William Wrigley Company.

That activities in the field of aviation have been curtailed proportionate to those in other industries in the course of the slump is evident from the report of the United Aircraft and Transport Company. For the September quarter this company reports net of $1,149,614 after charges, equivalent to 46 cents a share on the no-par value common stock as against $2,-236,332, or $1.48 a share in the same quarter last year. For the nine months net of $3,252,145 was equal to $1.30 a share on the common stock against $7,-249,837 or the equivalent of $3.74 a share on a smaller number of shares in the same period of 1929.

The action of certain stocks bears out the contention that pool operations have been reduced to a minimum. A floor member says that he knows of two or three pools in certain stocks that still are intact, but that the members of such pools are making no effort to mark up their respective specialities. A number of bull pools that were formed earlier in the year have been dissolved, most of the members accepting losses.

Arriving from Europe, Howard Williams, European director of National Cash Register Company, stated that cash register export sales for October had established another record and that from present indications, foreign sales for the remaining quarter of 1930 would continue to show a satisfactory trend. "Cash Register's European business outlook," he said, "is good considering general depression that is prevailing in most countries. Up to October, Cash Register's overseas sales for 1930 were only 2 per cent behind 1929, which was a highly satisfactory year for the company's foreign operations. The outlook for continued gain in our overseas business is bright and I confidently look for further improvement."

Allegheny Steel Net Covers Dividends

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

ALLEGHENY STEEL Corporation reported net profit of $1,494,145 for the nine months ended September 30, 1930. After deducting preferred dividends this was equivalent to $2.16 a share on 610,540 shares of common stock and covered regular and extra dividend requirements for the period.

Earnings for the full year will be less than in 1929 when $3,311,492 or $5.04 a share was earned. The decline is not exceptional in comparison with the results of other steel companies, many of which have suffered far more severely from the business depression. In 1928, $2,193,235 or $7.32 a share was earned on 268,485 shares outstanding at that time.

In May, 1929, the company acquired the West Penn Steel Company which has a plant adjoining the Allegheny Steel operations at Brackenridge. Holders of West Penn preferred were given two shares of Allegheny common or $110 in cash for each share. Holders of each share of West Penn common was offered 7½ shares of Allegheny common.

Wide Range of Products

THE COMPANY MAKES a wide range of products and is not dependent on any single industry for its business. Its output includes steel sheets, slabs, billet, plates, boiler tubes, castings skelp, special alloy steel and special hot pressed steel in the form of freight car journal box lids, spring plates and other parts.

In the field of alloys the company has made particularly great strides in recent years. The market for Allegheny Metal, a rust resisting steel alloy which will take and retain a high polish, has been developed at a rapid pace. The applications of this product include cooking utensils, hardware, restaurant equipment, tubular products and trim parts for automobiles.

The use of the material by the automobile industry is being rapidly increased but, due to the low production of cars this year, it was not as apparent in the earnings of Allegheny Steel as it will be in the future. The metal is being used for hub caps, radiator shells, lamps, running board trim, door hinges, door handles and other parts formerly made from chromium plated brass.

Analysis of Yield

THE COMPANY PAYS regular monthly dividends of 15 cents, making a total of $1.80 a year and in addition declares frequent extras. This year extra dividends of 25 cents each were paid in April, July and October. This will make the total dividends for the present year $2.55 a share if there are no additional extras? It is difficult to compute the yield of the stock since future extras will undoubtedly depend on the trend of industrial activity. The stock currently sells for about 48 a share. The three extras and the regular payments made this year would give a yield of 5.3 per cent.

The acquisition of West Penn Steel and the accompanying increase in capitalization last year make the company's annual reports for recent years not comparative. In a recent report to the New York Stock Exchange, however, combined earnings of Allegheny and West Penn were shown. On the basis of the present capitalization these were equivalent to $5.29 a share in 1929, $3.51 a share in 1928, and $2.56 a share in 1927, indicating an average for the three years of $3.79 a share. The stock is now selling for 12.6 times this average of earnings.

No Funded Debt

WITH PHYSICAL properties carried at $18,279,530 before depreciation of $5,584,255 at the end of 1929, the company has no funded debt and only $3,342,600 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock outstanding. Total assets amounted to $30,559,518 with no provision made for patents or good will.

The financial position was exceptionally strong at the close of 1929, indicating that the company has ample resources to provide for expansion or to carry dividends over a lean period in the business. Current assets of $11,417,608 compared with current liabilities of only $2,414,374. United States government securities amounted to $3,347,036 and exceeded all current liabilities. Cash amounted to $708,349 and other marketable securities stood at $1,209,678.

MANY STOCKS MAKE LOWS FOR YEAR

1 to 4 Point Losses Common; List Given Little Support; Liquidation Volume Modest

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The stock market resumed its quiet decline today, finding little cheer in the election returns, or the trade news appearing since trading was suspended on Monday.

Liquidation was for the most part in the modest volume, but the list was virtually without support, and a long list of prominent shares, including United States Steel, penetrated new low ground. Losses ranged from 1 to 4 points in prominent shares, with a few issues declining 5 to 10.

Utilities and industrial specialties displayed conspicuous weakness. American Water Works lost nearly 4 and North American dropped 3 points to new low ground. Eastman Kodak, a recent weak feature, tumbled more than 10 to a new low, and Allied Chemical lost nearly as much. Shares declining about 3 to 4 points to new minimum prices included United States Steel, Byers, Westinghouse Electric and Du Pont. Other shares selling off 2 to more than 3 included American Can, American Telephone, Johns Manville and United Aircraft. Sinclair sold at 10, off 4 points and a new low, with a transaction of 6,000 shares.

ELECTION EFFECT

The election news was received by the market at a time when its position was widely regarded as shaky, so that it was difficult to estimate the importance of the Democratic victories as a market influence. Wall street had expected extensive Democratic gains, although they exceeded expectations in some quarters.

There was probably considerable bear selling by traders who felt that the indicated even balance of power in Congress promised two years of legislative uncertainty. Furthermore, the victory of candidates favoring strict control of public utilities presumably had an adverse influence on those shares.

The most favorable aspect of the day's news was the report of freight car loadings for the week ended October 25, showing a gain of 28,250 cars over the previous week. The total, however, was still the lowest since 1921, and the increase was largely due to an enlarged movement of coal, a seasonal development at this time.

The weekly steel trade reviews, as expected, indicated further curtailment of ingot output. Iron Age estimated production for the industry at 48 per cent of capacity, the lowest since the mid-year shutdowns for inventory.

PRICES HOLDING

Finished steel prices seemed to be holding well, but steel scrap prices sagged further. Petroleum production was again reduced last week, but further price cuts were announced.

The Stock Exchange's report of member borrowings at the end of October, showing a drop of more than $925,000,000 in the month, reducing the total to approximately $2,500,000,000, or about $6,000,000,000 below the high level of September, 1929, failed to stabilize the market, although it provided another striking example of the extent of the deflation accomplished. Security loans by banks, however, have still not been reduced nearly as far.

The report of the weekly reporting Federal Reserve member banks showed loans against securities of $8,087,000,000, off $85,000,000 in the week, and $1,222,000,000 under a year ago. Call money held at 2 per cent.

HAYES-CENTRAL OHIO IN DEAL

Hayes Body Corporation has offered to purchase the Central Ohio Steel Corporation. Holders of the 32,000 common shares of the latter organization have been offered Hayes Body 10-year 6 per cent bonds in exchange for their stock on a basis of $26.50 par value of bonds for each share.

The bonds will be a new issue of which $1,000,000 will be authorized. About $848,000 will be required to secure the Central Ohio stock.

Deposit of 90 per cent of the stock with the Colonial Trust Company by November 15 will be required to make the merger plan operative.

Central Ohio, with a plant at Galion, O., makes dump bodies for automobile trucks and steel grave vaults. Hayes Body makes automobile bodies in a plant at Iona and Grand Rapids, Mich., and at Indianapolis, Ind.

The Hayes bonds, maturing November 1, 1940, will be callable at 105 until November 1, 1935, and at a premium of 1 per cent less in each succeeding year. They will be convertible into Hayes Body stock at $15 a share until November 1, 1932. The stock of Central Ohio will be deposited with the Colonial Trust Company as collateral for the bonds.

Du Pont Enlarges Building Program

WILMINGTON, Nov. 5.—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. has enlarged its program for the employment of labor in a way which will help materially to relieve the present unemployment situation.

In addition to the building projects already under way, it plans to crowd into the next six months work on plant repairs, renewals and replacements which ordinarily would be carried over a much longer period. Attention of its operating divisions and subsidiaries has been directed to the advantages, in the matter of comparatively low material costs and abundance of outside labor, of immediately undertaking plant repairs, renewals and replacements.

October Oil Well Completions Higher

OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 5.—The Derrick says new oil wells completed east of the Rockies during October numbered 1,572, with initial production of 900,642 barrels. In September there were 1,553 completions, with initial production of 1,049,123. October initial production in Oklahoma was 300,000 barrels less than in September. There were 529 dry holes and 283 gassers reported in October. At the end of October there were 3,412 rigs building and wells drilling, a loss of 185 compared with September.

Jersey Standard Reduces Gasoline

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Effective 7 a. m., November 4, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey posted price reductions of 1 cent a gallon on retail price of gasoline throughout its entire marketing territory. Tank wagon price remains unchanged.

On September 24, to meet competition, the company placed in effect throughout its marketing territory reductions of 2 cents a gallon in service station and tank wagon prices of gasoline.

Texas Oil Company Posts Reductions

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 5.—(AP.)—The Texas Company has posted a reduction in North Louisiana, North Texas, North Central Texas, Gray and Carson-Hutchinson counties, it was announced.

B grade Gulf Coast has been reduced to 40 gravity and above as the top grade, with a price of $1.22 a barrel. Forty-four and above formerly carried a posted price of $1.30.

Smackover crude, all grades now carries a price of 70 cents a barrel, a cut of 20 cents a barrel on below 24 gravity and a drop of 35 cents on above 24 gravity.

Decrease Reported In Bank Resources

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—National bank resources on September 24 amounted to $28,378,683,000, a decrease of $737,856,000 since June 30, but an increase of $454,373,000 in a year, Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole announced today.

The number of banks at the last call was 7,197, on June 30, 7,252, and October 4, 1929, 7,473.

Loans and discounts September 24 were $14,653,078,000, decreases for the three and 12 months periods of $234,674,000 and $308,799,000 respectively.

Large Textile Mills Resume Operations

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Four of the largest textile mill groups in the Piedmont Section, S. C., return to full daytime operation after a period of curtailment. The mills will operate 55 hours a week.

Stock Membership Sells at $240,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat at $240,000, up $8,000 from the last previous sales.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—All deliveries were down today to new low price records here. Bearish crop reports from Australia and likewise from Argentina were largely responsible. Austraian official forecasts of wheat yield were hoisted 10,000,000 bushels above latest previous estimates. Opening 3/8@1 1/2 cents off, Chicago wheat future deliveries recovered later, but rallies failed to hold well. Corn started unchanged to 3/4 cent down, and subsequently scored material gains.

An official announcement said a wheat crop of 210,000,000 this season was in prospect for Australia, compared with 123,000,000 bushels last year. Argentina simultaneously sent messages that the wheat crop outlook in Argentina was excellent. This statement, however, was accompanied by word that the weather in Argentina was hot and rainy conditions likely to promote rust, and that last year between November 13 and November 20 rust damage became definite and increasingly pronounced.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Small recessions and bull trading went hand in hand on the curb market today. Whatever post-election selling there was seemed to be largely of the short variety and was directed against special issues rather than the general list.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Forbes

Morrow Drinks 'Dry'; Faith Sells Motor Cars

By B. C. FORBES

WHEN DWIGHT W. MORROW was recently confined to his home by a cold, he was visited by a man of prominence, elderly and slightly deaf. The ex-ambassador received him very informally in a room joining his bedroom. The visitor accepted an invitation for lunch. Presently Gen. Morrow, the Senatorial candidate's brother, arrived.

Mr. Forbes

Summoning a servant, Mr. Morrow said something which the visitor interpreted as, "Get a set-up for three." The visitor, somewhat embarrassed, started to explain that two set-ups would be enough. When Morrow caught the point, he burst into laughter. Explaining that he had ordered the table set for three lunches—not the other—he added, "I see they are calling me a wet, but I always drink dry."

WILLIAM ROBERT WILSON, vice president, Reo Motor Company, tells me:

"Improvement is with us right now, and becoming more marked daily. People are going to continue to eat, play, buy clothes, buy food, buy homes, etc. The use of automobiles didn't decline. People only delayed buying—but they will buy.

"We had merely been content to wait—to retrench under pressure of economic conditions—somebody might be filling in the trench on top of us. Instead, we spent money, brought in new men, new ideas, coordinated these with the old, planned new vehicles, brought in machinery to build these cars, laid out plans to introduce them—all of which involved expenditures. As a result, however, people are buying Reos. We have not only kept our organization intact and of high spirit, but have enlarged and strengthened it. We are already beginning to harvest the fruits of that faith."

Reo shipped 2,365 passenger cars in October, a gain of 230 per cent over September and 112 per cent over October of last year.

President S. H. Berch, of the Creameries of America, who has been visiting New York, tells me that he has just acquired the Honolulu Dairymen's Association. Ltd., for approximately $2,000,000. He thinks New York is over-doing pessimism childishly. The state of any business, he contends, is largely what its directing heads make it. The availability of unlimited funds at low rates for legitimate constructive purposes is bound to stimulate the revival of enterprise, he reasons. Now is the time to expand, he declares, because bargain prices rule.

In 1920 it took 9,500 General Electric operators to produce 207,000,000 lamps, whereas last year fewer than 4,000 produced 389,000,000.

But new activities have absorbed more than the number of lamp workers released. By 1928 General Electric factories producing radio tubes employed nearly 50 per cent more labor than the lamp factories had dispensed with. The combined radio tube and lamp industries now employ many more than in 1920.

N. H. Boynton, of the National Lamp Works, Cleveland, in giving me these facts, suggests that the enormous gains in lamp sales probably have been due in part to the fact that since 1914 Mazda lamp prices have been reduced 12 times, or more than 50 per cent.

Low prices axiomatically stimulate sales. Price cutting can be either ruinous or helpful. We see ruinous price cutting in various important commodities today. But many retail prices could be reduced with advantage to all.

The New York Evening Journal has issued a booklet with a striking Opper cartoon, showing Father Knickerbocker reading the announcement, "On Deposit in New York City Savings banks, $3,550,000,000," and exclaiming, "This is terrible! I'm ruined!"

Many besides New York think they are ruined when, as a matter of fact, only their mental attitude has been ruined.

Buck up!

WEEK'S GRAIN EXPORTS UP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Grain exports from the United States in the week ending November 1 totaled 1,175,00 bushels, as compared with 783,000 bushels in the preceding week and 2,389,000 bushels in the corresponding week of 1929.

Wheat exports reported to the Commerce Department were 859,000 bushels during the week ending November 1, against 666,000 in the preceding week; barley, 294,000, against 65,000; corn, 21,000, against 50,000; oats, 1,000, against; no exports rye were reported.

Canadian grains in transit cleared from United States Atlanic ports totaled 1,341,000 bushels in the week ending November 1, against 1,199,000 bushels the preceding week; Canadian wheat flour shipped from United States ports totaled 27,000 barrels, against 33,000 and United States wheat flour exported amounted to 227,000 barrels, against 256,000.

STEEL OUTLOOK STILL VAGUE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

October proved another month of sharp curtailment of pig iron production. Total output was 2,164,768 tons, compared with 3,276,770 tons in September, while the daily rate, at 69,831 tons, fell 8 per cent below that of the previous month and reached the lowest level for any October since 1921.

Sixteen furnaces were blown out during the month and only four were lighted, making a net loss of 12. This marks the seventh consecutive reduction in active capacity and brings the total number of producing stacks down to 111, or 74 fewer than on April 1, at the beginning of the decline. On November 1, pig iron was being made at a rate of 85,265 tons a day.

While November is still too young to give any clear indications as to the trend of pig iron production, current reports on steel plant operations are not assuring. Further retrenchment at Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and in the East have brought average ingot output down to 45 per cent, compared with 50 per cent a week ago.

The steel trade still clings to the opinion that production is close to bottom, counting on increased railroad buying, together with a possible gain in structural steel awards, to offset losses in tin plate and line pipe tonnage. Developments of the week tend to support this view.

New structural steel projects, at 104,000 tons, are the largest for any week since June. Both public works and utility programs are being expedited in an effort to relieve unemployment.

Automobile output in October probably did not exceed 280,000 cars for the United States and Canada, compared with 231,000 in September, and the chances of a gain in November depend mainly upon the rapidity with which the Chevrolet company gets into production on its new models. The Cleveland plant of the Fisher Body Corporation is now turning out 15,000 unassembled Chevrolet bodies a week, and the Chevrolet company has issued specifications for a large tonnage of automobile body sheets for December shipment.

Scrap markets continue to weaken, with heavy melting grade off 50 cents a ton at Pittsburgh and Chicago and 25 cents at St. Louis and Cleveland. The Iron Age composite price for heavy melting steel scrap has declined from $12.25 to $11.92 a gross ton, the lowest level since April, 1921.

Neither pig iron nor finished steel prices have shown further changes of importance.

CAR LOADINGS UP FOR WEEK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Revenue freight loadings for the week ending October 25 were reported by the American Railway Association yesterday as having totaled 959,335 cars. This was an increase of 28,250 cars above the preceding week, but a reduction of 175,025 below the same week last year. Miscellaneous freight loadings for he week amounted to 366,230 cars, a decrease of 86,597 under the same week a year ago.

Loadings of merchandise in less than carload lots aggregated 240,008 cars, a decrease of 30,406; coal loadings, 192,104, decrease, 12,343; forest productions, 38,929, decrease, 23,705; ore, 35,968, decrease, 14,260; coke, 9,218, decrease, 2,807; grain and grain products, 41,517, decrease, 1,496; livestock, 32,361, decrease, 3,411.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'That Way'

"Where the such-and-such, so-and-so does this guy, Wally Chinwell, get all his hot dope from?" Tom Ogden demanded.

"Don't split infinitives, and how do you know that the person is addicted to drugs?" Mrs. Imogene Valdorn drawled.

Mrs. Valdorn was Tom's sister, who had torn herself away from the loftily serene environs of Boston's Beacon Street to visit him.

"Who said he used drugs?" Tom asked.

"You asked where he procured his supply of dope, which is a colloquialism for drugs."

"Ha!" exclaimed Tom, "you aren't so erudite yourself, which will cheer you with the thought that I have a few words left. 'Dope' may also mean inside information,' and remember that Wally Chinwell isn't a person, he is a personage."

"Indeed?"

"Oh, come now, 'Gene, leave the snooty stuff for others; don't Back-Bay me with a line like that. When Chinwell made that crack in his column about the Downing-Abbotts cheerfully anticipating a blessed event, I recall that you knew something about his column. I was out there at the time and you telephoned to congratulate Molly about it before I had even been up long enough to read the paper."

"You sleep forenoons."

Comments on Picture

Imogine Valdorn smiled at her brother, however, much as one would smile at a precocious child. She had never approved his going to New York to establish a bachelor's hall for himself, when he might have remained in Boston and married Persis Ames or Judith Lawrence or Priscilla Cabot.

"To get back to where we started, I observed that this Wally Chinwell was a wonder in gathering news."

"News!" Mrs. Valdorn sniffed. She walked across to a hideously modernistic piece of furniture and picked up a framed photograph.

"Pretty girl—someone I should know?" he asked.

"Not necessarily, 'Gene."

Mrs. Valdorn elevated her patrician eyebrows.

"One doesn't bring photographs of their —er—er—into the home," she said, severely.

"One does if he chooses, only this young lady doesn't happen to be my 'er—er.' She is the Contessa d'Anzetti."

"Ah!"

Mrs. Valdorn examined the photograph with more interest. "I should have guessed that she was a young lady of rank and birth—it cannot be disguised."

"'Rank and birth' is right, 'Gene. She was born, as you may have suspected, and she was certainly rank enough—as a singer. That's why they took her out of the chorus, took off such few clothes as she wore and posed her as the heart of a blush rose in one of the Follies of not so terribly long ago. She was known as Dawne Fairland after that. Her real name was Deborah Hogarty."

Sister Leaves

And so Tom Ogden's married sister went back to her beloved Boston, and Tom went on his joyous way in New York, more amused than annoyed over his sister's frantic efforts to make him come home and marry one of "our group."

Lee Landsdowne was a rather cute little chorus girl.

Tom knew quite a lot about Lee. He did not think it necessary to tell Phil. Lee's name was Nora Giddings. Perhaps she was no saint, but she wasn't such a bad little girl, after all. Her father was a policeman and proud and trustful of her.

One night Phil had been celebrating too much.

"Take care of Lee. I'm fading," he whispered to Tom.

"Fading?"

"Passing out." He smothered a hiccough. Tom noticed he was developing a greenish complexion. Phil usually handled his wet goods with grace and dignity. Phil "faded." Tom made no attempt to make excuses. He told Lee just what the trouble was.

"Phil's a dear—and a gentleman," Lee remarked.

She and Tom remained several hours, to see the new floor show and to dance.

Wally Chinwell dropped in and saw them. He had seen them a couple of times before without being interested. But this looked as though Tommy Ogden was deeply interested. If he could be a little more sure of it, it would mean one more lively little paragraph for his gossip column.

He asked Skeets Ferguson about them. Skeets knew a lot and was proud of it. He liked to pretend that he knew a lot more.

"Sure," Skeets assured Chinwell, "they're nerts about each other, onna level."

The next morning, in the midst of sundry and mighty interesting paragraphs in Wally Chinwell's column, was this:

". . . the adamant heart of that typical young-man-about-town, Tom Ogden, has softened at last. He is that way about little Lee Landsdowne."

Tom read it and laughed.

Phil Henderson read it and also laughed.

Mrs. Imogene Valdorn read it and shuddered.

And a certain young man read it and swore profusely, horribly and vengefully.

Mrs. Valdorn rushed down to New York with her husband to "save" Tom. She had wired him that she would arrive on the midnight train. He had promptly wired back, "You will find me at the 'Pink Panther'." She knew the place because he had taken her there, and he couldn't very well break his appointment with Dillwell and some others, because he had money invested in some of their productions and this was the best time to "talk shop" with them.

Identity Sought

Dillwell and the others had not arrived when Tom got there. He sat talking with Phil Henderson and Lee Lansdowne while waiting. A young man came over to him after a waiter had pointed Tom out.

"May I speak with you alone, sir," he said, grimly.

Tom followed him across to a small corner table and stared hard at the prettiest girl he had ever hoped to see.

"Are you Mr. Ogden?" she asked.

Tom assured her.

"Do you know me? Did you ever see me before?" she demanded.

"Unfortunately, I never saw you before, and I consider all previous time to a blank, to have been utterly wasted," Tom said, gravely.

"There!" she cried, to the grave young man.

"Did you ever see him before?" he asked her.

"Never," she said.

The young man turned to Tom and apologized.

"My sister doesn't lie, naturally. I have blundered in some way. You see, our name—my sister's name, is Lee Landsdowne, and Chinwell, in his column, stated that you were 'that way' with her."

Tom sat right down and explained. He took them over and introduced them to Nora Giddings, known in the chorus as Lee Landsdowne. He went back to their table. His sister and her husband arrived. Tom got a larger table and started to introduce them.

"Oh," cried Mrs. Valdorn, "you must be of the Landsdownes, of Charlottville. I've been at your Aunt Jean's home there."

There was a great deal more talk. Tom neglected his Dillwell conference.

And by this time Wally Chinwell, the demon columnist, was correct once more.

Tom Ogden and little Lee Landsdowne were "that way" about each other.

Dear Sir—
Week in, week out, you grimly flout
That word "Tycoon." I'd just as soon
You left it out.
I try and try to pass it by,
I merely grit my teeth a bit,
And breathe a sigh.
But soon, I think, I'll reach the brink
Of sudden rage and set my age—
O spare me, Gink!
By sparing me, it's plain to see,
You stop such verse as this (and worse)

Mr. Pinchot's Victory

He Won Because He Symbolized the Popular Feeling That a Number of Public Utilities Were Unfair.

Gifford Pinchot appears, on the face of the available returns, to have been elected Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Hemphill conducted a clean, aggressive campaign. He and his managers are to be congratulated on the wonderful showing they made. If, at the start, Mr. Hemphill had not appeared to be the candidate of certain utility concerns and coal companies, the result might have been different.

The big vote for Mr. Hemphill showed what widespread popular resentment against the prohibition law abides in the Pennsylvania electorate. The full strength of this resentment did not vote for Mr. Hemphill because there was the apparent inconsistency of the anti-drys' neglecting candidates for Senate and House (where the prohibition battle will be fought), and confining all their efforts to the candidate for governor.

Mr. Pinchot won his victory because he symbolized the popular feeling that a number of public utility companies, abetted by the Public Service Commission, were gouging the people with unfair rates. On this rock he stood, and from this unassailable position he won the fight.

From the Pinchot standpoint, the rest of the campaign was pretty much of a failure. Mr. Pinchot lost his temper on several occasions and did not help himself by calling his opponents bootleggers and bartenders and assuming that all the business men who opposed him were engaged in profiteering. As a matter of fact, the voters who cast their ballots for Mr. Hemphill were just as good Americans as those who voted for Mr. Pinchot. In their minds, the prohibition enforcement farce was the biggest thing in the campaign. And many business men whose lives and works have been a credit to their communities and to their state, honestly believed that the election of Pinchot would hurt business conditions generally and, of course, with this belief they had no other course to take but vote for Mr. Hemphill.

Some day, a little nearer the millennium than 1930, we will have a candidate who will say to the people of Pennsylvania, in effect: "Here is my program: here is what I hope to be able to accomplish. My opponent may have a better program and may be a better man than I. You must judge. Certainly, I cannot quarrel with anyone for preferring my opponent to me. Please select the candidate and the program that seems best to you."

The Sun-Telegraph supported Mr. Pinchot. First, because he had given the state one honest, satisfactory, decent administration. Second, because he alone seemed to sense the danger of continuing the Public Service Commission's protection of public utility profits at the expense of community welfare and normal progress. Third, because the anti-dry movement centering on the candidate for governor seemed insincere in that it entirely neglected the candidate for senator and candidates for the national Congress.

If Mr. Pinchot will remember he is Governor of all the people of Pennsylvania, and not attempt to punish those who honestly opposed him in this election, and will give as scant attention to Mr. Grundy as he did the last time he was elected, he will be in a position to carry out the constructive program that he has outlined. In his campaign, he said little or nothing about prohibition, and that question will hardly come before him. If, by a wild chance, the legislature should vote for a referendum on the liquor question, it is conceivable that Mr. Pinchot, as Governor, would not oppose but approve such a move. Mr. Pinchot has preached the virtues of Theodore Roosevelt's "initiative, referendum and recall" platform for many years. How he could consistently oppose an honest referendum would be hard to understand.

On the question of the obsolete Sunday Blue Law, it is to be hoped that Governor Pinchot will be open-minded. It is known that Mr. Pinchot, himself, plays tennis on Sunday sometimes, and many of his friends believe that he will not oppose a change in the Sunday laws that will provide Sunday recreation for the poor as well as for the rich if only the sanctity of the day is safeguarded. An early expression from Mr. Pinchot on this matter would be very welcome.

Now the election's over, let's get down to work! Business will be a welcome substitute for politics from now on!

Election Cheating

Severe Punishment of the Crooks is a Remedy That Has Not Been Tried Yet.

It was noticed in the papers yesterday:

That, according to the Recount Board which has been investigating the primary election in Allegheny County, one-fourth of the ballots examined were illegal, and several districts had more votes than voters.

That 85 election officers in Philadelphia are charged with frauds at the primary.

That the members of six election boards in Luzerne County are under indictment for election frauds.

These samples indicate how widespread is election cheating.

They show how important it is that voting machines shall be placed in service with the least possible delay.

For years there has been a loud outcry in Pennsylvania against election cheating, but it has gone on just the same.

The courts may be at least partly to blame. The judges, often elected by the very organizations which instigated and profited by the frauds, have blustered a good deal about the iniquity of it, but, in cases of conviction, have not treated it as a very serious crime. Severe punishment has rarely been applied.

Our Crowded Colleges

The Demand for Higher Education Raises Some Important Questions.

Pennsylvania has 53 colleges.

That would seem to be enough; yet most of them have reported to the Department of Public Instruction that applications for entrance this fall were in excess of the available facilities.

The 53 report total enrollment of 71,621 students, of whom 21,488 are attending Pittsburgh's colleges—10,787 at Pitt, 6,577 at Carnegie, 3,413 at Duquesne, and 311 at Pennsylvania College for Women.

The University of Pennsylvania leads in enrollment, with 15,840 students, and Dropsie, also in Philadelphia, is at the foot of the list with 21. In between are scores of colleges with enrollment of less than 1,000, scattered throughout the predominantly rural counties. It is they that need additional facilities most.

There are thoughtful persons who do not regard with favor the universal demand for higher education. They say it will result in overcrowding of the "white collar" professions. The economic laws of supply and demand will correct that. And it is desirable that laborers should be well educated as well as "white collar" men.

What a Difference an Imaginary Line Makes

SCIENCE AND CRIME

By Archibald Henderson

In criminology, the trend is distinctly in the direction away from the old-fashioned application of the Mosaic law in the treatment of criminals. The great problem in the handling of the criminal is not what punishment should be administered, but how can we reform him and make him a useful member of society. In his famous romance, the inhabitants of Erewhon, according to Samuel Butler, regarded crime as a disease. Edward Carpenter wrote a book entitled "Civilization: Its Cause and Cure." Surely our criminologists will be fully justified in writing of Crime: Its Cause and Cure.

Certainly not all criminals can be cured. Civilization, alas, connotes certain forms of degeneration; it is the price we pay for higher organization. Nervous diseases, reflexes, perverted sex impulses, criminal tendencies—these and like maladies are accompaniments of the nerve strain of a highly tense, complex organization which we call civilized society.

Every community, in a sense, has its own code. Towns, villages, notoriously differ in this respect. Some are intensely narrow, puritanical, restricted in their moral outlook. Others are liberal and cosmopolitan in their code, following the doctrine of laissez faire and laissez aller. In like manner countries have their particular moral codes and individual court procedure, dictated by long-established custom and national psychology.

In France, for example, an atmosphere of the most intense emotion, rather than an air of quietude and reflection, is permitted to invade the court room. Crimes are freely tried by the press without condemnation or rebuke from the constituted guardians of the law. Passional crimes give rise to great trials which are at once thrilling spectacles and profoundly moving events. The French dramatize the legal profession, this being a trait of the national psychology.

In this country, especially in some of our larger cities, the judges and police are both suspect. There are constant scandals cropping out among legally constituted guardians of public safety. There are periodical house-cleanings, especially of the police force. From time to time, as just now in one of our great cities, judges themselves are discovered to be corrupt and in league with criminals and leaders of the underworld. Citizens charged with crime find themselves the innocent victims of what is known as a "frame-up"; false evidence faked by unscrupulous lawyers or corrupt policemen.

The English courts are less subject to criticism than those of other countries. The laws are so framed as not to permit long delays. There is something closely akin to a dispassionate pursuit of truth in the courtroom. There is a strong bias in favor of the accused, where doubt warrants. The philosophy in this procedure is to give every accused person better than an even chance to escape conviction. Better that four guilty persons should go free than that one innocent person should be unjustly condemned.

The great vogue of the detective story nowadays is explained on the ground that the public is not so much interested in the brutal and abhorrent facts of crime, as in the scientific methods employed in its detection. Dr. Locard, of the Criminal Laboratory of Lyons, France, has developed two new sciences: graphometery, or accurate methods of detecting forgery, and poroscopy, which is the application of the finger-print system to the pores of the hand, which are believed to be unique in every individual.

Mechanical devices have long been in use for measuring involuntary acceleration of the pulse, for criminals under police examination. The use of the drug scopolamin has frequently been tried in this country, as a means of eliminating false testimony and confession. George Godwin, in his little book Cain, says, "The development of these and similar devices will eventually eliminate most possibilities of error, in the opinion of those who are advocating their more extensive use."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

People are always reminding me of the "facts of life" and telling me that it isn't possible to remain happy or hopeful in the face of them.

Why not? There are facts . . . and facts. Why conclude that ALL the facts of life are depressing ones?

There is, I admit, much misery in the world. But there is also mystery and wonder and power and joy and quite as much beauty as ugliness.

"Learning the truth about life" does not mean learning only weakness and pain, dishonesty, cruelty and vulgarity. Truth isn't necessarily all wrinkles and warts. Strength is as "true" as weakness . . . fineness and gentleness are as "true" as cruelty and vulgarity.

Why assume that the only wise person is the person who's chuck full of dark and dirty secrets? It's as wise to know sunsets and love puppies as it is to know the smut and sorrow of the underworld.

As a matter of fact, most of our cracks about "the sordid facts of life" are just alibis. For some reason or other, we don't want to tackle life. Either we're too lazy—or we're afraid of it or mad at it. But of course we don't want to acknowledge that. We must save our faces. So we pretend that we're "too tender hearted and refined to stand the sight of all that suffering and sin." That—say we—is why we're not taking an active part in the performance any more.

Piffle!

We're not taking an active part because we're too cowardly or conceited. If we really want to live full lives, there's as much joy to inspire us as there is sorrow to depress us.

"But I don't want to live a full life," you snap. "I've lost interest. Life isn't worth the living."

Then it's your fault, not life's. You can make life worth the living any time you want to start. But you can't make life worth the living by picking out a few, petty, selected facts and getting mad at all the rest. If you want to make a great whole picture, see life as is—see life whole. Get the whole picture, not just a peevish portion of it. See it all and accept it all. Don't demand explanations for everything. Don't sit in judgment. Some of it you'll like and some of it you won't, but what of that? It's all education. And some of it will hurt you. But, again, what of that? A large life is worth anything you pay for it.

And sometimes you'll be bored and disgusted and terribly disillusioned. But if you can't be enthusiastic about the things you see, be enthusiastic about those you can't. There's always plenty happening on the other side of the fence, partner, even if your back yard is empty.

Text For Today

He that spared not his own son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?
—Romans, viii:32.

(The text for today is suggested by the Rev. George L. Glunt, pastor, Oakland Presbyterian Church.)

Think It Over

Drawn by Hal Coffman.

The Bible advises you to cast your bread upon the waters because it will be returned to you.

Political economists, bankers and businessmen today find unexpected truth in that simple passage.

Throughout the country the slogan is "buy now," "give a job," "help those who can't help themselves."

Only in that way, the best observers tell us, will prosperity return in full measure.

Wise spending stimulates business. Wise charity saves suffering. Each will yield a rich reward, in dollars or in personal satisfaction, to those who can spend or can give aid.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—N. T. G. is one of those human anachronisms hard-boiled Broadway froths up from its depths. Torn between the oblivion of a hillside cabin and the razzle dazzle of jazz halls, he will pause in his naive prattle of cows, chickens and pigs to wave to a sweatered gorilla with a fiercely jutting jaw.

His complete name is Nils T. Grunland, a slim young Swede, whose eyes are in a perpetual blink that the White Way, like a rotting phosphorescent fish emits such a glow. He neither smokes nor drinks and leisure hours are spent on his wooded acres near Ramsey, N. J., 25 minutes from Times Square.

He began his career as a sporting editor in Providence and branched into a spectacular brand of exploitations for theatrical amusements. As a side line he staged floor shows in Broadway cabarets. And with the birth of the radio launched that horror—introducing "celebrities" in cafes.

N. T. G. is happily married to a demure lady who is with him constantly. When nearly all Broadway cafes, save the Chinese, withered and hung up shutters he opened with profound enthusiasm and no cover charge a $1.50 dinner place in a stand that had just nose dived into bankruptcy.

He engaged expensive jazz bands, presented a dinner hour and midnight girl show and at least a filling meal. He insists no liquor is sold, although his place was raided. However, it was definitely established the liquor found on tables was brought in by patrons.

His place was packed from the kickoff. Designed for so called middle-classes, it brought a quota of bonton slummers who thrilled to seeing a Rothstein suspect dancing cheek by jowl with a dizzy blonde. The secret of big revenue is in sale of table water.

While night clubs clutch wanly at coverlets, N. T. G.'s popular priced rendezvous has been crowded for a year. Last summer he offered a similar idea up Pelham Parkway, and, with a brace of bands to furnish continuous music, also did a hurricane business.

The town slowly turns back to the barn-like types of cafes such as Shanley's, Rector's and Churchill's—with lower tariff. Economic conditions put a crimp in the spender who patronized intimate places with hefty cover charges.

Hat check concessionaires will furnish the capital and decorate a large restaurant for free checking privileges. They will expend amounts from $30,000 to $100,000 depending upon location. Many night clubs mushrooming so suddenly in the Broadway fungi were sponsored by such entrepreneurs. All of which is a give-away for saps as to where tips go.

* * *

A frequent implication is that Amos and Andy baffled their idea from Moran and Mack, yet it is rarely suggested the first of the quick and drawling types of Negro dilineators were McIntyre and Heath. That is so. And they're still good.

* * *

A strange bit of audience psychology, too, is that two girls—sometimes three—are able to bill themselves as "sisters," do a mediocre turn and command whopping salaries, while capable turns often receive a chilly reception.

A certain count with an eyebrow mustache who has been taken up by a cafe society set is quickly becoming Americanized. Already they call him "Buck."

In a mirrored fruit store they displayed glistening bunches of luscious hot-house grapes. Being a sucker for fruit I selected a bunch and was told it was $1.25. We compromised on a 15 cent apple and parted fairly good friends.

Fashion note: New York's two best dressed and best mannered reporters—Ed. C. Hill and Karl K. Kitchen—are now on the staff of the same afternoon paper.

The most pluperfectly exclusive and yet the least publicized social colony around New York is reputed to be that of Tuxedo Park, which surrounds a sparkling lake at Ramapo Hills. Incidentally it was the first place where the bobtailed evening coat, known as the Tuxedo, was introduced to America.

From a news item: "His wife first noticed his insanity when after years of sedate dressing he suddenly came home wearing spats. He fought the police so when they came to take him away he had to be clubbed."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Autumn Rain

When slow [illegible] falls in Autumn
It is a silver wall
That shuts away the Summer world
Of song and flowers and all.

It is a silver barrier
Between us and the sun,
A barrier no man can scale,
Whose bars fall down for none.

As nearer still around us
The shining waters close,
The earth seems walled in chrysoprase
As fair as Summer's rose.

And as the rain keeps falling
Through hours dim and long
The gleaming raindrops weave us
A pattern of sweet song.

This green and silver rainfall
Shuts Spring-time's world away;
But where the hearthfire flickers
Hearts find another May.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Any person who makes another feel out of sorts with, or disgruntled with things as they must be, is an enemy that should be definitely and summarily dealt with by cutting that one off from friendly relations.

There are some persons who make you feel that you like your friends more.

There are others that make you appreciate your own home and family more than you had previous to association with them.

Then there are persons who try to put the opening wedge of misunderstanding between a parent and child.

There is a meddling sort that are never satisfied unless they can be stirring up other people or their home life and habits.

They cannot resist telling what they would do if things were thus and so in their lives.

They try to show just enough of the "I feel sorry for you" attitude to upset the one who is supposed to be beguiled.

In the first place a thoroughbred does not ask and really resents sympathy when it is expressed for any sort of family relations whether it be as between husband and wife or between parents and child.

If you can listen to a breath about one of your family which says—"I would do differently by you" than the one who is in the place to do it, you are pretty disloyal if you fall into any such trap.
